Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. These bills were ably and well debated yesterday. At that time there were many motions made to recommit these bills and a careful roll call taken. The Members on this side of the House at least expressed their desire to have these bills remain on the calendar for action. Therefore, I oppose this motion and ask the membership on this side of the House to vote down the motion to place them on the postponed calendar.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it is quite true that the House yesterday by a majority vote decided to keep these bills on the calendar. The present motion of course will not take the bills off the calendar. However, since the majority side of the House yesterday did not see fit to return the bills to committee for the purpose of a further hearing or a public hearing, it is our purpose that since for the first time in this session the public through the press has some information upon the machinations of a peculiar budget, if the bills are placed upon the postponed calendar the Members might go home today and get public reaction and come back on Monday night and decide then whether or not to give the public a chance to come here and be heard and let the matter be studied at length. That is the purpose of putting the bills on the postponed calendar; it will give every Member here, whether he knows what is in the bill or not, whether he reads the figures or not or whether he understands the figures or not, at least to get some public reaction back home to find out what the people back home think about the legislation. That is the purpose for having the bills placed on the third-reading postponed calendar.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, in opposition to this motion, I would like to state as was stated yesterday in the debate, we had the budget message, and this is the unusual rather than the usual session, upon January 2, the opening date of the Legislature, and there has been ample time to study the budget. The tax bills were introduced on the first day for the introduction of bills. The recommendations of the Governor as contained in the budget message were carried out in the tax bills introduced, and it is certainly amiss now, if during this period of five weeks someone has failed to read these bills and study them, they are going to do so over this present week end, and therefore I ask that the motion be voted down.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division.

A division having been called for, seventy-six members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred eight in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Lehigh, the Majority Leader, that the tax bills have been on the calendar these many days, and I assure him that we have taken the position we have because we have been diligently studying these tax bills, and while we have been diligently studying the tax bills we have been waiting for the emergence of even a vague outline of the method and manner in which the majority proposes to dispose of the money which is going to be raised by these tax bills.

I submit to you that in ordinary business you do not float blank checks, and that is what you are asking the majority and the minority to do. We face a peculiar situation; there is talk of cooperation, talk of harmony, talk of bi-partisan performance in the chambers of the executive, and a stern refusal, almost a contemptuous refusal to consider the same thing upon the floor of this House. We recognize the right of the majority; we recognize the fact that any party leadership that can chain 106 Members of this House in their seats and keep them there can do as it pleases. We are left with the option of carrying our appeal to the people of Pennsylvania. If we can not appeal to you; if you have ranged yourselves solidly against the assaults of reason, all we can do is make our protest for the purpose of the record.

Now, you may not care whether there is or is not bi-partisan cooperation on certain features of the program that your Governor has outlined. Apparently his Excellency the Governor does care, and we have accepted his proffers in good faith, but we now come to the point where if we vote taxes we want to know where the money is going. We have heard no explanation of the rush, the hurry, to put tax measures on the statute books and hide a program of contemplated accomplishments.

I would think, gentlemen, that you would be prouder of your efforts to assist the people of this Commonwealth than you would be of your performance in voting taxes. Had we known the objective that you desire to serve by means of these taxes we would have voted for those taxes with reluctance, but not knowing what your purposes are, knowing that so far the appeals from the schools have been answered with fine words, that the difficulties of the local taxpayers have been answered with fine words, that the necessities of your anti-stream pollution campaign crusade, a proper one and one which we would be glad support if you definitized it—that program has been answered with fine words. We do not have one single act that you have done that can show us how you want to spend the money, and if we assist you in voting a blank check we should know something, at least have some intimation as to what you intend to do with the money, and the only thing we know that you intend to do with the money from what you have said is to add it to your surplus.

We plead the cause of the local taxpayer. We say that by performance to date you have deserted that cause, and our position can be very briefly stated.

We say to you that since statements were made by the majority party spokesmen indicate that the revenue raised by the emergency taxes will be used to swell an all ready swollen surplus and will not be definitely returned to the local community for the relief of that forgotten man, the local real estate tax payer, the Democratic position is that the so-called emergency taxes should be permitted to lapse. We would vote for those taxes if they were earmarked for the schools, at least in major part. We cannot support them since they are apparently earmarked for surplus accounts.

These taxes, gentlemen, were enacted for the purpose of meeting a specific emergency, an emergency that has definitely passed. The only emergency that this Legislature faces is the emergency that confronts the local tax payer, and for that emergency this Legislature has not produced any evidence that it intends that the revenues derived from these taxes are intended to serve the emergencies of those local communities. Therefore, we are forced, we have no other course that we can take but to oppose these tax measures.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, of course, the majority realizes that the minority should have its opportunity to present its position to the electorate of the Commonwealth. We have no quarrel with that; that is necessarily the privilege of a legislative body such as this in a great state like the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. But, Mr. Speaker, as was stated in the debate here yesterday, the majority takes the position that there is ample justification for this tax program that is presented in these four tax measures.

Now, let us look at the record a few moments. The minority Floor Leader complains that we are asking for a blank check and that we do not give any suggestion even of what we propose to do with the money. Well, I can not agree with that, but let us say for the purposes of discussion that that is true. We invite the minority to step back only to 1939, when the administration that preceded the present one came into power. It had a deficit of many millions of dollars. As to whether or not that deficit was liquidated is a matter of record. As to whether or not the administration turned over to the present administration a surplus is also a matter of record, and as to whether or not the present administration has wisely handled the funds that were handed over to it and conserved those funds that have been turned over to it in the interim is also a matter of record. We know how much it is, and the message shows clearly what we propose to do, so I say if we even assume, if you please, that the Minority Leader is accurate in his position, we certainly think that the best interests of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be protected.

I repeat again that we propose a tax plan, a revenue raising plan, that is safe and sound. We reduced taxes here in the last session; that is also a matter of record, and it is our fixed policy to give the taxpayers every possible advantage we can that is consistent with sound, safe government.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, probably no point can be made by rehashing statistics and figures, but let the record be clear. The present attempt to justify a non-existent plan for spending money by taxing at this early date, we all know will result in a huge surplus. This plan does not even have the virtue of the plan of another Republican Governor of the United States, the Governor of the State of New York, who, when he wanted to show a surplus in his first term of office, when he wanted to go before the people to show what an economical governor he was, what a fine administrator he was and what a good bookkeeper he was, he went on and he provided many millions of dollars for real social services for the people of New York, but he had to show a surplus, and rather than take the virtuous position that we are taking today—or rather the majority is—he merely passed a bill by which he changed the fiscal date of the biennium or the taxing fiscal period in New York by setting it back a good period of time, and picked up a good surplus that his predecessor, Governor Lehman, had accumulated in New York.

Now, that is smart dealing. You get the budget money, you deprive no people of the use of the money, and you declare "When my term of office is over you have got money in the bank."

That is a smart move, but I doubt if the move the majority takes today is smart at all. I say to you that we are going to find out later on in the session whether we are going to properly spend this money, and if we are to take just a promise today or a prophecy today that the money will be properly spent in the future, then I would suggest to the majority that they carefully, but very carefully, analyze the budget message as to the proposed spending of this money for post war or otherwise, and make sure that when the measures come before this House, that they are not going to be met by an answer from the budget director or the chief executive himself "The money is here; let us spend it," because you are going to spend it and you are going to find a lot of pigs in a poke that are going to be offered to you, and it is going to come to the point where your resistance is going to be lowered by that time because we will have been assured that the money is around. You are going into a period of waste; we should not make haste.

Mr. HUNTLEY. I am opposed to any measure which permits the State to degrade and destroy its citizenry for revenue. It not only is contrary to soaking the rich but it also nullifies the principle of taxing those who have the ability to pay. The only people to be soaked are the "old soaks" who now cry out for help and have a right to expect it. These people are absolutely without any ability to pay as they have already been trimmed by the State. A State that depends on blood stained lucre filched from its citizens cannot exalt itself because no State can be any better than its citizens. It shocks the conscience of God-fearing citizens to realize that over fifty million dollars of revenue is collected annually by the State through the sale of alcoholic beverages. This bill is not necessary nor is it in line with good business practice. The State can get along without this cunning pilfer. I cannot conceive of any system of taxation so mean, degarding and wicked as one that will debauch the tax payer. In behalf of public decency and in the name of civic righteousness I call for the defeat of this method of raising revenue. What will it profit a State to gain abundance of revenue but lose its soul?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are the amendments to the rules adopted yesterday now in force?

The SPEAKER. They are.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the Speaker explain the amendments, the change, if any, regarding persons in the Hall of the House and those who vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the rule as it now is for the information of the House:

"No Member shall be permitted to vote unless he be present in the Hall of the House when the yeas and nays are called."

The amended rule is as follows:

"No Member shall be permitted to vote unless he be present in the Hall of the House on the first call of the yeas and nays.

"The Hall of the House is defined as the floor space within its four walls and does not include the adjoining conference rooms, the lobbies or the upper gallery of the House. The Legislative Journal shall show the result of each roll call by yeas and nays and not voting."

Mr. ANDREWS. A further inquiry, Mr. Speaker; any Member who enters the Hall of the House following the termination of the roll call cannot vote?

The SPEAKER. After the roll call has been completed he would not be entitled to vote.

Mr. ANDREWS. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I feel on these tax measures as I have felt for my many years in the House of Representatives, we are elected here for a two year term and we come to Harrisburg and try to do the business of the State of Pennsylvania in anywhere from eight weeks to twenty weeks. That is the reason I rise here this morning to remind you men on the other side that we be not too hasty in our movements here. I have stated before that the Congress of the United States during these emergencies have been in session almost continuously, while we in the Legislature of Pennsylvania do our utmost to complete our business within the shortest period of time that it is humanly possible, with all the short cuts.

Now, my friends, the thing that worries me in passing these measures, as you know there has been no legislation introduced here to relieve the local taxpayer back home. We find in our State of Pennsylvania, in our relief setup what is known as bonds—you gentlemen are all very familiar with bonds. We have now in the State of Pennsylvania men who are fighting for our Country, who come from homes that these bonds are now over their heads. I have them in my district as you possibly have them in yours.

The gentleman yesterday said we wanted these boys to come back to a solvent state. Yes, my friends, to a solvent state without a home over their heads! That's the thing that worries me. We will find that it will be no good to the soldier who comes back to a home that for taxes and relief that his people received prior to this time is being sold from under him. No, my friends, I think we should stop and consider, that at least we should know and at least we should protect these boys that are coming back, so that along with a State to come back to they will have a home to come back to. Little good it will be to the individual soldier to come back to his State that has two hundred ten millions in reserve if he finds the roof over his home gone. So, my friends, I think in all fairness—and let us be fair—vote these bills down if you men will not put them on the postponed calendar, until we can get the legislation that will secure the man's home over his head when he comes back from the service.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 341) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time

Section 1 The title and all the sections of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 341) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties" as last reenacted and amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 209) are hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That this act shall be known and may be cited as the "Cigarette Tax Act"

Section 2 The following words terms and phrases when used in this act shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

"Association" Any partnership limited partnership or other form of unincorporated enterprise owned by two or more persons

"Dealer" Any wholesale dealer and in the cases hereinafter prescribed retail dealers The term "wholesale dealer" shall include any person who or which sells within Pennsylvania cigarettes to retail dealers or for purposes of resale or who or which purchases cigarettes directly from any manufacturer for purposes of resale The term "retail dealer" shall include every person other than a wholesale dealer who or which receives from any source whatsoever cigarettes for the purpose of sale to consumers in Pennsylvania or for any other purpose than that of resale whenever the packages of cigarettes so received do not have affixed to them the stamps evidencing the payment of the tax imposed by this act

"Department" The Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth

"Package" The individual package box or other container in or from which retail sales of cigarettes are normally made or intended to be made

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and the neuter

Section 3 (a) On and after the effective date of this act it shall be unlawful for any person to continue to engage in or thereafter to begin to engage in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale within this Commonwealth or for any person excepting commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy to continue to engage in or thereafter to begin to engage in the sale of cigarettes at retail within this Commonwealth unless a cigarette permit or permits shall have been issued to him as hereinafter prescribed

(b) Every person desiring to continue to engage in or hereafter to begin to engage in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale or retail within this Commonwealth except those persons exempt under section 3 (a) hereof shall file an application for a cigarette permit or permits with the department Every application for a cigarette permit shall be made upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department and shall set forth the name under which the applicant transacts or intends to transact business the location of his place of business within this Commonwealth whether or not the applicant is the holder of a mercantile license in effect when the application is made and if so the number of such license and the county for which such license was issued and such other information as the department may require If the applicant has or intends to have more than one place of business within the Commonwealth the application shall state the location of each place of business If the applicant is an association the application shall set forth the names and addresses of the persons constituting the association and if a corporation the names and addresses of the principal officers thereof and any other information prescribed by the department for purposes of identification The application shall be signed and verified by oath or affirmation by the owner if a natural person and in the case of an association by a member or partner thereof and in the case of a corporation by an executive officer thereof or some person specifically authorized by the corporation to sign the application to which shall be attached the written evidence of his authority

At the time of making such application the applicant shall pay to the department a permit fee of one dollar ($1.00) for each permit

Upon approval of the application and the payment of the permit fee or fees herein required the department shall grant and issue to each applicant a cigarette permit for each place of business within the Commonwealth set forth in his application Cigarette permits shall not be assignable and shall be valid only for the persons in whose names issued and for the transaction of business at the places designated therein and shall at all times be conspicuously displayed at the places for which issued

All permits shall expire on the thirty-first day of December next succeeding the date upon which they are issued unless sooner suspended surrendered or revoked for cause by the department

(c) Permits issued under the provisions of this act may be renewed annually before the first day of January upon application made to the department and the payment of a renewal fee of one dollar ($1.00)

Whenever any permit issued under the provisions of this act is defaced destroyed or lost the department may issue a duplicate permit to the holder of the defaced destroyed or lost permit upon the payment of a fee of fifty cents ($.50)

(d) The department may suspend or after hearing revoke a cigarette permit whenever it finds that the holder thereof has failed to comply with any of the provisions of this act or any rules or regulations of the department prescribed adopted and promulgated under this act Upon suspending or revoking any cigarette permit the department shall request the holder thereof to surrender to it immediately all permits or duplicates thereof issued to him and the holder shall surrender promptly all such permits to the department as requested. Whenever the department suspends a cigarette permit it shall notify the holder immediately and afford him a hearing if desired and if a hearing has not already been afforded. After such hearing the department shall either rescind its order of suspension or good cause appearing therefor shall continue the suspension or revoke the permit.

Section 4 A State excise tax is hereby imposed and assessed upon sales of cigarettes by dealers at the rate of one cent per ten cigarettes or fraction thereof except such sales of cigarettes as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States and except such sales as are made to authorized purchasers by commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy. Provided That only one sale of the same package of cigarettes shall be used in computing the amount of tax due hereunder.

Except as hereinafter provided dealers shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall pay the tax into the State Treasury through the department by purchasing from the department adhesive stamps of such design and denominations as may be prescribed by the department.

Manufacturers of cigarettes located either within or outside of this Commonwealth and wholesale dealers in cigarettes located outside of this Commonwealth may purchase stamps from the department and affix such stamps in the manner hereinafter prescribed to packages of cigarettes to be sold within this Commonwealth in which case the dealer within this Commonwealth receiving such stamped packages of cigarettes will not be required to purchase and affix stamps on such packages of cigarettes.

Section 5 Each dealer shall affix within the time hereinafter prescribed to each package of cigarettes stamps furnished by and purchased from the department evidencing the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall cancel such stamps before such cigarettes are offered for sale or before they are otherwise disposed of unless stamps have been affixed to such packages of cigarettes before such dealer received them. Each wholesale dealer in this Commonwealth shall affix such stamps to each package of cigarettes unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department prior to the delivery of such packages to any retail dealer in this Commonwealth.

Each retail dealer in this Commonwealth except those persons exempt under section 3 (a) hereof shall immediately upon the receipt of any cigarettes at his place of business so affix such stamps to each package of cigarettes unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department or shall immediately mark in ink on each unopened box carton or other container of such cigarettes the word "received" and the month day and year of such receipt and shall affix his signature thereto. The retail dealer shall in any event open such box carton or other container and immediately affix such stamps to each package therein and cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department within twenty-four hours after such receipt and prior to the sale of such cigarettes.

Whenever any cigarettes are found in the place of business of such retail dealer without the stamps affixed and cancelled or not marked as having been received within the preceding twenty-four hours as required by this section the prima facie presumption shall arise that such cigarettes are kept therein in violation of the provisions of this act.

Stamps shall be affixed to each package of cigarettes of an aggregate denomination not less than the amount of the tax upon the contents therein and shall be affixed in such manner that they will be visible to the purchaser. Upon affixing stamps to a package of cigarettes the person affixing them shall cancel them by such method or in such manner as may be prescribed by the department.

Section 6 The department shall prescribe prepare and furnish adhesive stamps of such denominations and quantities as may be necessary for the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act. The department shall make provisions for the sale of such stamps in such places and at such times as it may deem necessary.

The department shall appoint wholesale dealers in cigarettes within this Commonwealth and may appoint any other persons within or without the Commonwealth as agents to affix the stamps to be used in paying the tax herein imposed upon sales of cigarettes but a wholesale dealer shall at all times have the right to appoint the person who is to affix the stamps to any cigarettes under his control and whenever the department shall sell consign or deliver to any such agent any such stamps such agent shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services and expenses as such agent in affixing such stamps and to retain out of the moneys to be paid by him for such stamps a commission of seven and one-half per centum on the par value thereof if and when such agent has purchased the stamps affixed by him directly from the department. The department is hereby authorized and required to allow such commission or compensation in the settlement of the accounts of such agent upon payment by him into the State Treasury through the department of any moneys which may be or become due to the Commonwealth by reason of the sale delivery or consignment to such agent of such stamps.

Section 7 Every person engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale within this Commonwealth and every person engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail within this Commonwealth except commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy shall maintain and keep for a period of two years such record or records of cigarettes received sold and delivered within this Commonwealth by him together with invoices bills of lading and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department.

The department or any agent appointed in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers invoices and other records the stock of cigarettes in and upon any premises where the same are placed stored and sold and equipment of any such wholesale or retail dealer pertaining to the sale and delivery of cigarettes taxable under this act to verify the accuracy of the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act. Every such person is hereby directed and required to give to the Secretary of Revenue or his duly authorized representative the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations as are hereby provided and required.

Section 8 The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to

(a) The method and the means to be used in the cancellation of stamps

(b) The denominations and sale of stamps

(c) Any other matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act

Section 9 The tax imposed by this act shall be in lieu of the mercantile license tax heretofore imposed upon the business of selling cigarettes.

Section 10 Whenever any cigarettes upon which stamps have been placed by a dealer have been sold and shipped by him into another state for sale or use therein or have been sold to commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy for resale to authorized purchasers or have become unfit for use and consumption or unsalable or have been destroyed such dealer shall be entitled to a refund of the actual amount of tax paid by him with respect to such cigarettes. If the department is satisfied that any dealer is entitled to a refund it shall certify the proposed amount of such refund to the Board of Finance and Revenue for approval and thereafter shall issue to such dealer stamps of sufficient value to cover the refund as approved by the board. The department is hereby authorized to adopt prescribe and promulgate such rules and regulations with regard to the presentation and proof of claim for refunds as it may deem advisable.

The department may promulgate rules and regulations to relieve manufacturers and dealers from affixing the stamps on such cigarettes as are sold and shipped to points outside the Commonwealth for use outside the Commonwealth or on such cigarettes as are sold to commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy for resale to authorized purchasers.

Section 11. Every person other than a common carrier or the employees thereof who shall possess or transport any cigarettes upon the public highways roads or streets of this Commonwealth for the purpose of delivery sale or disposition shall be required to have in his actual possession invoices or delivery tickets for such cigarettes. The absence of such invoices or delivery tickets shall be prima facie evidence that such person is a dealer in cigarettes in this Commonwealth and subject to the provisions of this act.

Section 12 (a) Any person who shall sell cigarettes without being the holder of a cigarette permit or permits as required by this act shall upon conviction in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and costs of prosecution and in default of payment thereof to undergo imprisonment for not more than ten (10) days.

(b) Any person who shall sell cigarettes without purchasing and affixing stamps to each package thereof as required by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced for the first offense to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or to suffer imprisonment for a term not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court and in the case of a conviction of a second or subsequent offense hereunder shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) and to suffer imprisonment for a term not less than six (6) months or more than three (3) years.

"Net Income" 1 In case the entire business of the corporation is transacted within this Commonwealth net income for the calendar year or fiscal year as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government or in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated returns to the Federal Government the net income which would have been returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government if separate returns had been made to the Federal Government for the current and prior taxable years subject however to any correction thereof for fraud evasion or error as finally ascertained by the Federal Government Provided That except as hereinafter otherwise provided additional deductions shall be allowed from net income on account of any Federal income or excess profits taxes paid after deducting therefrom an amount equivalent to any post-war refunds applicable to any such taxes during such calendar or fiscal year for the preceding calendar or fiscal year or accrued during such calendar or fiscal year for such year as the case may be and on account of any dividends received from any other corporation And provided further That in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated Federal returns the additional deduction allowed from net income on account of any Federal income or excess profits taxes paid or accrued shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total Federal income or excess profits taxes of the group after deducting therefrom an amount equivalent to any post-war refunds applicable to any such taxes as the net income of the corporation computed without a deduction for such Federal taxes bears to the sum of the net incomes of the several members of the group computed without a deduction for such Federal taxes and provided further That on reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-three or for any fiscal year beginning in such calendar year or any calendar or fiscal year thereafter no deduction shall be allowed for any Federal income or excess profits taxes whatsoever And provided further That in the case of stock life fire casualty and indemnity insurance companies doing business on the mutual or participating plan the term "net income" shall not include the dividends paid to policyholders out of net income

2 In case the entire business of any corporation other than a corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar year as defined in clause one hereof as may be determined by allocations and apportionments made as follows

(a) Gains realized from the sale of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated in the Commonwealth shall be allocated to this Commonwealth

(b) Gains realized from the sale of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated outside of the Commonwealth shall not be allocated in any part to this Commonwealth

(c) The remainder of such net income shall be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within this Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the corporation's tangible property situated within this Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the corporation's tangible property wherever situated.

(2) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to its employees and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to all its employees

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

In cases where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remainder of the net income of the corporation shall be divided into two equal parts only each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable the part of the net income received from business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the corporation outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the corporation's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year from (1) sales fees and commissions except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the corporation by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connecting with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside of the Commonwealth (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth If a corporation maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the department shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the corporation to the business conducted at such place of business in another state

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the corporation are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

3 In case the entire business of any corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar year as defined in clause one hereof as shall be attributed to business transacted within this Commonwealth by multiplying such net income by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross premiums received from business transacted within the Commonwealth as herein-after defined and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross premiums received from all its business "Gross Premiums" shall mean the amount of dues fees and premiums stated in the policy contracts and shall include gross premiums of every character and description received during the taxable year from all underwriting activities whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitute for money less the following deductions

(a) All premiums returned on policies cancelled or not taken

(b) In the case of stock companies with participating features an additional deduction for that portion of the premiums returned to the policy-holders

(c) In the case of life insurance companies an additional deduction for dividends declared and actually used by policyholders in payment of renewal premiums

"Gross premiums received from business transacted in the Commonwealth" shall mean gross premiums received from policies and annuities written on property or risks located or resident in this Commonwealth whether such premiums were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere

"Person" Every natural person association or corporation Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term "person" as applied to associations shall mean the partners or members thereof and as applied to corporations the officers thereof

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every corporation shall be subject to and shall pay for the privilege of doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership association limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation a State excise tax at the rate of six per centum per annum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of six per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred [and] thirty-five and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six a similar tax at the rate of ten per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of ten per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and a similar tax at the rate of seven per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two except when a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of seven per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two and a similar tax at the rate of four per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five and one thousand nine hundred forty-six except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of four per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five and one thousand nine hundred forty-six

The tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Report and Payment of Tax For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six and one thousand nine hundred forty-seven to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(a) A true copy of its return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portions of said return as the department may designate

(b) If no return was filed with the Federal Government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(c) Such other information as the department may require

The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

Every corporation upon the date its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department not less than one-half of the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for such preceding year and the remaining one-half of such tax shall be paid within the thirty days next succeeding and except as otherwise provided by law no extension of time for the filing of any report granted by the department shall extend the date any tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act not paid on or before the times as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid Provided however That any corporation may pay the full amount of such tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court. If it be hereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the account of such corporation which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law.

If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due.

If any corporation closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government such corporation shall certify such act to the Department of Revenue and shall make the report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act.

If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified.

Section 5 Consolidated Reports. The department shall not permit any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly any of the voting capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations subject to the provisions of this act to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income.

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports. The department may upon application made to it in such forms as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed and in case the Federal income tax authorities at any time grant a longer extension of time for filing such reports with the Federal Government the department may grant an additional extension of time for filing the report under this act of not more than thirty (30) days after the termination of the Federal extension but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due dates and at the rates fixed by this act.

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government. (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such final change or correction shall make a corrected report under oath or affirmation to the department showing such finally changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States. In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction which results in an increase in net income within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part.

(b) If as a result of such final change or correction there should be any change made in the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the department shall have the power and its duty shall be to resettle such taxes. Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made. The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements.

Section 8 Settlement and Resettlement. (a) All taxes due under this act shall be settled by the department and such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made.

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such corporation. The tax imposed by this act shall be settled resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of resettlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon corporations.

(c) If within a period of two years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession.

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made.

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements.

(d) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General settle the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement.

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations. Inquisitorial Powers of the Department. (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act. The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request.

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act. Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized. Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars

($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

(c) Whenever any person acting for or on behalf of the department shall in good faith institute legal proceedings for any violations of the provisions of this act and for any reason shall fail to recover costs of record such costs shall be a charge upon the proper county as shall such costs in the event defendant is imprisoned for failure to pay fine or costs or both and shall be audited and paid as are costs of like character in said county

(d) The powers conferred by this act upon the department relating to the administration or enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the department by law

Section 10 Retention of Records by Corporations Penalty Each corporation shall maintain and keep for a period of three (3) years after any report is filed under this act such record or records of its business within this Commonwealth for the period covered by such report and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 11 Penalties (a) Any person who shall wilfully make a false and fraudulent return of net income made taxable by this act shall be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to punishment as provided by law Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

(b) Any person who wilfully fails neglects or refuses to make a report or to pay the tax as herein prescribed or who shall refuse to permit the department to examine the books papers and records of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

Section 12 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 13 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall remain in force only for the imposition and collection of taxes on net income of corporation for the [ten] twelve calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-five one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five and one thousand nine hundred forty-six or for the [ten] twelve fiscal years ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six and one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

COMMUNICATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chairman of the Committee on Committees files with the House the letters of resignations and other communications concerning the changes in the Standing Committees.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. HAUDENSHIELD and EWING offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1945.

Charles S. Black, the last surviving member of the 1897 session of the General Assembly died at his home in Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania on January 26, 1945, leaving to survive him a son Oliver A. Black, a daughter Mrs. Harmar Denny Wentzel, and a sister Mary Jane Black. He was born in the second ward of Pittsburgh on July 9, 1857, and was educated in the public and private schools of that city.

In 1881 he moved into the thirty-first ward and was elected alderman in 1890, and again in 1895.

He later served as a school director, and in 1896 was elected a member of this House, where he served with credit to those he represented; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives that it hereby extends its sympathy to the surviving members of the family of the deceased, and in evidence thereof, the Chief Clerk of this House is hereby directed to forward to them a copy of this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday, January 16 I introduced a resolution on the floor of this House calling for an investigation of the State Highway Department's failure to do something about snow removal in Erie County. Up to the present moment no action has been taken by the Rules Committee on this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I did not rise on the floor of this House today to take partisan advantage of a situation which cries to heaven for correction. However, I am going to read to you two articles from the Erie Daily Times on the subject of the snow situation in Erie and Crawford Counties. The articles are from the Erie Daily Times under date of Thursday, February 1, and Saturday, February 3, 1945 and are as follows:

"SERIOUS MILK FAMINE FEARED IN ERIE AREA

Curtail Coal Deliveries to 'Fun' Places

"A severe milk shortage has developed in Erie. The Times learned Thursday as dealers called an emergency meeting for this afternoon and coal dealers took steps to conserve the city's fuel supplies for domestic users by curtailing deliveries to places of amusement.

"Less than one-fourth of the milk needed in Erie is now available and the situation is becoming progressively worse, Harry Volbers, secretary of the Erie Milk Dealers' Association, announced at noon.

Blocked Roads Cut Supply

"He expressed concern for the future and said the shortage, the worst Erie has ever faced, is the direct result of the weather and highway department's failure to keep main roads open.

"A check of the various milk distributors disclosed that some of them received as little as one-tenth of what they needed. Others had less than one-fourth.

"The shortage will hit both homes and retail outlets. Institutions of various types will be served first and whatever remains will go to domestic users.

"Volbers said the dealers were to meet with Earl Donor head of the Defense Transportation Committee, this afternoon and demand that it take steps to get more snow-fighting equipment into the city for use of the highway department.

Raps Highway Department

"We as milk dealers are going to have to do something about the highway department's failure to keep these roads open. They certainly should be able to keep up Routes 19, 98 and 97, on which most of the milk is transported," Volbers said.

He revealed that he had appealed to the district highway officials in Franklin and Pittsburgh but got nowhere.

Schools Closed

Weather and fuel shortage conditions were responsible for more county schools closing today. Both fuel and weather closed Union City schools. Millcreek schools are closed because of impassable roads and the same is true in Harborcreek where they will remain shut until Monday. Many rural schools are also closed.

Total snowfall here during January was 38.3 inches against an average of 8.9 for the month. From Nov. 1 to Jan. 31, total snowfall was 93.6 inches, an all-time record.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I will read to you what a Republican columnist of the Erie Daily Times says about the snow situation in Erie and Crawford Counties.

"KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

By Jay James

Suppose the Pennsylvania state highways up this way wouldn't show up so woefully neglected, if we didn't border Ohio and New York state, where the highways have been swept and plowed and have been in fine shape since a couple of days after the big blow on December 11. The farmers in the Erie-Crawford section have been hit and hit hard. Some of them are still snow-bound on many of the back roads with no help in sight from the Highway Dept. which, they say doesn't even give out proper information of the conditions of the roads. That is why milk trucks have been stuck and why there is a shortage. The State Highway Dept. has done a damn poor job. It has shoveled out words while the highways are almost impassable."

Mr. Speaker, I hope that the reading of these two statements from the Erie Daily Times newspaper, which is a Republican journal, will be taken seriously by the Members of the Rules Committee. Also at this time Mr. Speaker, I would like to call your attention to the fact that this last Monday, February 4, Governor Dewey had asked for an appropriation of $250,000 for snow removal in New York State.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in defense of the Rules Committee, which is being condemned for not reporting to the floor of this House a resolution offered by the gentleman from Erie. I believe that resolution, together with resolutions offered from both the Senate and one other resolution in the House, calls attention to the unusual and the unprecedented snowfall within the confines of Pennsylvania during the past two months.

The Rules Committee very seriously considered this resolution and took the time and the effort to check with the Highway Department as to the cause and reason for the introduction of resolutions condemning the action of the Highway Department and its failure to remove snow.

We were informed that the Highway Department did everything humanly possible under the present circumstances to cope with the situation in the northwestern part of the state. We were informed that as long as twenty-eight to thirty months ago requisitions had been placed with the war agencies of the Federal government, who must approve the purchase of new equipment for the Highway Department, and that to date there has been no approval given by the War Production Board for the purchase of new equipment.

We will all admit that the equipment of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways has been on the road and in service for as long as five or six years. The practice had been formerly after a certain number of miles on a vehicle and after a certain maintenance cost, it was replaced with a new vehicle. These vehicles that have been on the road and in operation have definitely shown strain and wear and cannot cope with the situation we have had confronting us with the present snow falls in Pennsylvania.

Therefore I think it would be amiss for this House to place the finger of condemnation upon a department that has striven to do its best under a shortage of manpower, under a shortage of equipment, because it could not replace that equipment, because, as I stated before, for reasons of the war and because of the War Production Board failing to recognize the need for new equipment in Pennsylvania. That is the reason why the Rules Committee has not reported favorably on this resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it had not been my intention to intervene in this situation until I had had the privilege of listening to the gentleman from Lehigh. I carefully considered what he had to say and I would like for him sometime to explain to this House why a geographical line, a state border, should mark the difference between clear highways, highways that can be traveled, and highways that are blocked.

The gentleman from Erie has told this House, and it is true, that on the Pennsylvania side of a geographical line the roads are blocked, and on the New York side of a geographical line the roads are open. Now, surely Pennsylvania has had as much opportunity to prepare for storms and to deal with unusual conditions as New York has had, except perhaps they have had a different sort of highway department in New York than we have in Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to state in reply to the gentleman from Cambria that to the best of my knowledge New York State is buried under a blanket of snow and that there are many roads in New York State that are yet to be opened. Besides New York State maintains only one-third of the mileage of State Highway System that we do in the Highway Department in Pennsylvania, therefore the equipment which is still available and useable to the Department of Highways in Pennsylvania must do triple service in order to keep the Pennsylvania highways open. We maintain better than forty thousand miles of road in Pennsylvania on the highway system, and in New York State they maintain fifteen thousand miles of roads on their highway system.

I can point out to the gentleman in driving from here to my home in Lehigh County that I have many times crossed county lines and found a great difference in road conditions. I believe that is because of lack of equipment in that particular county area, probably equipment that is incapable of removing the snow that we have had this winter.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SNYDER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this sounds indeed interesting to me, to compare the condition of New York State highways with those of Pennsylvania. I have had occasion to drive in New York State during the last three years during the winter time, and I would like to inform this House that there is no comparison between the conditions in the New York State roads and those of Pennsylvania.

I have been forced to call off two executive committee meetings in Syracuse during the last two weeks because of the impassable roads in New York State. I have been driving those roads and I find on their main highways they have from four to eight or ten inches of snow during the winter time, and our Pennsylvania highways are scraped clean. I wonder if the gentlemen who have spoken about the roads in New York really travel the New State roads and those of Pennsylvania. I question whether they have

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Snyder, who just spoke on the snow situation in Pennsylvania versus the snow situation in New York State, I would like to state at this time that I heartily agree with him that the situation in New York State is very bad, probably worse than it is in Pennsylvania, but in answer to him I would like to say that the Governor of New York State took steps on Monday to do something about it. Have we done anything about it in Pennsylvania?

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we in Philadelphia also have a snow problem so I think I can get in on this too. I would say, Mr. Speaker that not only has the Governor of New York done something about it, but he even went so far as to proclaim an emergency, as the Daily Mirror of New York so well as it usually does, testifies to.

My purpose, Mr. Speaker, is this: I understand that the resolution under discussion was a resolution to appoint a committee to have an investigation made of the highway department. My inquiry first is, when has the Rules Committee been constituted as the investigating committee for the House. It seems to me that since we have received a report, ostensibly upon the Rules Committee, after an investigation the Rules Committee ought to tell us whether an investigation is advisable or not, but not to make an investigation for us.

Further, Mr. Speaker, in passing may I say that there is a general laxity on the part of the law agencies, the proper agencies, not only on a State wide basis, but on a local basis, because in Philadelphia we have ordinances where you have to clean off the pavements and streets within a week or one or two days. We have had plenty of serious accidents and many people have fallen on the pavements. There have been 700 serious accidents of persons falling on the highways or the pavements. Yesterday morning the Philadelphia Inquirer reported that a fire captain or fire lieutenant had an accident by slipping on the ice in front of one of the police stations in Philadelphia. Therefore while we are talking about people being lax in removing the snow and ice that Philadelphia ought to take note.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am just wondering if the minority is starting a boom for Dewey for President on the floor of this House since they are all praising the Executive of New York State.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we will be only too glad to start a boom to run Governor Dewey for President again because he was so easy the last time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair also desires to make a very brief statement.

The Chair would like to congratulate the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders and the entire membership of this House upon the fine showing, and the order and decorum exercised during the proceedings this day on all the tax measures.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Select Committee to investigate the Electric Roll Call System will meet in the Speaker's office immediately after adjournment. This meeting is requested by the Chairman, Mr. Charles H. Brunner, Jr.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WESCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 12, 1945, at 9 P. M.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:19 P. M.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 12, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, whose word in the created universe is law, and whose word in our hearts is love, give us the will to bring our lives into harmony with Thy law, and the gratitude to respond to Thy love with all our heart, soul, strength and mind.

Surely in blessing Thou hast blessed us, and as a nation we have known Thy guiding and protecting care. This Republic owes its origin and preservation to Thee. Keep us from that paganism that puts its trust in ships and planes, in guns and tanks to the forgetfulness of God, in whose hands are the affairs of men and of nations.

We commemorate today the birth of a leader whom Thou didst raise up in a time of danger, whose faith, wisdom and courage gave the inspiration of victory and preserved the Union. May the faith, the wisdom and the courage of Abraham Lincoln possess and guide our nation's leaders that out of the present war victory may come, and following victory "with malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us finish the work we are in . . . to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

In the name of Christ, the Son of God and the brother of all mankind. Amen.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. At this time it gives me a great deal of pleasure and comfort to invite to the Chair The Honorable John M. Walker, of Allegheny County, to preside, with the distinct understanding that the President Pro Tempore appoints all special committees.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr.

SCARLETT, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LINCOLN BIRTHDAY MEMORIAL EXERCISES

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair now recognizes Mr. P. J. Kammerer, of Newville, Cumberland County.

This being the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, we are honored in having with us as a guest of the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, Mr. Kammerer, who will speak to us at this time. Mr. Kammerer.

Mr. KAMMERER. Fourscore and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great Civil War, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Thank you very much, Mr. Kammerer.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

Mr. WADE. Many pictures have been painted and many sketches have been drawn of that wonderful gentleman, that great emancipator of man, whose courage, patience, faith and hope carried this nation through those troublesome times during the Civil War.

I like, however, the picture of that long, lanky boy, trudging barefooted to any school teacher, anyone who would give him information about law. I like the picture of that gawky store clerk, stretched out on the counter in the day-time or lying before the fire, with light provided by burning logs at night, on the floor of his lonely cabin, there to scan over Pilgrim's Progress, the Bible, or his very brief history of the United States; the kind of a young man who, at twenty-one whipped the bully of Clary's Grove, and made a friend out of him for life. Or, again, the convincing orator who, at a very young age, convinced his audience by his sincerity. Or, again, an obscure, unheard of candidate, who challenged United States Senator Douglass for his office. Or, again, a tired, worn out President, stricken by the hand of his assassin, only a few days after victory was his.

But best of all I like the great statesman, who, because of his pioneer experiences—his father had moved from Kentucky and he carried all of his earthly possessions in a little wagon, and this boy had trudged behind that wagon, and then he came to a new home in that unheard of territory and helped to roll back the prairie, as many pioneers had at the same time, and before him his father had observed his grandfather being killed by the Indians, and he himself had helped his father to make and fashion the coffin for his mother, stricken when he was but nine years of age.

I like the picture of this great statesman, whose sinew and character was built out of experiences of that kind, fashioned and tempered into a crucible of determined effort and sincerity of purpose, who held the new nation together in its hour of peril and who, by his frank statement "by union there is strength, a house divided against itself can not stand, a government of, by and for the people must furnish benefits and will furnish benefits in the future, for decades to come," under which a standard of living unknown to civilization would be enjoyed, under which a standard of education unknown to any civilized nation prior to that time would be enjoyed, the development of science and industry that was to come.

He believed that security was a matter of compromise between man, and his faith in America was second only to his unflinching faith in the Supreme Being.

When elected to that high office, even after a long six months' campaign, three months before he would be inaugurated, the states had started to secede from the Union. It was his duty to continue to campaign, to continue to try to hold the states together, so that the semblance of a nation would meet that struggle which was coming, and which he felt could not be forestalled; he was an inspiration to his fellow citizens, to all connected with the Federal Government; it was his duty, and seemingly his alone.

After he was inaugurated it was his duty to build an army, select the leaders, to attend to the affairs of the State, to personally watch the field of battle, and to personally direct so that victory would eventually be theirs.

He recognized the important part the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was to play in that struggle. He came here before he was inaugurated. He appeared at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and there made one of his speeches in his final attempt to hold the union together. Another was made here at Harrisburg, and a third was made at Independence Hall, Philadelphia. He recognized then, as the leaders today recognize, the great contribution that Pennsylvania would and could play in that enormous conflict. He built friendships. The day that Lee's army surrendered to Grant's army, at McLean's farm house, no longer did he hold enmity, no longer did he want to persecute the enemy. Between the Northern and Southern armies he immediately established friendship; between the Northern and Southern people he immediately established friendship.

Immediately after the triumph of this moral principle for which the nation had been fighting, the moral principle which had been won, he carried on, from the armies, from the government, down to the very individuals.

Yesterday I talked to a heart-sick father, a father who had gotten one of those telegrams; as he told me that he had read from H. G. Wells's writings that civilization is a race between education and catastrophe and he said that he never realized what that meant until he had experienced his recent bereavement.

I said to him that civilization is the long march of humanity across the pages of history, trying to accomplish some divine purpose, and that there is a long, unending procession, age after age, generation after generation, not following a highway, but making one.

Surely Lincoln, with his generosity to those who had betrayed the great principle of popular government, was guided by this Divine Law.

Men of the South had followed their leaders. Men of the North had followed their leaders.

It was for him to stand alone, at times contrary to the wishes of his Cabinet, contrary to the wishes of his advisers and government, but he alone held to a government that would hold down through the years to that principle and under which, again I repeat, the citizens of that government now enjoy privileges and benefits the like of which no civilization had ever enjoyed prior to that time.

And as I close I take the words from a popular song:

God bless America, land that we love.
Stand beside her and guide her
Through the night, with a light from above.
From the mountains to the prairies,
To the oceans white with foam,
God bless America,

The home of Washington and the defenders in the battle for Independence;

God bless Lincoln and the defenders who held the nation together in those trying times;

And God bless our leaders of today and our soldiers that are fighting on every battlefield in every quarter of the globe, fighting to carry this message of democracy, as missionaries for this great principle of democracy, God bless them and bring them safely and victoriously home at an early date.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. STIEFEL. According to Greek mythology the mother of the Tithonus obtained for him from the Gods eternal life, but forgot to ask for eternal youth. Immortality became a curse instead of a blessing for Tithonus, for he grew old, gnarled and senile. Unlike the legendary Tithonus, our Nation is also blessed with eternal youth.

The greatness of our ever-youthful Republic lies in the fact that it never ceased to be a Land of Frontiers. Although the conquest of the physical frontiers was completed by the end of the Nineteenth Century, new frontiers—spiritual, economic and scientific continued and still continue to challenge the indomitable spirit and unexcelled genius of America. Thus the History of the American Nation is a Romance of Frontiers and its theme-center is a saga of the greatest Frontiersman—Abraham Lincoln. Abraham Lincoln is not only the martyr-saint of our Nation—he is the expression of its mighty heart and lofty aspirations.

Said the late Justice Holmes:

"Through our great good fortune in our youth our hearts were touched with fire. It was given us to learn at the outset that life is a profound and passionate thing. While we are permitted to scorn nothing but indifference, and do not pretend to undervalue the worldly rewards of ambition, we have seen with our own eyes, beyond and above the gold fields, the snowy heights of honor, and it is for us to bear the report to those who come after us. But, above all, we have learned that whether a man accepts from Fortune her spade and will look downward and dig, or from Aspiration her axe and cord and will scale the ice, the one and only success which it is his to command is to bring to his work a mighty heart."

"Beyond and above the gold fields" from the snowy heights of leadership the immortal Lincoln delivered through three great speeches a message to mankind that will outlive marble: The Gettysburg Address, The Second Inaugural and the Monongahela-House Address. Of these three speeches, the Gettysburg Address and The Second Inaugural are considered "in nobility of spirit and majesty of phrase as unequal by any modern utterance." Little evaluation has been placed on the third speech delivered by Lincoln from the balcony of the Monongahela House, at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on a morning while on his way to Washington. This outdoor rostrum gave him an opportunity to point across the Monongahela River in the direction of the South and deliver a message calling for unity and self-possession.

Lincoln's style is devoid of embellishments—it reminds us of cyclopedic buildings constructed of huge boulders that only giants could put together. Today, when the world is bleeding in the talons of strife and hatred, Lincoln's messages to mankind gain added significance and solace.

Recently one of the Lincoln Foundations prepared a compilation of evaluations of the Gettysburg Address. I will quote herein some of the most poignant of them.

Edward Everett, who had preceded Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg with an address of great length, was undoubtedly the first one to grasp his hand the moment the speech was concluded. What he said to Lincoln is a matter of conjecture, yet one may feel quite sure his words were complimentary. The general impression is that he made some remark very much like the statement which was incorporated in a letter to Mr. Lincoln written the following day. After thanking the President for the many courtesies which had been shown him at Gettysburg, Mr. Everett concluded:

"Permit me also to express my great admiration of the thoughts expressed by you, with such eloquent simplicity and appropriateness, at the consecration of the Cemetery. I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes. My son, who parted from me at Baltimore, and my daughter, concur in this sentiment."

To the Springfield (Mass.) Republican goes the honor of contributing the first worthy estimate of the Lincoln address appearing in the press. It interprets for its readers the soul of Lincoln as it found expression in his remarks. It is very likely that Josiah G. Holland, later one of Mr. Lincoln's biographers, was the author of these appreciative words:

"Surpassingly fine as Mr. Everett's oration was in the Gettysburg consecration, the rhetorical honors of the occasion were won by President Lincoln. His little speech is a perfect gem; deep in feeling, compact in thought and expression, and tasteful and elegant in every word and comma."

The campaign biographies of 1864 have very little to say about the address Lincoln made at Gettysburg. Sometimes mention of it is omitted altogether and seldom is there more than a line or two in comment. The same statement may be made with reference to the biographies which came out shortly after his death.

One biographer, Isaac N. Arnold, however, who knew Lincoln personally, gave more than usual attention to the dedication at Gettysburg and appreciated the fact that the words spoken there by Lincoln were immortal. After printing his remarks in full, Arnold wrote:

"These twenty lines contain more than many a volume. There is nothing finer in Fisher Ames' oration on the death of Washington, nor in the masterly address of Daniel Webster, in laying the cornerstone of the Bunker Hill Monument . . . When Mr. Lincoln uttered the words 'the world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here,' he seemed so absorbed in the heroic sacrifices of the soldiers, as to utterly forget himself, but his hearers were fully conscious that he was the greatest actor in all the drama, and that he was uttering words which would live as long as the language."

Lord Curzon, Earl of Kedleston, Chancellor of the University of Oxford, delivered before the University of Cambridge on November 6, 1913, an address on "Modern Parliamentary Eloquence." In the course of his remarks he referred to what he considered the "three supreme masterpieces of English eloquence—"the toast of William Pitt after the victory at Trafalgar, and two of Lincoln's speeches: The Gettysburg Address and the Second Inaugural." Commenting on one of these three selections, he said:

"The Gettysburg Address is far more than a pleasing piece of occasional oratory. It is a marvelous piece of English composition. It is a pure well of English undefiled. It sets one to inquiring with nothing short of wonder, 'How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?' The more closely the address is analyzed the more one must confess astonishment at its choice of words, the precision of its thought, its simplicity, directness and effectiveness."

A compilation of words of appreciation for the Gettysburg Address, which are appearing from day to day in nearly every language, would be an impossible task.

This one brief sentiment may serve as a Twentieth Century appraisal of the Gettysburg address:

"In nobility of spirit and majesty of phrase, it is unequaled by any modern utterance."

Confronted by complicated problems, we will soon be called upon to conquer new frontiers and it behooves us on this One Hundred Thirty-Sixth Anniversary of the Birth of the great Emancipator to rededicate ourselves to the wisdom of his advice expressed in the Monongahela-House Speech.

"Notwithstanding the troubles across the river, there is really no crisis springing from anything in the Government itself. In plain words, there is really no crisis, except an artificial one. What is there now to warrant the condition of affairs presented by our friends 'over the river'? Take even their own view of the questions involved, and there is nothing to justify the course which they are pursuing. I repeat it, then, there is no crisis, except such a one as may be gotten up at any time by turbulent men, aided by designing politicians. My advice, then, under such circumstances, is to keep cool. If the great American people will only keep their temper on both sides of the line, the trouble will come to an end, and the question which now distracts the country will be settled just as surely as all other difficulties of like character, which have originated in this Government, have been adjusted. Let the people on both sides keep their self-possession, and, just as other clouds have cleared away in due time, so will this; and this great nation shall continue to prosper as heretofore."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, there are many reasons why we recall Lincoln more often than we recall Christopher Columbus, the discoverer of this nation, and George Washington, the father and founder of this nation.

One reason probably is because of the fact that he was the only one of the three who was born under the flag of the United States of America. Another reason probably is because of the fact that he was a product of America, having in him both the blood of Virginia and the blood of New England.

Probably more so because Lincoln was that type of man that we would like in our better moments to think we ourselves are, a man who was tolerant of others; a man who was never bitter with those who opposed him; a man who considered his duties to the nation were more profound than the duties to himself.

He was truly a man of the ages—he belongs to the ages. The problems of state craft and social policy that he tried to solve, and helped to solve in his time, are still before us today, namely, first, is this democratic form of government worth fighting for to the death; and, secondly, can a nation or the world stand a master race and; thirdly, how can we best cure the ills inflicted upon us by war.

They are the problems of today just as surely as they were problems of his day.

His greatest problem, of course, grew out of the slavery question in America, where in some states human beings were held in bondage.

The Southern states, in seceding from the Union, took a legalistic viewpoint of the Constitution and felt that it was their right under the Constitution to secede if they so desired.

Lincoln looked at it more profoundly. He looked at it as a man whose interest was not that of a mere statute or the welfare of wealth of any group of people.

He said, and I quote: "In this struggle, which is truly a struggle of the people on the side of the Union, it is a struggle for maintaining in this world that form and substance of government whose leading object is to elevate the condition of men, to afford to all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life."

That problem still is with us today too. We still fight that battle every day, in the halls of Congress and in the various Legislatures; we take up the unfinished work of that fight, for an equal start and a fair chance in the race of life for all men, regardless of their creation, whether it be humble, rich, or otherwise.

Before becoming President, Lincoln had already made himself clear on the matter of master races—questions which have destroyed the peace of our generation, have caused untold numbers of lives to be sacrificed to the god of greed, the dogma of racial superiority. He stated at one time that that dogma was the vanguard, the sapper and the menace of returning despotism and either we must replace it or it will subjugate us.

Earlier than that Lincoln had made another statement, and I quote from his writings:

"As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master; those who deny freedom to others deserve it not for themselves, and under a just God will not maintain it."

Once elected President of these United States he moved speedily towards his goal of liberating the colored men in this nation and removing once for all the taint upon American soil.

The emancipation proclamation was the third step in this drive, finally culminating in the Thirteenth Amendment, which destroyed, root and branch, this evil everywhere in the land.

Those of us who live today know, although the emancipation proclamation made all men free, it has not as yet destroyed the prejudices and the bigotry and the hate which crops up in normal human beings in the course of a lifetime.

We have as yet this goal to achieve. Those of us who are now participating in government have our courses laid out for us, Lincoln having shown the way. Are we men enough to follow that path?

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Carr.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, and fellow-Americans, if any one year in the history of our country should stand out in our minds because of the great men it produced it is the year 1809, the year that gave to us many of the great men of modern history. That year gave to us the poet, Edgar Allen Poe, the great erratic poet and yet so brilliant; it gave to us Oliver Wendell Holmes, beloved of all; it gave to the world Alfred Lord Tennyson; it gave to music Chopin and Mendelssohn; it gave to science Darwin; it gave to the British Empire that magnificent statesman of world-wide vision, William E. Gladstone; it gave to America Samuel F. Smith, author of our national hymn, "America"; and it gave to all mankind, America and everywhere else in the world, the finest example of human statesmanship that has ever been known, Abraham Lincoln, great hearted patriot, lover of his country and friend of all mankind.

Born in the wilderness, in a log cabin, with little apparent chance of success in life, he met life at its hardest, he met it at its most difficult point, giving himself to the making of himself something worthwhile. He had not the advantages which have been ours, organized schools, the fine system of society that we now enjoy, but out of meager things which came his way he made the best of all.

His education was simple. He was not allowed to go to school very long.

Reading, spelling, ciphering to rule of three, was about the extent of his academic training, and yet he soon showed to those around him a mind that was capable of doing great things. He was soon ruled out of all spelling bees of his neighborhood because he had become so proficient in spelling that none cared to compete against him.

To his heart he took the greatest books the world knows, The Bible, Pilgrim's Progress, Aesop's Fables, the Life of Crusoe and Weem's Life of Washington, and at every opportunity he was found very deep, not in simple reading but in intensive studying of every book of which he would come in possession. When asked one time when engaged in the reading of a book of law what he was reading, he said "I am not reading, I am studying."

What a difference that made to him and to our world. Gaunt of figure, homely of aspect, humble in his ways, yet he was a man of all kinds of strength. Physically he was the peer of all with whom he came in contact in friendly combat. Morally he had a pillar of strength within his character that could have been derived but from a single source, that God to whom he went on many long nights of anxiety for counsel and guidance; he had a mental strength that could come only from long hours of application to the learning of those things which he needed to know, in order that he might be effective in the things which he had to do.

There were those who accused him of a spirit of laziness. He was not a man who rushed about hither and yon, trying to do a thousand things at one time, as so many of us try to do, but he was a man who did one thing at a time, and what was mistaken for his laziness, perhaps in a day when men appreciated physical activity more than they did mental, was a thoughtfulness that compelled him to get aside by himself and think through every problem with which he was confronted.

His was a life of loneliness, his was a life of kindness, his was a life of meekness—meekness as illustrated on that occasion when one went to him as President and said "Mr. Lincoln, I would like to have you help me to get a position," and Lincoln replied, "Well, I will do the best I can but I have found out that I do not have very much influence with this administration."

That was a real spirit of meekness, a real spirit of humility, which was characteristic of the man and, oh, how he was misunderstood. Never in all the history of the world, except perhaps in the life of the Master of men Himself, has a man been so misunderstood as he.

We praise him now, and yet there was a time concerning which a poet wrote these words:

"Think not there is one Calvary alone,
Nor say the soul of truth but once can die.
In every age the mob cries, 'Crucify!'
In every age the Pharisees are known.
Who speaks for truth must plead to hearts of stone.
Who fights for truth must face the cynic lie.
Must know the martyr's fiery agony
In every age, till wrong is overthrown.

"There is a Lincoln statue down the way,
And men beside it gather, old and gray,
Seeing forgotten years, as old men can.
"In every age," one says, "God finds his man."
"God's man, another answers. "Man's man too.
Yet how men hated him—before they knew!"

I think, my friends, as we recall this afternoon the life of this great man, we can but take words which fell from his own lips, expressive of his own philosophy of life, expressive of his ideals for the human race and for the government of ours:

"Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

What a philosophy; we could all adopt it.

"At what point then," said he, concerning our government, "is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer: if it ever reach us it must spring up among us; it can not come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and its finisher. As a nation of free men we must live through all time or die by suicide."

"The government with its institutions belongs to the people who inhabit it."

"I never had a feeling politically that did not spring from the sentiments in the Declaration of Independence."

In his second inaugural address in 1865 he spoke these immemorial words, words that in my opinion rank alongside, if not with, at least immediately behind the words of the Gettysburg Address:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

In his debate with Douglas in the year 1858 he summed up the whole question in a few words:

"That," said he, "is the real issue. That is the issue which will continue in this country when the poor tongues of Judge Douglas and myself shall be silent. It is the eternal struggle between two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world. They are the two principles that have stood face to face from the beginning of time. The one is the common right of humanity, the other the divine right of kings. It is the same principle in whatever shape it envelops itself. It is the same spirit that says 'you toil and work and earn bread, and I will eat it.' No matter in what shape it comes, whether from the mouth of a king who bestrides the people of his own nation and who lives by the fruit of their labor, or from one race of men as an apology for enslaving another race, it is the same tyrannical principle."

As to the sanctity of a law, we might turn again and again and again to these words:

"Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of '76 did to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor. Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in the schools, the seminaries and in the colleges. Let it be written in primers, in spelling books, and almanacs. Let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in the legislative halls and enforced in courts of justices. In short, let it become the political religion of the nation."

As I turn to read from the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, a chapter beloved by most of us, I read from a revised translation, and I seem to see exemplified in him all the characteristics in this great, perfect chapter on human living:

"For love is patient and kind; love knows no hatred or envy.

It is never a braggart in mien, or swells with self-adulation;

It never offends good feeling, or insists on all it has claim to;

It never blazes with rage, and it stores up no resentment.

It delights not over the wrong that men do,

But responds with delight to true dealing.

Unfailing tolerant, unfailingly trustful,

Unfailingly hopeful, unfailingly strong."

That is a biblical description of the thing called love, and in his life I find it truly exemplified; his love for humanity, his intensive interest, his passion for truth, his devotion to duty, his love for humanity, these acclaim him a master of destiny and a friend of man.

On the occasion of the celebration of a birthday of Lincoln a great poet, Edwin Markham, was asked to produce and read a poem. The evening before that occasion they wanted that poem to include in the program, but it was not available because it had not been yet written, and the next morning these words came from the mind of Edwin Markham:

"The color of the ground was in him, the red earth;

The smack and tang of elemental things;

The rectitude and patience of the cliff;

The good will of the rain that loves all leaves;

The friendly welcome of the wayside well;

The courage of the bird that dares the sea;

The gladness of the wind that shakes the corn;

The pity of the snow that hides all scars;

The secrecy of streams that make their way

Under the mountain to the rifted rock;

The tolerance and the equity of light

That gives as freely to the shrinking flower

As to the great oak flaring to the wind—
To the grave's low hill as to the Matterhorn
That shoulders out the sky. Spring from the west.
He drank the valorous youth of a new world.
The strength of virgin forest braced his mind,
The hush of spacious prairies stilled his soul.
His words were oaks in acorns; and his thoughts
Were roots that firmly gripped the granite truth.

"Up from log cabin to the Capitol,
One fire was on his spirit, one resolve—
To send the keen ax to the root of wrong,
Clearing a free way for the feet of God,
The eyes of Conscience testing every stroke,
To make his deed the measure of a man.
He built the rail pile as he built the state
Pouring his splendid strength through every blow;
The grip that swung the ax in Illinois
Was on the pen that set a people free.
So came the Captain with a mighty heart;

"And when the judgment thunders split the house,
Wrenching the rafters from their ancient rest,
He held the ridge-pole up, and spiked again
The rafters of the Home, He held his place—
Held the long purpose like a growing tree—
Held on through blame and faltered not at praise.
And when he fell in whirlwind, he went down
As when a lordly cedar, green with boughs,
Goes down with a great shout upon the hills,
And leaves a lonesome place against the sky."

Had his work been completed it would have been of great benefit to both the North and the South of our country; had he lived and by his great capacity for love been enabled to do that which was in his heart, he would have accomplished much more but before the end of his service he was laid low, and they took him out and tried to bury him. The poet goes on to say:

"And so they buried Lincoln? Strange and vain—
Has any creature thought of Lincoln hid
In any vault, 'neath any coffin lid,
In all the wild years since that wild spring of pain?
You could not bury him although you slid
Upon his clay the Cheops pyramid,
Or heaped it with the Rocky Mountain chain.

"They slew themselves; they but set Lincoln free
In all the earth his great heart beats as strong;
Shall beat while pulses throb to chivalry,
And burn with hate of tyranny and wrong.
Whoever will may find him, anywhere
Save in the tomb. Not there—he is not there."

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair wishes to extend the thanks of the Senate to you, Mr. Kammerer, and to our four colleagues who have contributed to this celebration of Lincoln's birthday.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. In 1937, prodded by the late Mayor Wilson of Philadelphia and the Philadelphia Record, a bill was introduced in the Legislature by my colleague, Senator DiSilvestro, designed to obtain pure water for Philadelphia and nearby counties. The bill, in effect, authorized cities of the first class to erect and construct waterworks within and without their corporate limits and to also generate power and to erect power plants, and to use, sell the water, water power and electric energy within and without their corporate limits. Needless to say, the Utilities blocked final passage. A joker amendment bearing the handwriting of the private utilities did the trick. The advantages of pure water to be drawn from the Poconos meant little or nothing to the private utilities. The health of millions of our citizens suggested little to the Private Utilities.

Under the bill as proposed, an expenditure of approximately $75,000,000 would serve the purpose. However, the production and sale of electric energy would make it a self-liquidating proposition, and in time prove very profitable to the City of Philadelphia and at the same time result in low electric rates. More important, the City of Philadelphia and nearby communities would enjoy the benefits of pure water. The private utilities, fearful of competition and possibly low rates went to work and completed the job of destruction. Consequently, the residents of Philadelphia are still drinking chlorine cocktails. Filth, waste, sewage, silt, continue to be discharged into the Schuylkill River. As a result, here is what actually issues from our spigots—An Aqueous Solution of Chlorides, sulphates, alkali, iron, magnesium, lead, copper and zinc. Hardly credible, but nevertheless true.

What have we done to overcome this situation? What have we done to obtain water that is potable, pure and free from obnoxious taste and odor? The answer is very simple—nothing. The history of the deplorable condition now existing may be traced to the days of Benjamin Franklin. It was he who first recognized the City's need for better water, and over a period of 160 years little progress has been made towards obtaining pure water for the residents of Philadelphia, notwithstanding the advancement of chemical and physical science. The period is laden with sickness, epidemics of typhoid fever, in many instances resulting in death, all attributable to the impure water. I have been reliably informed, and there is reason to believe that the present outbreak of typhoid now assuming the proportions of an epidemic can be attributed to the water situation in Philadelphia.

I repeat, what are we doing to correct the situation. Turning a deaf ear to our people, and instead responding to the calls of the miners, industrialists and utilities, I sincerely hope that we give more than lip service to the consumers of water in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

A nation, state, city or community in order to survive must be healthy. What is the basis of our educational system—sound mind and healthy body. The health of the community transcends political considerations. We have made promises to our constituents. However, are we more concerned about the wealth, greed and power of the few

Two million people are eagerly awaiting the redemption of our campaign pledges and promises. They are growing restive at our failure to produce tangible and reassuring evidence of our good faith. They refuse to be comforted or deceived by high-sounding phrases and remote promises which have been for years the forte of astute politicians. Our citizens demand action, not at some indeterminate date, but NOW. Our Philadelphia newspapers, particularly The Philadelphia Inquirer and The Philadelphia Record are launching a vigorous campaign to make pure water a reality. I am heartily in accord with the anti-silt programs, stream clearance and anti-pollution programs. However, I feel we can go still further, and therefore, am introducing this bill, which, if enacted, will once and for all solve the pure water problem in Philadelphia. It is a replica of Senate Bill No. 955 as introduced in 1937. This bill is not intended as a substitute for the Anti-Silt Bill as now introduced. It is not in opposition to it. It is more or less designed to supplement it. The Anti-Silt programs go beyond cleansing the water so as to make it potable. It was instituted to avoid many hazards such as when it ruins a river and clogs waterworks intakes and outfall sewers, interferes with the efficiency of water treatment plants, destroys recreational values, depreciates property values, creates flood hazards and impedes navigation.

My bill cannot possibly take care of all these factors. However, it does provide for the construction of new water works, so as to obtain pure water. The health of the community is my immediate concern.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 301, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering cities of the first class to erect and construct waterworks as herein defined, within and without their corporate limits; to acquire property within and without their corporate limits by purchase, lease, gift and the power of eminent domain, for such purposes; to generate power and erect power plants, stations and lines in connection therewith, and to use, sell and purchase water, water power and electric energy within and without their corporate limits; prescribing the powers and duties of such cities; providing for the assessment of damages, and repealing inconsistent laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

Messrs. DENT, GOURLEY and WOODRING read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 302, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one thousand six hundred five and one thousand eight hundred forty-three of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," permitting contributions to political campaigns by unincorporated associations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. TALLMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 303, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor and the Board of Trustees of the Allentown State Hospital, to acquire a certain tract of land for the use of said hospital, and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 304, entitled:

An Act requiring all persons building or constructing, or having built or constructed any building or taxable structure in counties of the third class to secure a permit therefor or report the same to the county commissioners.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. ROSENFELD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 363) entitled, "An act relating to the organization, jurisdiction, and procedure of the orphans' courts; the powers and duties of the judges thereof; and appeals therefrom," further defining the jurisdiction of the orphans' court over sales of real estate by fiduciaries.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. COLEMAN and MARGIE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 306, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," providing for the filling of vacancies in the office of city treasurer; prescribing qualifications of persons so appointed; and regulating the appointment of deputy controllers and the responsibility and liability of controllers for their action and conduct.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am about to introduce a bill but I want to preface the introduction of the bill with a few remarks and speak on a question of personal privilege, if I may.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it was quite a difficult task for me this afternoon, of all the times that I have arisen, I think this is one time that I will never forget.

Before I speak of the contents of my bill, I am compelled to get somewhat personal in order to acquaint my colleagues with what I have in mind.

Up until several months ago I was the proud father of a son. My son, we determined early in life, had a birthmark on the back of his neck. After consulting physicians throughout the western part of Pennsylvania, they recommended to me that I take him to one of the outstanding cities of the commonwealth—and for ethical reasons I have no desire to mention the hospital, the city, nor the doctor.

I put my son in the automobile with me and drove him down to the office of this doctor, who examined my boy briefly, and he said that it was a minor operation. In fact, he said "A ten minute job and I will call the hospital now and have your son go in and the following morning I shall remove the birthmark."

My wife and I took our son to the hospital—we had adjoining rooms.

The doctor walked in in the morning, very much in haste, in a hurry, because of other engagements, took my son by the arm and said "Come, son, I will take you in."

The boy looked at me and said, "Daddy, are you my friend?"

His name was Tom and I said "Yes, Tom."

He said "Daddy, if you are my friend, don't let him do this because you will never see me again; I am going to die."

The doctor said "Come on." He said "All boys feel that way."

He took my son down the aisle. He said the Lord's Prayer, turned his head, and in twenty-two minutes the doctor said, "Your son was right, he died on the operating table."

Mr. President, that was just another death to the average man, of course. Had my son died an ordinary death I would have said to myself it is God's will.

My son was taken to the operating room without even as much as a temperature reading, no physical check, no history, no blood count, urinal test or anything—definitely from the bedside to the operating room, where I say he was brutally killed.

That, gentlemen, is happening every hour of every day in this commonwealth.

I am trying to find reasons to live. Naturally you will realize that I am brokenhearted. I am trying to make myself believe now that my son died for a cause, that he died possibly so others might live.

It so happens that I am the superintendent of a hospital in the western part of Pennsylvania and have some knowledge of hospital work, of the medical profession, operations and so forth. I have never known that any doctor would have the conscience to operate upon any person, or any human, without first doing what is imbedded within his oath. God forbid that one of us might be stricken tonight or tomorrow.

If we are taken to a hospital, Mr. President, we first rely on God and, secondly, we rely entirely upon the Medical profession. We hope that every protection might be taken that we may live and survive an operation.

My son may have been a bleeder. What does that mean to the ordinary man? Ask any good physician. It is stated by the Medical College of Surgery that any person who might be operated upon, and he be a bleeder, has one chance out of four thousand to live, and there is no way of determining whether a person is a bleeder or not, before a blood test is taken.

How could any doctor operate on any human body without having knowledge of whether that person might be a bleeder? My son may have had a bad heart; my son may have been fatigued from the trip; my son may have had a cold.

The Medical College of Surgery prescribes very thoroughly that no person should be operated upon without first having a physical checkup. Certainly we expect that.

Much to my surprise, and to the surprise of many people whom I have contacted since my son has died, there is nothing upon our statutes, Mr. President, governing the medical profession.

I have no desire of introducing any punitive legislation. I realize, regardless of what I say or what I do, my son shall never return, but I do believe that what you gentlemen say and do will save the sons and daughters, the fathers and mothers, of countless thousands of people, even thousands yet unborn.

Certainly, Mr. President, a history should be taken of every person before that person is taken into an operating room, and I believe that practically all good physicians do this, but it is not compulsory.

Therefore, Mr. President, I have prepared a bill. It has been quite difficult to prepare, because I had no pattern before me.

I make these remarks to acquaint you with the contents of this bill. Perhaps each Senator here will take a few minutes off and read this bill. I am asking for your cooperation.

I realize, and you realize, gentlemen, that this is one bill that certainly is not tinged with politics. It is not a bill to help Democrats and hurt Republicans, or vice versa. It is a bill for humanity, a bill for each and every one of us. I am not too sure that I have framed the bill properly, because I have copied the words which were embodied in the oath of a doctor, and the balance is taken from the American College of Surgery, to make certain I have the proper wording. I am willing to sit down with any of my colleagues to make any readjustments of which the bill may be in need.

It is a very short bill, and it will take but a minute of your time to read this bill; it is only one page.

"An Act to safeguard human life, prohibiting the performance of operations previous to the making of certain studies and tests and the inspection thereof by the person making the operation; defining emergency operations and pre-operative study; and providing penalties.

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

"Section 1. An 'emergency operation' as used in this act, shall mean an operation in which the condition of the person to be operated upon indicates immediate surgery, and in which case the time required to make a pre-operative study and diagnosis would seriously endanger life.

"A 'pre-operative study' as used in this act, shall include a complete history of the case and the report of a thorough physical examination, including examinations of the heart, blood vessels, blood, lungs and urine.

"Section 2. Whoever, being in charge of any hospital or place in which operations are performed, permits any person to be taken into an operating room or other place for the purpose of being operated upon, except for oral surgery, without having first required a pre-operative study and diagnosis to be had and a record thereof to be made, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment not exceeding two (2) years, or pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) or both, at the discretion of the court.

"Section 3. Whoever performs any operation upon any person, except emergency operations and oral surgery, without having first obtained knowledge of, and acquainted himself with, the results of the pre-operative study and diagnosis of such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment not exceeding two (2) years, or pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both, at the discretion of the court."

I do not think, gentlemen, that the fine involved means very much; possibly it should be more. That is up to you. You cannot buy life with money. Regardless of what you gain in this world, nothing is sweeter than life itself.

I say to you, gentleman, that daily we pick up the daily press and find where somebody died in an operating room or immediately after an operation, and none of us know the reasons thereof, but until you have proof so that you can prove these things, it is quite difficult to try to impress people, but I say to you upon my word of honor that I was with my son at the time I left my home, until they brought him back to my bedroom, dead—definitely with no temperature reading, no check-up, no history was made, and yet the doctor had the courage—if that is the proper word—to operate upon that boy and not give him any chance whatever to live.

Gentlemen, I trust that you will consider this bill, not for my sake, but for the sake of humanity. I am convinced that every good physician will uphold its provisions. I am convinced once the people of the Commonwealth are aware of the fact that operations are being performed under such conditions, they will holler out to the blue skies asking for help, but that should never happen again. It happened to me, and my boy died so others may live, I am convinced, and I do trust the Committee to which this bill is committed will give it their favorable consideration.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair—and I know I speak for my fellow members of the Senate—deeply appreciates the remarks accompanying the presentation of this bill, and I know the gentleman from Cambria knows that not only his colleagues in the Senate but the personnel of the Senate sympathize with the gentleman from Cambria and Mrs. Haluska.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 307, entitled:

An Act to safeguard human life, prohibiting the performance of operations previous to the making of certain studies and tests and the inspection thereof by the person making the operation; defining emergency operations and pre-operative study; and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 308, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Mercy Hospital of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 309, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Board of Trustees of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum, Exhibition and Convention Halls (known also as the Philadelphia Museum).

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 310, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Union Home for Old Ladies of West Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 311, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Mercy Hospital and School for Nurses, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WOODRING, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 232, entitled:

An Act requiring persons involved in civil or criminal investigations, proceedings or trials in which the identity of a person is in issue to submit to serologic blood tests upon court order; making the results of such tests admissible evidence in certain cases; requiring the tests to be made by qualified physicians and providing that the refusal to submit to such tests shall be admissible in evidence.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Bill No. 360, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand two hundred twenty-three to the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," authorizing the extension of time for inspection of motor vehicles.

RESOLUTION

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 103.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO OPPOSE CONSTRUCTION OF PROPOSED ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AND POWER PROJECT

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—37

Barr,	Crowe,	Letzler,	Taylor,
Becker,	DiSilvestro,	Mallery,	Thomas,
Berger,	Ealy,	Margie,	Troutman,
Blass,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Tyler,

---------	--------	------------	-----------

PRESENT—4

Dent,	Holland,	Leader,	Stiefel,
-------	----------	---------	----------

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I request permission to explain why I voted "Present."

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in giving my reason for voting "Present" on Resolution No. 103 I do not think this body is exercising proper authority when it dictates to another House in the National Capitol how to vote. I believe we are elected to take care of the business of this State, and I believe that as State Senators we are exceeding our authority when we say to a Congressman elected from Pennsylvania "You shall vote this way at our request." Therefore I am voting "Present."

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. DiSILVESTRO, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 12, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 19, 1945, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 19, 1945, at nine o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, on February 6, of this year, there was a resolution presented, No. 33, co-sponsored by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and myself. Unfortunately, we find that it was very faulty in construction, and a number of changes must be made.

Therefore, Mr. President, I now read in place and present to the Chair a new resolution on the same subject, which will not be necessary for the Clerk to read for the information of the House.

INQUIRY INTO RATES FIXED BY PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION FOR CERTAIN GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANIES

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was referred to the Committee on Public Utilities:

In the Senate February 12, 1945.

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has within the past several years issued orders increasing rates for natural gas to ratepayers of The Peoples Natural Gas Company and Manufacturers Light and Heat Company serving large portions of western Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Equitable Gas Company has filed tariffs effecting similar increases in rates for natural gas to its ratepayers, effective February 10, 1945, and

Whereas, the increased rates to the small ratepayer or customer of the three gas companies in some instances exceed 100% of the old rates, and

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has issued an order in the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company rate case which will permit increases in electric rates to its ratepayers, and

Whereas, it is contended that reductions in rates should have been made to the ratepayers of all four companies instead of the increases authorized or that may be authorized by the Commission, now

Therefore Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the House of Representatives and the Senate of the General Assembly constitute themselves as a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of receiving and considering data in the hands of the Public Utility Commission and the four companies involved to the end and that the Legislature exercise its legislative function under Article XVI, section 3, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, to establish just and reasonable rates to be charged to the ratepayers for the natural gas or electricity supplied by the said four companies respectively, and

Be It Further Resolved, that the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and the Minority Leaders of the House and Senate be and are hereby constituted a Committee of Four for the purpose of gathering and compiling the necessary records and data in the files of Public Utility Commission from the books and records of the four above named public utilities, and to compile therefrom the actual legitimate original cost of the properties, the amount of invested capital, capitalization, working capital requirements, legitimate operating expenses, depreciation and taxes for the purpose of compiling data for submission to the Committee of the Whole not more than thirty calendar days from the date of this action and as much in advance of that date as may be possible. For so doing said Committee of Four shall be authorized and directed to require of the Public Utility Commission and its staff such aid and assistance as it, the said Committee of Four, shall deem necessary and proper, which aid and assistance shall have priority over other Commission matters, and, likewise said committee shall have power of subpoena and shall have available to it the services of the Sergeants-at-Arms of the House and Senate for the purposes of enforcing the production of evidence or witnesses or such other matters material to the fixing of just and reasonable rates in this proceeding, and

Be It Further Resolved, that at the end of thirty calendar days from the adoption of this resolution or within five calendar days thereof, the House and Senate of the General Assembly shall meet in executive session as a Committee of the Whole to receive the report of the above named committee upon the original cost, invested capital, etc., as above recited and in due course to hear argument by counsel of the public utilities above named and intervenors representing municipalities and other parties in interest that may desire to be heard, and that said Committee of the Whole shall continue in executive session with reasonable recess over weekends until a final determination is reached of the just and reasonable rates to be charged the customers of the four public utilities, The Peoples Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Equitable Gas Company and Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

CALENDAR

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection A of section one thousand six, subsection C of section one thousand seven, and section one thousand twelve, and to amend section one thousand two hundred ten of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L., 624), entitled "An act relating to the business of banking, and to the exercise of fiduciary powers by corporations providing for the organization of corporations with fiduciary powers, and of banking corporations, with or without fiduciary powers, including the conversion of National banks into State banks, and for the licensing of private bankers; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such corporations; of existent corporations authorized to engage in a banking business, with or without fiduciary powers, of private bankers, and of the officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, attorneys, and other employees of all such corporations, associations, or persons; restricting the exercise of banking powers by any other corporation, association or person, and of fiduciary powers by any other corporation; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, prothonotaries, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by further providing for the powers and duties and limitations upon powers of corporations and persons authorized to engage in a banking or fiduciary business or both.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

BILL ON THIRD READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 25, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the first paragraph, section one of the act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled, as amended, "An act to further amend the title to reenact and further amend paragraph (e) of section one, and to further amend section thirty-nine of the act, approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled, as amended 'An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; defining and taxing transfers made in contemplation of death; and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth, or national banking association located therein, to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association, standing in the name of any such decedent, until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid; and providing penalties; and citing certain acts for repeal,' by defining as a transfer and taxing the right of survivorship in property as to which such right exists; and providing for the extension of the Commonwealth's lien on real property for a further period of time," by exempting the estates of certain deceased service persons and veterans from the taxes herein imposed go over in its order.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, on behalf of the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Snowden, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 106, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two hundred twenty, and two hundred eighty-five of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters, and the boundary lakes, and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," increasing the resident fishing license fee; and limiting the use of the money derived from such increase

go over in its order.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 122, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two, and to further amend section three of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 344, No. 284), entitled "An act relating to husband and wife, enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property, to sue and be sued, and to make a last will, and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases," authorizing a married woman to mortgage or convey her real property to the same extent as a married man, to make contracts as if unmarried; and to become surety on any bond, bail or recognizance be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General, for the purpose of further consideration.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise at this time to move that Senate Bill No. 106 be recommitted to a committee for the purpose of further consideration.

I also wish to ask the privilege, if this motion is not agreed to, to address the House in opposition of this bill.

I only want to call your attention to just one thing. I do not want to say at this time that we ought to oppose this bill, because it seems to be popular to vote for bills which seem to be in a hurry.

I also want to call your attention to one clause in this bill. The purpose of it is hard for me to understand. It disturbs conditions and affairs which have been in existence for a long time. In my 52 years practice of the law no one ever suggested such a thing as this to me. This is what it says: "Section 3. Hereafter a married woman may become surety on any bond, bail, or recognizance, and may sue, and so forth."

I am not ready, without somebody telling me why I should vote for a bill like that. It disturbs the family relationship. I might stand here and oppose this bill before a vote is taken on it, but that makes no difference, but I am not going to do this. I am merely moving at this time that this bill be recommitted to a committee for further consideration.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I object to this motion, and I would be very glad to hear the reasons of the gentleman from Jefferson for making it.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the Chair understand that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, desires to interrogate the Senator from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, in presenting the motion, said he was making a motion and if there was any exception to it, he would like to have an opportunity of speaking against the bill, and I am affording him that opportunity at this time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair wishes to call to the attention of the Senate the fact that the bill is not under debate. There is a motion before the Senate that this bill be recommitted.

Mr. WILSON. That is the question, Mr. President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman desire to discuss the motion.

Mr. WILSON. No, Mr. President, if the bill comes up for a vote I serve notice that I want to talk on it.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Jefferson already has served notice of that.

Is there any further discussion on the motion to recommit?

Mr. COX. I would like to discuss the motion to recommit, Mr. President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. The sponsors of this bill presented it because of the belief that in this year of 1945 the time has come when there should no longer be any distinctions in the law between the right of a married woman and the right of a married man to deal with her own personal and real property.

The other day, in returning from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, I passed through a baggage car, and I noted that heavy packages in that car were being handled by women. There is not a profession, there is not a vocation today, in which women are not engaged. The magnificent war effort this country is making would be impossible without the assistance of women.

I am satisfied in my own mind that my wife could do just as good a job in handling her own separate estate as I could, and I think that is true for most of the wives of most of the members of this Senate, and the married men in this State.

It seems to me a travesty that on this day, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, when we have listened to those beautiful and magnetic words, "A country conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal," that we should have a motion to recommit this bill, because, gentlemen, I am not so naive as not to know that if this bill is recommitted it will never see the light of day again, and that we would publicly be going on record as saying to the women of this State that they have not sufficient understanding to handle their own affairs.

I, too, am a lawyer. I have not had the years of experience of the gentleman from Jefferson, but in my limited experience I know this fact, by indirection, that married women of today can do everything that they can not do under the terms of the statute that was passed in 1893. It is true that a married woman today can not mortgage her real estate without the consent of her most able and intelligent husband, although he, of course, with his superior knowledge and experience, can mortgage his real estate without her pointing in the mortgage, and yet if that woman cares to borrow money she can go to the bank and give a judgment note, judgment could be confessed on the note, and if she fails to pay, her separate property could be sold on foreclosure, or a lien.

It is true today that in Pennsylvania a married woman can not be an accommodation party. If I wanted to borrow money from a bank my wife is not permitted to be a co-maker on the note or guarantor or endorser, but there is nothing in the law which says she can not go to the bank and borrow money and turn that money over to me if she cares to do so.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair calls to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, that the gentleman is debating the bill and the question before the Senate is, shall the bill be recommitted.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, will confine his remarks to the motion before the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the Chair has done such an able job today, I beg the indulgence of the Chair. My remarks are very few, and should this motion prevail I probably would not have opportunity to express these remarks and I think the matter is of such grave importance—

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny has just announced a rebuttable presumption.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would like to say to the Chair it might be a rebuttable presumption, but I note the Chair has not attempted to rebut it and I have not heard anything from any members of the Senate to indicate that they would care to take part in this so-called controversy.

I am convinced, Mr. President, that the great majority of the members of this Senate see eye to eye with me on this proposition.

I want to state this—I want to reiterate my former statement—it has been my experience in my five sessions in this body that very few bills which have been recommitted for the purpose of study ever again see the light of day. Once we get bills back in committee we become so studious that we continue to study on and on until the session is over, and so I say to the members of the Senate that if you agree with the sponsors of this bill that there should be equality in the eyes of the law between married men and women in handling their own separate property, you will, of course, vote not to recommit this bill, and I ask you to do that.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Becker,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Berger,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Blass,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wagner,

Section 1 Section thirty-one of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 31 The lien of a tax or a municipal claim shall not be divested by any judicial sale of the property liened where the amount due is indefinite or undetermined or where the same is not due and payable nor shall the lien of a tax or municipal claim be divested by any judicial sale of the property liened as respects so much thereof as the proceeds of such sale may be insufficient to discharge nor except as hereinafter provided shall a judicial sale of the property liened under a judgment obtained on a tax or municipal claim discharge the lien of any other tax or municipal claim than that upon which said sale is had except to the extent that the proceeds realized are sufficient for its payment after paying the costs and expenses of the sale and of the writ upon which it was made and any other prior tax or municipal claims to which the fund may first be applicable. On any such sale being made all tax claims shall be paid out of the proceeds thereof first the oldest tax having priority and municipal claims shall be paid next the oldest in point of lien having priority. Mortgages ground-rents and other charges on or estates in the property including liens of the Commonwealth which were recorded or created where recording is not required before any tax other than for the current year accrue or before the actual doing of the work in front of or upon the particular property for which the municipal claim is filed shall not be disturbed by such sale unless a prior lien is also discharged thereby

In case the property be not sold for a sum sufficient to pay all taxes and municipal claims together with the costs thereon the plaintiff in any such claim may postpone the sale without payment of costs and file his petition setting forth that more than one year has elapsed since the filing of his claim that he has exposed the property to sheriff's sale thereunder and was unable to obtain a bid sufficient to pay the upset price in full and if a municipal claimant other than a municipality that he will bid sufficient to pay the upset price and upon the production of searches or a title insurance policy showing the state of the record and the ownership of the property and of all tax and municipal claims mortgages ground-rents or other charges on or estates in the land including liens of the Commonwealth the court shall grant a rule upon all parties thus shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that said property be sold freed and cleared of their respective claims mortgages charges and estates. If upon a hearing thereafter the court is satisfied that service has been made of said rule upon the parties respondent in the manner provided in this act for the service of writs of scire facias to obtain judgments upon tax and municipal claims and that the facts stated in the petition be true it shall order and decree that said property be sold at a subsequent sheriff's sale day to be fixed by the court without further advertisement clear of all claims liens mortgages charges and estates including liens of the Commonwealth to the highest bidder at such sale and the proceeds realized therefrom shall be distributed in accordance with the priority of such claims and the purchaser at such sale shall take and forever thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and discharged of all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages charges and estates of whatsoever kind subject only to the right of redemption as provided by law

Any person interested may at any time before the sale pay the petitioner the whole of his claim with interest and costs whereupon the proceedings on petition shall at once determine

For the purpose of enabling the petitioner in any such proceedings to give the notice required he may take the testimony of the defendant in the claim or of any other person whom he may have reason to believe has knowledge of the whereabouts of any of the parties respondent either by deposition commission or letters rogatory

Any county municipality township or school district being a claimant shall have the right and is hereby empowered to bid and become the purchaser of the property at such sale and while the said property so purchased is held and owned by either a county or a municipality township or school district it shall not be subject to tax claims unless it be redeemed by the former owner or other person having the right to redeem as provided by law. If however a county municipality township or school district shall become the purchaser at said sale the former owner or other person desiring to redeem shall pay all taxes and municipal claims accrued and chargeable against the property prior to the sale thereof together with the costs and interest thereon and also all taxes and claims whether filed or not which would have accrued an become chargeable against the property had the same been purchased at the sale by some party other than the county city or other municipal division

Upon the delivery by the sheriff of a deed for any property sold under a tax or municipal claim the judgment upon which such sale was had shall thereupon and forever thereafter be final and conclusive as to all matters of defense which could have been raised in the proceeding including payment and no error or irregularity in obtaining or entering of such judgment shall effect the validity thereof

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

An Act to further amend section nine of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" by providing that tax sales shall discharge liens of the Commonwealth

Section 1 Section nine of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 498) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 9 No sale shall be valid where the taxes and interest have been paid prior to said advertisement or where the taxes interest and costs have been paid after advertisement and before sale or when such taxes are not legally due and collectible Every such sale shall discharge the lien of every obligation claim lien or estate including liens of the Commonwealth with which said property may have or shall become charged or for which it may become liable except no such sale shall discharge the lien of any ground rent municipal claim or tax remaining unpaid or mortgage which shall have been recorded before such taxes became liens by return and docketing as herein provided and which is or shall be prior to all other liens except other mortgages ground rents municipal claims and/or other taxes Any real estate sold under this act may be redeemed by the owner his heirs or legal representatives or by any lien creditor or his heirs assigns or legal representatives or by anyone interested in said real estate for the benefit of the owner thereof at any time within two years after such sale by the payment to the county treasurers of the full amount which the purchaser paid to said treasurer for taxes interest and costs and fifteen per centum of the amount of tax in addition thereto In case the purchaser has paid any taxes of any kind whatsoever assessed and levied against said property the same shall be reimbursed to said purchaser before any redemption shall take effect No sale of seated lands for taxes under the provisions of this act shall be prejudiced or defeated by proof that there was personal property to be found on the premises sufficient to pay the taxes assessed thereon nor shall such sale be prejudiced by reason of the fact that such lands so assessed as seated lands were at the time unseated

When any real estate is so sold no lien whatsoever against such real estate shall be deemed to be discharged

during the period for redemption but if such real estate is not redeemed then all liens against the same except such liens as are hereinbefore specifically saved shall be deemed to be discharged from the date that the right of redemption expired

When any real estate is so redeemed by a lien creditor or his heirs assigns or legal representatives or by any person interested for the benefit of the owner the county treasurer shall issue to the person redeeming such real estate a certificate stating the fact of such redemption a brief description of the real estate redeemed and the amount of the redemption money paid which certificate may be entered in the office of the prothonotary of the county as a judgment against the owner of the real estate for the amount stated therein The lien of any such judgment shall have priority over all other liens against such real estate except such liens as would not have been discharged had no redemption ever been made

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. JONES, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 238, on third reading, entitled:

"An Act to amend section nine hundred ten, and subsection (e) of section nine hundred fifty-one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by providing that in certain cases when a candidate is in the armed forces of the United States an affidavit by certain members of his family or by a person holding a general power of attorney may be substituted for such candidate's affidavit required by said act to accompany his nomination petition or nomination papers be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. HEYBURN, Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JONES, Mr. President, this bill proposes that nomination papers may be filed for a candidate by any member of his family, his wife, his father, his mother, his children, his brother, or sister. The purpose of the bill, when it was introduced, as stated by the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, was that Judge Hoban of Lackawanna County, was in the Armed Forces, has been reported missing, and was unable to file his nomination papers.

I know Judge Hoban. I know that he is a very eminent man and gentleman; he is an able and a good judge, and he has been an illustrious soldier; but when we read this bill we find that it applies generally throughout the State of Pennsylvania to county and to state and to municipal offices, affecting many candidates for office, and it opens the gate for filing nomination papers for many missing men, or those who, when the time to take office comes, may be missing, and it creates considerable uncertainties and confusion in our elections.

Therefore, Mr. President, in the case, for instance, of Judge Hoban himself, if he wanted to file—and he has been reported as missing in action—it may turn out as in many other cases heretofore, he will be reported dead later or in the perils of war he may die in the interim, and could never take office, and then, of course, it would become the duty of the Governor, if he should be nominated or elected, to nominate someone else, perhaps a Republican, and so, as I say, this creates considerable uncertainties and confusion and therefore, Mr. President:

I move that Senate Bill No. 238 be recommitted to a committee for further consideration and study, for the purpose of bringing out the single intent of the Senator from Lackawanna, and at the same time prevent confusion and uncertainty.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, in the introduction of this bill I made a statement to the effect that in the county of Lackawanna a woman in the autumn of her life was advised by the War Department that her only son was missing in action.

This afternoon I received a telephone call from a friend of mine in Lackawanna County advising me that the shocking news had exacted its toll. Judge Hoban's mother died this morning.

I attempted to rise, Mr. President, for the express purpose of asking that this bill go over in order, because as the bill now stands it would give somebody who had a general power of attorney, or some kin—and we have enumerated the kin—the privilege of filing a petition on behalf of anyone in the armed services whose whereabouts were unknown.

Mrs. Hoban is the only kin, and the one who had a general power of attorney, and so the bill in its present form would not take care of the situation in Lackawanna County.

I had intended, however, Mr. President, to offer some amendment at a later date, sometime over the weekend, when I had opportunity to confer with interested parties.

It seems, as my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Cox, has so well said, ironic that on the birthday of the Great Emancipator, who preached "malice towards none" and all the other great philosophies that have been part of our American way of life, that same person should be so inconsiderate as to make a motion to send this bill back to committee and I ask, Mr. President, my colleagues on the Democratic side, and those on the Republican side who have some sense of appreciation of the great contribution that Judge Hoban has made in the defense of America to oppose this motion, so that at some time over the week end I may be able to insert into the bill some amendment that will permit Judge Hoban's name to be placed on the Primary Ballot.

(The Senate was at ease.)

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I desire to withdraw my motion.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 238, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine hundred ten, and subsection (e) of section nine hundred fifty-one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. RESOLUTION

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER. This being the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, if there is no objection the Chair will now recognize the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Frost.

Mr. FROST asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Frost, to come to the rostrum and read the resolution.

The resolution was read by Mr. Frost as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

To-day marks the 136th anniversary of the birth of America's first martyred President, who, when he fell—"went down as when a kindly cedar green with boughs goes down with a great shout upon the hills and leaves a lonesome place against the sky."

A poet has said that "the color of the ground was in him" and Pennsylvania must share a part of the elements that entered into this man, for it was from Berks County that his ancestors emigrated to Virginia.

Raised to farm work, and with meagre schooling, he pulled himself into the country's most exalted position. From a log cabin in Kentucky, he traveled to the White House, and from an educational qualification limited to "readin', writin', and cipherin'," he touched with finger tips the stars of literary accomplishment, and his writings are a part of the world's masterpieces.

His life was marked by his deep humility as definitely as his memory is enriched by his accomplishments. His profound knowledge of human nature in turn made him most humane, and his kindness was as marked as, when occasion demanded, was his sternness.

He never took—he gave. He gave to us a rich heritage, an example of what a man should be and of the meaning and worth of faith and patience and courage and justice and loving kindness.

It was his faith and courage and patience that made it possible for government "of the people, by the people and for the people" to endure, and not to "perish from the earth."

This man, for whom the whole world mourned, this giant who greater stature has attained since murder laid him low, still lives within the hearts of men, still calls from us for more of his faith and deep humility and honor too, and courage high and true simplicity.

And now from where he is, that love of man must bring the tears of sorrow to his eyes and bow his head with pain.

It breaks his heart that kings must murder still

That all his hours of travail here for men

Seem yet in vain. And who will bring white peace

That he may sleep upon his hill again.

therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it pause in the work of this session held during another period when war again stalks the earth and the sick world cries for peace to pay homage to the man who, bowed down with the bitterness and the folly and the pain of civil strife, carried on with rare courage and ability; to commemorate the birthday of that prairie lawyer who rose to the Presidency and achieved an exalted place in the literary world; and to honor the man, the soldier, the statesman and the scholar whose life and achievements furnish the best example of what a man can be and what an American can become through our way of life.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Frost, for reading the resolution.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 113, Printer's No. 18, was passed over at the request of Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 73, as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three (Appropriations Acts page fifty-nine) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three" providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 1 The following sums or as much thereof as may be necessary for deficiencies in certain appropriations made to the Department of Public Instruction by the act to which this is a supplement are hereby appropriated to that department as follows

To the Department of Public Instruction

For the payment of the deficiency in the appropriation for reimbursing school districts upon the increases in salaries of school teachers as provided in legislation enacted by the General Assembly session of one thousand nine hundred and forty-three the sum of two million, four hundred forty-two thousand dollars ($2,442,000)

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we have here in this bill another one of the patchwork efforts to which this House has been addicted in its treatment of this particular problem—proper salaries for teachers. If I were to offer an amendment to this bill I would be accused of simply making a political gesture.

Mr. Speaker, I don't know but that some consideration should be given to the gentlemen who prefer to hear what they are saying rather than to hear what I am saying. However, I repeat that this bill is another one of our continued patchwork efforts, and indeed it is a patch upon a patch because the original measure appropriated funds to pay the difference between what the teachers were getting and what some people thought they were getting. That measure was a patch. I am simply calling your attention to the fact that those on this side of the House labored diligently to impress you with the fact that the original appropriation was too low to begin with.

Then as I recall your history, the Governor reduced the appropriation as passed by the House, which as I say was injudicious, and so because of that we have this bill making a deficiency appropriation. All that I have in mind is to say that I hope this is the last bit of patch work we will be asked to do. I am sure that not even the sponsor of this bill would say that this patch or the original patch measured up to the needs of the teachers as mirrored by the increased cost of living, and I am sure that no one on the other side of the House would say that the teachers are getting the amount they should be getting even when they get this final patch, this bit of deficiency legislation.

I say, Mr. Speaker, there is nothing left for us to do on this side of the House except to go along and help you with the patches, but I do repeat that I hope there will originate on the other side of the House a disposition to bring out a program that will face the teachers' salary problem fairly and the school problem fairly and will give something that will do away with any patch work system. We have been placing pans of water on the floor instead of patching the roof as far as our school problems are concerned.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, if this bill represents patch work and a blow-out, there is a blow-out on both sides of the House, because the gentlemen on the other side of the House joined the gentlemen on this side of the House in unanimously passing House Bill 816 two years ago. It represented what we thought, and carried what we thought was an appropriation large enough to meet the demands upon the structure of that bill. It so happens that we in the House underestimated the cost of the measure. The original appropriation called for twenty-four million three hundred thousand dollars, and the final accounting of the bill shows that twenty-seven million dollars will be necessary to cover the tenure of the measure. To that extent we are now appropriating, in keeping good faith with the teachers of this State, the deficiency required to cover the cost of the bill.

House Bill 816 was passed in this House by both sides of the House two years ago, and as I said at that time what we estimated would be necessary to cover the tenure, and we kept faith with the teachers by amending the deficiency, as the Minority Leader says, by patching up the blow-out to which we both subscribed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire the privilege of interrogating the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, were there not intimations and arguments and even figures produced to substantiate the view that even the twenty-seven million would not be a big enough patch?

Mr. HARE. On this particular measure, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ANDREWS. On this particular measure.

Mr. HARE. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Well, Mr. Speaker, I will not argue that if that is the case, because I was not in the House.

My information on this side of the House was there were amendments offered and arguments made to the effect that even twenty-seven million was not enough.

Mr. HARE. Amendments were made, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Were those amendments designed to increase the amount of the appropriation?

Mr. HARE. To the best of my knowledge, in several instances amendments were offered with greatly varying figures.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, might I ask the gentleman from Somerset whether in his opinion twenty-seven million actually met the needs of the teachers as they expressed it formally to overcome the high cost of living? Does he now consider or did he then consider twenty-seven million dollars sufficient?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, the will of the Legislature said that twenty-seven million dollars was enough for House Bill 816.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps we should review a little bit of the past history. It seems someone has to take the blame for something. The Members who were here in the last Session will remember when this legislation rose we had intended asking a great deal more than the twenty-seven million dollars that was finally agreed on. The House on this side finally took the twenty-seven million because that was the most we could get; they were not giving any more on the other side because the Budget Director said that was all that we had and there wasn't any more to get; we had spent all we could. When the bill went to the Governor, if my memory serves me correctly, on the advice of the Budget Director the Governor cut some two million dollars, thereby reducing the amount to twenty-four million, three hundred thousand dollars, so we had to have this deficiency, which we do have, and we have to have this patch.

I am reminded a bit of a story, Mr. Speaker, about a patch on a patch. It seems the Republican party is taking the position that these two patches will have to do, that these two patches are up to par. I am reminded of an instance in Criminal Court in Philadelphia some years ago when one of our most brilliant criminal lawyers, one of the most brilliant who ever practiced in any court in Pennsylvania, the old famous Chippy Patterson, appeared to argue a question before one of our Philadelphia judges. Chippy was, as many of you know, unkempt, he never dressed well but he had the most brilliant mind at the Philadelphia bar at least. He continued to argue the question and confounded the judge and the District Attorney with the brilliance of his argument. At the end of the argument the Judge having nothing else to say said "I see, Mr. Paterson, you are wearing a clean shirt this morning." To which Chippy replied, as he lifted his jacket and walked away from the bar of the court and revealed two patches, which was par, and said, "Yes, Your Honor, but I am making it up this way."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 167, as follows:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 340) entitled "An act empowering cities of the third class boroughs incorporated towns and townships to cooperate with each other through joint agreements in the exercise of their governmental powers duties and functions relating to the public health recreation zoning and municipal planning" authorizing employing retaining and contracting for planning engineers consultants and professional planning services

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 340) entitled "An act empowering cities of the third class boroughs incorporated towns and townships to cooperate with each other through joint agreements in the exercise of their governmental powers duties and functions relating to the public health recreation zoning and municipal planning" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Every such agreement shall set forth inter alia the particulars relating to the manner of cooperation the means by and through which such cooperation shall be effectuated including if any the employment of joint personnel the employment and retaining of planning engineers or consultants the contracting for professional planning services and the purchase of personal property and materials for the joint use of the municipalities the allocation of the costs and expenses connected with the administration of the joint agreement upon an equitable basis the terms for which the agreement shall be in force and the manner in which the same may be renewed for another term and the manner in which joint property shall be disposed of or shared upon the termination of the agreement Amendments to any agreement shall be adopted in the same manner as the original agreement

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGES

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 12, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 19, 1945, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 19, 1945, at nine o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 56.

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eighth day of April, one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight (P. L. 73), entitled "An act to authorize the recorder of deeds in the several counties of this Commonwealth to record the discharges of all honorably discharged officers and soldiers," by extending the provisions of said act to all persons honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States or from any women's organization officially connected therewith.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 30.

An Act to further amend section seven of the act, approved the fifth day of January, one thousand nine hundred thirty-four, (1933-34 P. L. 223), entitled "An act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War, the war between the United States and Spain, the China Relief Expedition, or in the Philippines or Guam; providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who, because of death or incapacity, cannot personally receive compensation; imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General; making an appropriation; and repealing inconsistent legislation; and providing penalties," extending the time during which application may be filed for veterans' compensation.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment. The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 13, by striking out after the word "the" the word "ninth" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "nineteenth".

On the question,
Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, From the newspapers during the last few weeks, it appears that there is a well-oiled, but ill-advised, movement under foot to sabotage Governor Martin's program for the conservation of the natural resources of Pennsylvania. It is freely reported that a lobby has been formed to block the passage of the Brunner Bill (House Bill No. 1) the purpose of which, as I believe most of you know, is simply to amend the State's present stream pollution act to make unlawful the promiscuous discharge of dirt and debris from coal mining operations into the streams of the Commonwealth.

There is a lot of loose thinking and fast talking going on in connection with the subject which needs clarification. As one who has been taking a part for many years in the fight for conservation, and in particular the effort to clean our streams, I think I can throw some light on the picture.

Let us first look at the problem from the broad, overall point of view.

Our first job today, as everyone will agree, is to exert our best efforts to win the wars and the peace to follow. But, second only to this objective is the necessity of developing and carrying out practical programs for the advantageous development and conservation of our resources, both natural and human, and for the benefit of both our present generation and those to follow. The solution of almost every other problem of our civilization depends on the fulfillment of this task.

It is a duty and responsibility which we must meet squarely and solve sensibly. I would urge any of you who might still be living in by-gone days and think that this is not so, to awaken and read the signs of the day. The people in this Nation, the people in this Commonwealth, are pointing the way for us. They are demanding with ever increasing vehemence that government must provide and carry out programs for their general welfare.

The people are not concerned whether the federal or state level of government looks after their interests. Results are what the people are after. They no longer will tolerate hopes and promises. Action is what they want.

Make no mistake about it, the job is going to be done. You have no choice about that. But you do have a choice as to whether it will be done by the people of Pennsylvania or by the central government in Washington. To me—that choice is all important. If the trend be toward centralization and this is carried into many other fields of governmental activities, it may mean the difference between the type of republican government of states conceived by our founding fathers or a centralized totalitarian government. The first alternative, as we all know, has been eminently successful; the second, whenever practiced, has in the end always proved disastrous.

The danger of federal usurpation of state powers is, of course, greatest in watershed regions which extend into more than one state. It was partly for this reason, that Pennsylvania in 1936 joined with states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware in creating the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, on which I have had the honor of serving as chairman for the last seven years. To this interstate agency the four supporting states have delegated the responsibility of formulating programs for the wise development of the resources of the Delaware watershed. Its primary function is to envision the entire water region as a unit and from this point of view, to promulgate a single unified plan in which all of the component projects for the utilization and conservation of natural resources and for the betterment of human equities will be properly evaluated, adjusted and carried out.

During its few years of existence this Commission has been successful in developing practical programs mutually acceptable to its four supporting state governments for the control of pollution in the interstate Delaware River and its tributaries in each of the four states; for the equitable sharing of the waters of the Delaware River system for municipal water supply; for the general overall physical development of the region; for the postwar construction of public works improvements; and for other related purposes.

While each of these items is vitally important, in addition, last year, the Commission performed a special service in behalf not only of the states it is serving, but the entire nation as well, the significance of which is tremendous.

In cooperation with representatives of water resources, agencies from twenty-five other states, the Commission conducted a successful campaign to have the Congress with the President's approval bring the states' governments, by law, into partnership with the federal government in the planning of federal navigation and flood control projects.

To those of you who do not understand the significance of this attainment, I should explain that the effect of a United States Supreme Court decision in the New River Case, decided in 1940, was to make every little watercourse a navigable waterway regardless of its factual status of navigability, and therefore under the complete control of Congress. By this ruling the states could be left entirely out of the picture, their wishes completely ignored and the relationships between the Federal and State governments which had existed since the formation of the Union, utterly destroyed.

The ruling was eagerly seized upon by the advocates of centralization. When the new omnibus flood control bill was first introduced in Congress early last year it was filled with projects, including several in Pennsylvania, which would have been ruinous to the regions affected.

Fortunately, through the intervention of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, such projects were stricken from the bill. Moreover, before the bill was approved by Congress and signed by the President, it contained an amendment by which states' interests are properly respected and protected.

From now on, under the new Congressional Policy, the states will have an opportunity to participate with the Federal Government in formulating navigation and flood control programs in which they have an interest.

The advocates of centralization of control and planning for our river basins have renewed their efforts to blanket the country with Federal regional authorities patterned after the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The chief argument in favor of Federal Authorities is that the states have not or will not meet their responsibilities towards the development of these basins and the protection and conservation of water resources. Therefore if the states wish to retain control in the development of their rivers they must assume the responsibilities involved. This is not so much a question of states rights as a question of state responsibilities. Such procedure is true expression of democracy in that the programs will stem from the grass roots, not from Washington, and will have the participation of the people within the basin.

But people are getting impatient. They are not going to be stalled much longer. If Harrisburg and other state capitols do not act, they will take their problems to Washington where they will be gleefully received.

This brings me to the legislation which is now before this body for consideration during this session.

One of the most important jobs to be done is the clearing of pollution from the Delaware River. A number of agencies including state agencies have been driving toward this goal for some time. It was the first project on the list of the Delaware Basin Commission. We are certain that in a few paces we will be over the hill, and that the end of the war will see the necessary treatment works on their way.

In connection with the Delaware River Program, there is still one piece of legislation which has not been introduced as yet, but which is an essential in our program. That pertains to the reciprocal legislation between New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania setting forth provisions for the maintenance of certain standards of quality of the waters of the Delaware River system. The other three states have passed the legislation. Pennsylvania has lagged behind. We trust that in this session we may do our full share.

Of no less importance is the restoration of the Schuylkill River. There is no need to argue the necessity for the carrying out of the Incodel program which was approved by the State Postwar Planning Commission and by Governor Martin. This calls for the prevention of the dumping of silt into the river by the coal mines. This will be secured by the adoption of the Brunner Bill.

According to the newspaper reports, the coal companies are raising a "hue and cry" and spreading the word that the administration of the Brunner Bill will put the coal industry out of business. No contention could be more ludicrous. Anyone with an ounce of common sense knows that no administration of Pennsylvania, present or future, would administer its stream pollution legislation in such a way as to put an unreasonable burden on the coal industries.

Until recently, the coal industry indicated a willingness to meet its responsibilities in solving the silt problem. However, since the introduction of the Brunner Bill, for some unknown reason, spokesmen for the industry are reversing themselves. They are not only raising opposition by those engaged in the industry, but are apparently trying to set up a "boogey man" in the cities and boroughs of the state by claiming that the execution of the Governor's program would bankrupt them. Nothing could be further from the truth.

We have now had a number of years of experience in Pennsylvania in financing sewage systems and treatment works by the creation of municipal authorities. These authorities finance the construction and amortize their bonds by the collection of rentals from the users. Certainly no one can claim that the individual citizen should not pay the cost of the removal of sewage. He has no right to dump it into the streams and thus on to his neighbors.

Such municipal authorities do not create any tax burden upon the municipalities nor do they add to its indebtedness.

The Governor recognizing this situation urged, in his program, the use of such authorities if the municipalities did not have, the means, nor did not care to finance through general taxation. There is no more reason why the collection and disposal of "used" water should not be provided for and financed on a basis similar to the methods used for providing water and other municipal utilities.

To create a cloud of confusion, the opponents to a sensible stream pollution program, and in particular to the program in the Schuylkill and Delaware Rivers, are saying that Philadelphia might better abandon its present sources of water supply and go to the Pocono Mountains for a new one. The effect of this is to say that Philadelphia and other municipalities should spend hundreds of millions of dollars to reach a new supply so that the person who is creating the condition may be saved the responsibility of meeting his own obligations.

Of equal importance with the Delaware, Schuylkill and Lehigh Rivers, the latter of which I have not before mentioned, is the necessity for a clean up of the Ohio River on the western end of our state.

For a number of years efforts have been made to get Pennsylvania to become a member of the Ohio Basin Compact, joining with a number of other states in a program to clean up that river. No one familiar with the subject fails to realize the merit in what I have already said, namely that if the states fail to do their duty, the Federal Government is going to step in and take over the control. True Pennsylvania will have to meet a heavy burden. But there is no question in my mind that the amount to be expended is insignificant, compared to the disadvantage that will accrue under Federal control and perhaps the creation of a Federal authority in the Ohio Basin.

Stream pollution is a serious detriment to industries as well as to our municipalities that are dependent upon our rivers for their water supplies. Too often the members of the legislature and our citizens look upon an anti stream pollution program as a Utopian idea put forward by men who are more concerned with the outdoors and sportsmen activities than they are with the practical problems of every day life. I am confident that conclusive evidence could be presented in support of the need of industry, as well as the healthful and cultural necessity, for the clearance of our streams.

We will be fighting in Pennsylvania for all of the business and industry that we can secure in order that we may create and maintain jobs for our people after the war. If the goal be forty-five or sixty million jobs, the competition in industry will be terrific to maintain this employment. Industry needs a good water supply. Competition will be great to interest people to make their homes in the states where industry is located. Industry will locate where the labor market is plentiful. The workers also want good water and healthful living conditions. Therefore, industry and labor are a related problem. In this, water is a vital factor.

Certainly those who are presenting their objections to the Governor's Stream Pollution abatement and conservation programs are hastening their own day of reckoning if they do not discontinue their short sighted tactics.

We cannot, and we must not have slackers in the war against pollution. Slackers in the war against the further waste and destruction of the state's natural resources are not only aiding and abetting in the destruction of a sound economy in the Commonwealth upon which the happiness and prosperity of our people depends, but are just as surely promoting the trend towards centralized Government and thus rendering assistance to those who desire a totalitarian government in America.

Let us then urge the opponents to reverse this attitude and to try to find an affirmative and cooperative basis for the solution of these problems. Let us not be swayed by specious argument nor deflected from our goal by artificial fog banks created by the spokesmen for selfish interests.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. SCANLON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution and ask unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to have the resolution read? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution will lie over for printing under the Rules.

Mr. NAGEL offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. POWERS offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MODELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was quite pleased to hear the remarks of my friend and colleague, Mr. Turner, because it was one of the few occasions upon which we saw eye to eye on legislation and on which I wholeheartedly agree with him, especially with reference to House Bill No. 1 known as the Brunner Bill, which legislation I had the pleasure of introducing into this House for the last few sessions, but unfortunately without results.

I have co-sponsored and introduced with my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Hering, a bill wherein it is sought to obtain an appropriation for the State Sanitary Water Board in the sum of $10,000,000.00 for the purpose of removing silt from the bed of the Schuylkill River.

It is not our purpose to discuss the merits of the bill at this time, but it is our intention to bring to the attention of the members of the State House of Representatives and to the people of the Commonwealth the fact that they now have the opportunity through this bill to serve all of the citizens of the Commonwealth; to correct a desperate need of the Commonwealth in the clearance of its streams of thirty million tons of coal silt and other debris; to prepare themselves to defend the Constitutional rights of this Commonwealth against private and selfish interests; and to bring clean and unpolluted waters once more to the Schuylkill River and its tributaries.

It is our hope that this bill will be favorably considered and reported to the floor of the House for immediate action, especially because of the ever-present danger of Spring flash floods, which may well be expected, thereby disrupting war plants and the most important Philadelphia Navy Yard located in the lower Schuylkill River.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 30.

An Act to further amend section seven of the act approved the fifth day of January, one thousand nine hundred thirty-four (1933-34 P. L. 223), entitled "An act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War, the war between the United States and Spain, the China Relief Expedition, or in the Philippines or Guam; providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who, because of death or incapacity, cannot personally receive compensation; imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General; making an appropriation; and repealing inconsistent legislation; and providing penalties," extending the time during which application may be filed for veterans' compensation.

HOUSE BILL No. 56.

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eighth day of April, one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight (P. L. 73), entitled "An act to authorize the recorder of deeds in the several counties of this Commonwealth to record the discharges of all honorably discharged officers and soldiers," by extending the provisions of said act to all persons honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States or from any women's organization officially connected therewith.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 13, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

God the omnipotent, eternal and unchangeable, our Father, whose love has no limit, reverently may we approach Thee in Thine appointed way, and pray to Thee in sincerity and in truth, believing. Otherwise we are going through a mere form, without honor to Thee and of no benefit to ourselves. If we believe, all things are possible. Our fathers had such faith and accomplished what was thought to be impossible in the founding and the preserving of our nation.

May we, while rejoicing in their accomplishments, neither minimize nor forget their faith. Rather may we reproduce it in our day. Only by so doing can we obtain similar results. Such faith results in righteousness, which if we have, has God's guaranty that all needed things will be added to us. So, O God, may we as a people, as a nation, walk in the paths of righteousness, for those paths, and they alone, lead to prosperity and true happiness.

We pray for all in authority, religious, civil and military. May the spirit of righteousness inspire them. In the name of Him who is the way, the truth and the life. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SCARLETT, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. JAMES.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, five minutes ago I was handed two newspapers. The contents of these newspapers are so important that I believe the Senate ought to be informed. First was a copy of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, dated February 13, 1945, which contains a picture of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, Governor Edward Martin. The headline says: "Martin Says Roosevelt Now Admits Atlantic Charter Was Publicity Stunt." I would like to read from that newspaper the following paragraphs, and I am quoting from that newspaper, which itself quotes the Governor:

"We thought until a few weeks ago that President Roosevelt had avoided the mistake of President Wilson," Governor Martin declared. "We were led to believe he had, in advance, the signatures of our foreign allies on a definite agreement of postwar peace aims. We were told that that ghostly document, the Atlantic Charter was in fact a binding commitment which would prevent England, Russia and America from drifting into postwar quarrels over power politics."

"Now the President smilingly reveals that the Atlantic Charter does not and never did exist," Governor Martin continued, "that it was a myth; that it was never anything more than random notes on a sheet of paper and was in fact nothing more than a "publicity stunt."

"We lost the peace after World War I," Governor Martin declared, "because of secrecy, misunderstanding and international bickering," and he asked; "Must we lose it again?"

"Republicans," he said, "favor spending every dollar needed to win the war, but demand vigorous retrenchment in all activities and money spending unrelated to the war."

Now I would like to read from another newspaper—This is The Philadelphia Inquirer. The headlines across the top state: "Big Three Agree on Post-War Europe, Doom German Militarism Forever," "Parley April 25 in U. S. to Plan Enduring Peace."

"The Big Three of the United Nations have agreed on plans and terms for unconditional surrender to be enforced on Germany and have served notice on the German people that continuance of 'hopeless resistance' would only increase the costs of defeat.

"A White House announcement late today gave the official results of the eight-day meeting of President

Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Premier Josef Stalin near Yalta in the Crimea, and revealed the Allied war leaders had reached agreement on the following points:

"1. Full understanding among the United States, Britain and Russia on military plans against Germany which 'will result in shortening the war'.

"2. Joint military occupation of the Reich following the collapse of German resistance, with each of the three Powers occupying separate agreed zones, the occupation to be co-ordinated through a Central Control Commission with headquarters in Berlin. France will be invited to share in the occupation and if she accepts will be assigned a zone. German militarism is to be destroyed. All German armed forces are to be disarmed and disbanded, all German military equipment removed or destroyed, all German military production eliminated and the German General Staff broken up 'for all time'.

"3. The collection from Germany of compensation 'in kind' for damage done in occupied nations, this provision to be enforced through a commission with headquarters in Moscow.

"4. Establishment 'at the earliest possible moment' of a general international organization to maintain peace and security, and as a step toward that end the convening of a United Nations conference in San Francisco on April 25 to prepare the charter for the organization along the lines of the informal Dumbarton Oaks agreement. France and China will be invited to join with the United States, Russia and Britain in sponsoring this meeting.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate of Pennsylvania, we are on the threshold of victory, yes, but there are long and bitter days ahead of us yet. I think that the statement of the Governor last night came at a very bad time, it was ill-timed and ill-advised. To try to create the impression among the people of Pennsylvania, that the President of the United States has pulled a hoax upon the peoples of the world in conjunction with Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin, is a bitter and crude joke to pull upon the American people at this time.

Much blood has been spilled, many lives have been lost, because the peoples of all the world have an enduring faith in the honesty and integrity of the United States of America as it is represented by its Chief Executive.

There is no proof, not one iota of truth, in the statement made by the Governor last night in Pittsburgh. I say that political bickerings at this time are out of place. We have tried on this side of the Senate, since the beginning of this Session, to refrain from political arguments as much as possible. We have tried to work with the Governor on non-partisan issues; we have tried to cooperate in the spirit that the primary interest of all the American people at this time was to win the war and then to secure the peace.

But you can not win wars and secure peace when you go out and tell deliberate lies to the people of the United States through the medium of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I say to the members of this Senate that was a disgraceful episode last night, when this man laid at the door of the President of the United States a deliberate lie, because the truth of the statement as made by the President back at the signing of the Atlantic Charter was borne out by the results of the eight day conference held in Europe lately.

What we have tried to do, the hope we have held out to the entire world, is the hope for peace and freedom, from want, freedom from religious persecution, freedom from fear, the Four Freedoms of the Atlantic Charter, which have been heralded all over the world as a new Magna Charta for the enslaved people of all the world.

I say to the members of this Senate at this time that the Chief Executive of the State of Pennsylvania ought to be given a copy of the late news flashes.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I intend to read in place and present to the Chair a resolution and a bill, but before doing so I ask unanimous consent to make a medium length statement concerning them.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, yesterday, by appropriate exercise, we commemorated the memory of Abraham Lincoln. By able oratory we were reminded of his philosophies of humanity and civilization and government, and we were reminded of his memorable words that government should be of the people and by the people and for the people, and whereas we are prone to call him President Lincoln, Honest Abe, and other affectionate terms, it seems to me were he to come back into Pennsylvania today we would have to call him Ambling Abe, because he would amble the length and breadth of our Commonwealth in search of a government that was of the people, by the people and for the people, and his conclusion after ambling would be that our government was not such a government but rather our government was for political parties and our government was for political bosses but our government was not for the people.

The reason for that, members of the Senate—and I do not have to enlarge upon it more than to call it to your attention—is that our government has mushroomed and has been pyramided by political patronage, by the curse of adding divisions on to departments and bureaus on to divisions and commissions on to bureaus.

When Governor Bricker of Ohio campaigned during the past two years, he devoted almost all his entire ability and time and energy to an attack on the Federal Government because of its bureaucracy. I would like Governor Bricker to come into Pennsylvania and make an analysis of our government and what we have done over the past decade.

It seems to me the only cure for that never-ending growth of government is a state-wide civil service, a civil service, if you please, which would be controlled by constitutional amendment so that successive administrations of state government could not by acts of Legislature repeal those statutes.

I have therefore prepared a constitutional amendment providing for state-wide civil service but, recognizing that such a resolution could not be made effective for a long while, I have also prepared a bill to enact an interim state-wide civil service by statute.

This question of state-wide civil service is not a party issue. When I announced to some of my intimate friends, on both sides of this chamber, my intention to introduce such a resolution and bill, the majority members said to me, "Why, that is a terrible thing, that would remove all our political patronage and our party can not exist without patronage." My colleagues on the minority side said, "Do not do such a thing as that; if you do the Republicans will make all the appointments and when the Democrats go back into power there will be nothing left for them."

But I want to point out to the members of the Senate that some of our leaders, some of our men of vision in this Senate, have already gone on record as favoring civil service. In my examination of the record during the past ten or so years of legislation I found a list of names—and I will read them alphabetically so that I do not curry favor or gain the animosity of any of my friends—I find such names as Senators Cox, Crider, Farrell, Geltz, Jaspán, Ruth, Tallman, Taylor, Walker and Woodward interested in certain bills, all pertaining to civil service in the State of Pennsylvania. So, Mr. President, from an examination of that list of names, we find that government civil service is not a party question.

Neither is it a new question in the state government in Pennsylvania. Presently four of the major departments in Pennsylvania have civil service within their halls, the Department of Health, the Department of Labor and Industry—in the division of Unemployment Compensation—the Liquor Control Board and the Department of Public Assistance, they all have civil service, and from my inquiries among the personnel and the leaders of those four departments, there is no criticism and no opposition to civil service, as it is being employed, so that this resolution and this bill is merely an extension of what we already have tried out and found to be an excellent remedy for this pyramiding of government in our state.

Civil service is not new in the Legislature of Pennsylvania. Since the Session of 1931—and confining my remarks to regular sessions since that date—I find that there were at least 88 bills pertaining to civil service introduced into the Legislature of Pennsylvania. True it is that of that number 68 bills suffered painless death in committee, in the so-called pickling vat. Some of the bills, however, did pass and we have them enacted into law in four departments.

Civil service is not new in the United States and I think it may be of some interest to the members of this Senate to know that in 19 states there is presently state-wide civil service, working out well. The states of California, New York, Ohio, Colorado, have state wide civil service through constitutional amendment. The states which have civil service as enacted by statute are New Jersey, Michigan, Maine, Illinois, Minnesota, Alabama, Connecticut, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Virginia and Kansas.

I may say, talking about those states which already have it, and in which it is already working, I might add an analogy to the condition which exists in compensation for partial unemployment. Forty-six of the forty-eight states of the Union pay compensation benefits for partial unemployment.

Pennsylvania, although one of the leading states in the Union, is one of the two states which does not have partials in unemployment compensation and it seems to me we ought to learn our lesson from that, we ought to learn our lesson concerning civil service, that we do not have to wait to be the forty-eighth or forty-seventh state in all of these forward measures, but we ought to take the initiative and be a leader, we ought to be the first or second state but already nineteen states have state-wide civil service, whereas Pennsylvania does not.

Touching on the benefits of civil service very briefly, there is a benefit to employes and I may say that this resolution or this bill would affect, approximately 25,000 employes in the State of Pennsylvania. They would receive at this time and accept the benefit of security of position, security of employment. In this day and age and in this era of civilization, we acknowledge the need for security of employment. We are working to that end in many phases of government but for this larger corps of state workers we do not consider their security of employment, we make it possible that they can be removed without cause, depending on the vagaries of political campaigns and elections.

There would be a benefit to the Commonwealth, in that we would have better employes, we would have employes that are trained and will have accepted ability in their particular positions. We would have economy in government. The taxpayers would have a financial saving because, rather than bringing in untried and incapable employes we would have a continuing corps of tried workers, so that the taxpayers would receive financial benefit by the adoption of this resolution and bill.

I may say in that regard that the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce has unqualifiedly endorsed the move for state-wide civil service.

There would be benefit to the political parties, if you please—and I have to hesitate there to let that one sink in—because on first blush it would seem that to remove political patronage would be taking away some of the power from our two-party system, and from the two parties in that system, but that is not the case.

I have found out from experience and observation—and many of my colleagues will agree with me—that for every job of patronage that is handed out we make ten to fifty enemies and we make one ingrate, so that patronage by and large has a costly result to our present political system in Pennsylvania.

The two-party system, and each of the parties, would receive a real blessing if we would remove this patronage thing, by the adoption of civil service, so that the party workers could lend their zeal to the writing of the platforms of their respective parties, to the waging of the proper campaign for the illumination and education of the public, and forgetting the bugaboo of political patronage, which haunts every man in active politics.

Without further remarks, gentlemen, I read in place and present to the Chair a resolution and a bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am a little fearful about the earnest speech just delivered by the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Woodring, concerning civil service. However, while this bill is lingering in committee, I invite every Senator on this floor and every person within the sound of my voice to go into civil service offices here in the Capitol, and then go into offices where they do not have civil service, and see which is the most courteous and which gives the better service; if they do that I am sure they will find in the civil service offices people asleep—you have to crawl over a railing to wake them up.

And, Mr. President, when you go into offices in this Capitol where they do not have civil service they will rush to the railing and give you service.

You have an opportunity, while this bill is lingering in committee and being studied there, to study the effects of civil service right in this Capitol as compared with non-civil service in other offices.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WOODRING read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 331, entitled:

An Act creating a state civil service department to be administered by a director and civil service board empowered to make rules and regulations; providing for the classification of positions, compensation schedules, competitive entrance and promotional examinations, certifications and appointments, probationary service periods and rejections therein, for demotions, promotions, re-employments, suspensions, transfers, sick leave and vacations, for lay-offs when necessary according to seniority, for separation from the service by discharge for cause, for hearings and reinstatements, for establishing status of incumbent employees; prescribing penalties for violations, and repealing acts in conflict herewith.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 332, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section thirty-five.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Messrs. WALKER and DiSILVESTRO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 333, entitled:

An Act to further amend part of section four hundred thirty-nine of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," by changing the name of the veterans' grave registrar appointed by the county commissioners to the director of veterans affairs.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 334, entitled:

An Act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged and in certain cases for the widows, wives and children of such persons.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Messrs. WALKER and DiSILVESTRO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 335, entitled:

An Act to further amend part of section eight of the act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 326), entitled "An act relating to counties of the first class; defining deceased service persons; providing for contributions by the county to the funeral expenses for such persons and their widows; providing for the erection and care of markers, headstones, and flags, and for the compilation of war records," by changing the name of the veterans' grave registrar appointed by the county commissioners to the director of veterans affairs.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Messrs. WALKER and BOWERS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 336, entitled:

An Act to add section 1610.1 to the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general special or local or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," requiring and providing for the conduct of bible instruction in the public school.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty-six and thirty-five of the act approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 522), entitled as amended "An act relating to dogs, and the protection of live stock, poultry, and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs; providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture; providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors; regulating the keeping of dogs, and authorizing their destruction in certain cases; providing for the protection of licensed dogs, and for dogs temporarily imported for trial, show and breeding purposes; prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners; providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock, poultry, and game birds by dogs, and for live stock killed by or dying from, rabies, and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs, and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth; imposing powers and duties on certain State, county, city, borough, town, and township officers and employees, directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury; and providing penalties," providing for payment by the Commonwealth for the Pasteur treatment against rabies and further regulating the duties of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 338, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the American Oncologic Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 314, entitled:

An Act relating to officers and employees of the Senate and House of Representatives; providing for and fixing the compensation of an additional employee; changing the compensation of certain existing employees; and making an appropriation therefor and for contingent expenses.

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and secured unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have a resolution which I would like to present to the Chair. I had prepared four or five pages of explanatory, logical, remarks relative to this resolution. However, the hour is growing late and I do not believe the Senate wants to hear me any more today and, therefore, Mr. President, I ask permission to have my remarks included in the Legislative Journal, without being read.

EXTENDED REMARKS BY MR. DENT.

Mr. DENT. Before presenting the resolution which I have here for the consideration of the Senate, I wish to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the seriousness of the situation confronting, not only this state, but other states as well.

For many years, at least in the decade that I have represented Westmoreland County in the General Assembly, we have talked a great deal about "stream pollution." To a great many citizens, clean streams mean only good fishing; to me clean streams mean a great deal more; they mean a conservation for use of the greatest natural source in any nation.

In the midst of America's greatest war, the consequences of a century of mismanaged resources are leading to a crisis in the nation's water supply. Americans have suddenly and painfully become aware that warnings of a past generation of conservationists were not unfounded, that inexhaustible wealth in water is fast becoming a legend from the past rather than a present reality upon which to base future expectations.

Pollution, a long time national disgrace, has retarded the war effort in a score of ways. The interests of navigation, irrigation, water power, fisheries, recreation, and domestic water supply remain largely unreconciled although, as Theodore Roosevelt declared forty years ago:

"The conservation of our natural resources and their proper use constitute the fundamental problem which underlies almost every other problem of our National life. We must maintain for our civilization the adequate material basis without which that civilization cannot exist. We must show foresight, we must look ahead. As a nation we not only enjoy a wonderful measure of present prosperity but if this prosperity is used aright it is an earnest of future success such as no other nation will have. The reward of foresight for this Nation is great and easily foretold. But there must be the look ahead, there must be a realization of the fact that no waste, to destroy, our natural resources, to skim and exhaust the land instead of using it so as to increase its usefulness, will result in undermining in the days of our children the very prosperity which we ought by right to hand down to them amplified and developed."

In no single resource was primitive America richer than in her wealth in waters. Far-reaching seacoasts, vast river systems, great lakes and small, free-flowing springs, and a steady level of ground water provided transportation, water for domestic and industrial uses, abundant sea food and fresh water aquatic life, and untold wealth in the fur-bearers inhabiting the marshes and shores of inland waters. Throughout the great part of the continent water was superfluous. Draining was one of the great American public enterprises. But superabundance has now given place to a dearth of water over extended areas. Unforeseen consequences of accepted practices in water control have produced a water crisis which must be promptly met and properly resolved if the future well-being of the American people is to be protected.

In selecting as the number one problem before the people of Pennsylvania at this time, the Port of Philadelphia, I do so because I believe that the rehabilitation of the Port of Philadelphia is essential to the well-being, not only of the City of Philadelphia, or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but is necessary for the good health of the Nation as a whole.

For years I have heard of the terrible, the unbearable conditions in the City of Philadelphia, not only from a commercial viewpoint of the Port as such, but from the viewpoint of the life-sustaining waters consumed by the peoples of Philadelphia.

Those of us who live in pure water regions cannot appreciate the wealth that is ours, however, we intend to keep this wealth clean and wholesome and useful to and for our needs even if it means added taxes and burdens upon the present generation of Pennsylvanians.

We know that due to the war and the increased returns from taxes we have at hand a sizeable surplus in the General Fund.

Looking at the case of the Port of Philadelphia as a citizen of the United States and not as a resident of Pennsylvania, it seems to me that the Federal Government should be more than willing to contribute a sizeable share of the cost of the rehabilitation. We spend millions of dollars creating good roads in order that the movement of goods will not be hampered in any way. We know that the free movement is the basis of commercial and economic wealth.

The Port of Philadelphia is an open door to the sea lanes of the world and I can see in the future a greatly extended use of this Port. With our railroad facilities, our national highway starting from Philadelphia, the entire area of the United States is open for the movement of commerce and goods.

The problem is one that will entail a great expenditure of money, but if considered in the light of the future good that it will do, it will be cheap at any price.

We must have a starting point in our fight to stop pollution of streams. I state frankly that no new legislation is needed for this purpose; if we will apply the laws that we now have upon the statute books we will make great headway in this fight.

I know that the problems surrounding the industrial and domestic pollution of streams are many and complex. I know that if we suddenly attempt to stop domestic and industrial wastes from being dumped into our streams it would be a major blow to our community and industrial life. I am also aware of the danger inherent in a policy that puts off until tomorrow what must be done today.

The Commonwealth has never been in a better position financially to give its assistance to the industries and municipalities who, because of usage and customs, are at present victims of a century of mismanagement.

Unless we, as a group of responsible representatives have the courage to tackle this problem at this time, when the lean years come again, as they surely will, then those who follow us in the future can honestly say that we have failed in our duty.

Kenneth Reid, well known conservationist, in speaking on the theory of pollution said the following, and I quote:

"The genesis and the continual growth of pollution result from man's lack of appreciation of the interrelatedness of nature and, regrettably, often from selfish shortsightedness. Streams have been used by both municipalities and industry as an easy and convenient means for getting rid of wastes, without any thought of the biological values destroyed or for the dire effects of this pollution on downstream communities. In this process of 'passing the buck,' the Golden Rule has long been buried beneath the bosom of polluted waters.

The whole theory and practice of pollution is one evasion of responsibility. It involves also a flagrant disregard for the rights of others and is in every sense an improper and unsocial practice. If a man dumped his garbage on his neighbor's property, this neighbor would have unquestioned recourse under law, backed by unanimous public sentiment, but when he dumps his wastes into a running stream and lets the water deposit them on his neighbor's property the matter is frequently viewed in an entirely different light.

ATTACKING THE PROBLEM

The bulk of the work done on water pollution to date has been in refining the treatment processes of water supply plants so the ultimate product delivered to the consumer through the faucet will be a bacteriologically safe fluid. It is a wonderful tribute to our waterworks engineers and chemists that they have been able to refine their treatment processes, as the source of supply becomes more and more polluted, so that human being can consume the ultimate product and live to tell the tale. But the breaking point has been reached in numerous important cities—Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Louisville, to mention only a few—and there is a limit to which science can go in making drinking water out of raw sewage and industrial wastes. We have been treating pollution at the wrong end—at the intake of our water supply plants rather than at the outfall of the sewers. We need to reverse that process.”

This problem is too large and too important to become a subject for political bickering and political dealing. If we fail at this time to lend every effort to correct this dangerous situation, then Gentlemen of the Senate, we have wasted the one great opportunity presented to us in this generation to be of service to the children of tomorrow.

RESOLUTION

STUDY TO BE MADE OF THE PORT OF PHILADELPHIA

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government.

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 13, 1945.

Whereas, The Port of Philadelphia has in the past been a major port of entry and shipping center on the Atlantic Seaboard, and

Whereas, Due to the accumulation of refuse and waste, both industrial and domestic, the Port is threatened with the complete elimination of seagoing travel, and

Whereas, The wealth, growth and prosperity of the Port of Philadelphia is essential and necessary to the well being of the State and Nation as a whole, and

Whereas, The acuteness of the problem of the Port of Philadelphia is as important as any other problem relating to pollution in the State as a whole, and

Whereas, The magnitude of the job at hand and the importance of this job to the future precludes the possibility of any action by the City and County of Philadelphia, and or Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, The use of the Port of Philadelphia is not restricted to the citizens of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia, and therefore the aid and assistance of the Federal Government is necessary and essential, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That a Commission of twelve (12) members be created; four (4) members to be named by the President Pro Tempore, four (4) members named by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and four (4) members named by the Governor, whose duty it shall be to immediately make a complete study of the needs and requirements of the Port of Philadelphia, in conjunction with the proper agencies of the Federal Government, and be it further

Resolved, That an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be appropriated for this specific purpose.

CALENDAR

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice, procedure, regulations and adjudications of departments, departmental administrative boards and commissions, independent administrative boards and commissions, officers and other administrative agencies of this Commonwealth, and judicial review thereof; and preserving equitable jurisdiction in certain cases.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted “aye” the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 25, entitled:

An Act to amend the first paragraph, section one of the act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled, as amended, “An act to further amend the title, to reenact and further amend paragraph (e) of section one, and to further amend section thirty-nine of the act, approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 521) entitled, as amended ‘An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; defining and taxing transfers made in contemplation of death; and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth, or national banking association located therein, to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association, standing in the name of any such decedent, until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid; and providing penalties; and citing certain acts for repeal,’ by defining as a transfer and taxing the right of survivorship in property as to which such right exists; and providing for the extension of the Commonwealth’s lien on real property for a further period of time,” by exempting the estates of certain deceased service persons and veterans from the taxes herein imposed.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 2, next to the last line of title, by striking out the words "the estates of certain," and inserting in lieu thereof: "military pay due"; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 5, by striking out the words "where the entire," and inserting in lieu thereof: "upon that portion of the" Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 6, by inserting after the word "veteran": "which".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

An Act to reenact and amend the act approved the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 141) entitled "An act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties" extending the effective period thereof.

Section 1 The act approved the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 141) entitled "An act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sale and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties" is hereby reenacted and amended to read as follows

An Act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties

Whereas The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has heretofore made a legislative finding of fact that "milk is the most necessary human food vital for the promotion of the public's health and for development of strength and vigor in the race" and

Whereas Butter produced from pure unadulterated milk has a recognized food value unequalled by any imitation product made from other substances and

Whereas By the Act of May 23 1893 (P. L. 112) the use or purchase by or the sale to or the furnishing to the inmates of any charitable or penal institution in Pennsylvania of any article designed to take the place of butter produced from pure unadulterated milk or cream from the same or of any imitation or adulterated butter was prohibited and made unlawful and

Whereas Due to the present war effort and to the exportation of vast quantities of butter to our Allies there is a present shortage of butter and such charitable and penal institutions are presently unable to purchase adequate supplies of butter for the use of the inmates of such institutions and

Whereas It may become necessary for a limited period of time for such institutions to supplement the available supplies of butter through the purchase and use of imitation butter or oleomargarine

Section 1 The provisions of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 112) are hereby modified and suspended as follows

(1) Any charitable or penal institution shall not use or furnish to its inmates any imitation butter or oleomargarine when adequate quantities of butter are available or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets

(2) In the event adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets each such institution shall purchase all of the butter which is available or obtainable

(3) In the event of the rationing of butter as a part of the war effort any such institution shall purchase the full amount of butter apportioned to its inmates and to its employes residing within the institution

(4) In the event that adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets or through rationing any such institution may purchase sufficient quantities of imitation butter or oleomargarine to supplement the quantities of butter so available

(5) Each charitable or penal institution so purchasing imitation butter or oleomargarine shall keep full and accurate records of all purchases of imitation butter or oleomargarine showing the date and amount of such purchase the amount paid and the name and address of the person partnership or corporation from whom purchased. Such record shall be open to the inspection of the Secretary of Agriculture or his designated representative

(6) The Secretary of Agriculture from time to time and for such periods of time as he may determine may require any charitable or penal institution other than a State-owned and State operated institution to report within the period of thirty days from the date of his request the amount of such purchases the source of such purchases the date of purchase and the price paid together with information of the total quantity of butter purchased during the same periods

Section 2 Any persons knowingly violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisonment not exceeding two years for each offense or both at the discretion of the court

Section 3 This act is a temporary act and shall be effective only [for a period of two years after its enactment] until the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

An Act to amend the title and sections one and fourteen of the act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 239) entitled "An act providing for and defining the rights remedies duties and liabilities of purchasers of real estate at judicial sales and of their grantees heirs and devisees and of the persons then in possession thereof" extending the provisions of said act to purchasers of real estate at tax sales and their grantees heirs and devisees and persons then in possession thereof

Section 1 The title and sections one and fourteen of the act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 239) entitled "An act providing for and defining the rights remedies duties and liabilities of purchasers of real estate at judicial sales and of their grantees heirs and devisees and of the persons then in possession thereof" are hereby amended to read as follows

An Act providing for and defining the rights remedies duties and liabilities of purchasers of real estate at judicial sales and tax sales and of their grantees heirs and devisees and of the persons then in possession thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That purchasers at judicial sales of real estate and at sales held for the collection of unpaid taxes on real estate in this Commonwealth including any political subdivision and grantees heirs and devisees thereof after confirmation of such judicial sales where required and after the execution acknowledgment and delivery of the deeds therefor in the case of judicial sales and after the expiration of the period of redemption allowed by law in the case of tax sales may present a petition under oath or affirmation to the court out of which was issued the writ of execution or order by virtue of which said sale was had except in cases of testatum writs and tax sales and then to the court of common pleas of the county in which the land is situate setting forth

(a) A description of the real estate sold on averment of petitioner's title thereto with a specific reference to the proceedings under which such sale was had and if the petitioner be a grantee heir or devisee of such purchaser a statement of the method by which he derived title to such real estate

(b) That the persons in possession are the defendants or former owners as whose property such real estate was sold or that such named persons came into possession mediately or immediately through a right or title derived from such defendants or former owners or some of them in the manner set forth or an averment that the manner of their obtaining possession is unknown to petitioner

(c) If the persons in possession be other than the defendants in the execution or order of sale or other than the former owner of the property sold at a tax sale the petitioner's brief of title of said real estate commencing at a point covering the title if any by right of which the persons in possession claim to retain such possession

(d) That the persons in possession had notice of the title of petitioner and declined to deliver up possession of said real estate to petitioner or in the case of judicial sales if tenants for a term of years with a right of possession paramount to petitioner that they declined to execute a lease with petitioner for the balance of said term or to attorn in writing to petitioner on the terms and conditions of his letting with the previous owner or that petitioner believes that the lease or attornment respondent was willing to execute was not upon the same terms and conditions as his letting with the previous owner and praying that a citation issue to the persons in possession commanding them to appear and answer said petition and show cause if any they have why possession of such real estate should not be delivered to petitioner

Whereupon the court shall issue a citation as prayed for returnable at the expiration of fifteen days from the service thereof and of a copy of said petition or at such subsequent time not later than the next session of the court after the expiration of said fifteen days as the court shall direct

Section 14 The right of possession of a tenant for years shall not be deemed paramount to that of a purchaser at a tax sale The right of possession of a tenant for years shall be deemed paramount to that of a purchaser at a judicial sale if and only if the letting to him shall precede in point of date the entry of the judgment order or decree on which such sale was had and also shall precede the recording or registering of the mortgage deed or will if any through which by legal proceedings the purchaser derives title unless the letting is made with actual notice to such tenant of the contemplated entry of such judgment order or decree or of the fact of the execution of such mortgage deed or other instrument of writing and with intent to avoid the effect thereof

Section 2 All acts and part of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I have been asked to make a statement for the record with respect to this particular piece of legislation.

The purpose of this bill is to encourage bidding and at the same time enhance the prices to be received for real estate sold for taxes.

At present purchasers of real estate at tax sales must follow the cumbersome methods as provided in an action of ejectment in order to dispossess anyone who might be in possession of a property.

All that this particular piece of legislation does is to amend the Act of 1905, to follow the same procedure as is outlined in the sales of real estate at judicial sales.

I make these remarks simply so that they may appear on the record with regard to this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by providing that in certain cases when a candidate is in the armed forces of the United States an affidavit by certain members of his family or by a person holding a general power of attorney may be substituted for such candidate's affidavit required by said act to accompany his nomination petition or nomination papers

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 172, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing that any person who makes a gift in trust inter vivos or a gift under an insurance trust, may name the guardian of such gift for the beneficiaries when the appointment of a guardian for such beneficiaries is required by law

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 183, entitled:

An Act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, and eleventh sections were read and agreed to.

The twelfth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT. In offering amendments, Mr. President, I might say, for the information of the Senate, that the first of these amendments is to correct a misspelled word, the word "board", which is being corrected to the word "bond."

The other amendment erases an objection held by the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters in which he said that inspection within ninety days after completion of strip mining is physically impossible with the help he has at hand, and therefore he would like to have a year's time in which to do all the necessary inspecting.

Mr. DENT offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 12 (sec. 12), page 8, line 5, by striking out, after the word "within" and before the word "after" the words and figures, "ninety (90) days" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "one (1) year."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The thirteenth and fourteenth sections were read and agreed to.

The fifteenth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 15 (sec. 15), page 9, line 9, by striking out the word "board" at the end of the line and inserting in lieu thereof the word, "bond."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 183, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 202, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 192) entitled "An act authorizing women who have been divorced from the bonds of matrimony to retake and use their maiden names and making certified copies of their election evidence in all cases" providing that such women may take the surname they bore at the time of marriage dissolved by the divorce in certain cases

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 232, on second reading, entitled:

An Act requiring persons involved in civil or criminal investigations proceedings or trials in which the identity of a person is in issue to submit to serologic blood tests upon court order making the results of such tests admissible evidence in certain cases requiring the tests to be made by qualified physicians and providing that the refusal to submit to such tests shall be admissible in evidence

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 360, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand two hundred twenty-three to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 145), entitled "An act providing for and regulating the accumulation, investment and expenditure by counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships of funds for post war projects," extending the provisions of said act to school districts; and defining the term "post war period."

Referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. SCANLON, O'BRIEN, DILLON, COSTA and HERING. (Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of the General Assembly, February 7, 1945.

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever as a long-continued infection is potentially a source of medical-social problems; and

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever as a disease of childhood most frequently occurs in the early formative years and during adolescence when children normally experience their greatest problems in physical and psychic development; and

Whereas, the high incidence of rheumatic fever in the lower economic groups indicates that poor housing, overcrowding, exposure to infections and inadequate nutrition are important etiological factors; and

Whereas, in the United States generally and in Pennsylvania in particular, rheumatic fever is not a reportable disease and the magnitude of the problem as related to long periods of illness, chronic crippling, emotional and social upheaval, and economic distress can in no way be calculated by mortality statistics alone; and

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever today is one of the foremost health problems of childhood since between the ages of five and nine deaths from it are outnumbered only by those of the four principal communicable diseases of childhood, since between the ages of ten and fourteen it is the leading cause of death and since between fifteen and twenty-five it is second only to tuberculosis; and

Whereas, there is a growing realization that organized public awareness and efforts are necessary to combat rheumatic fever and that only State agencies can adequately cope with its ravages; and

Whereas, beginning with the years 1939 appropriations were authorized by Congress to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor and the latter has set aside some funds annually for the development of the State programs; and

Whereas, at present nineteen (19) State rheumatic programs have been approved by the Children's Bureau as follows: California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin and,

Whereas, the funds heretofore authorized by Congress for the combat of rheumatic fever are now nearly exhausted; and,

Whereas, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had not heretofore set up a rheumatic fever program of its own, or avail itself of Federal aid and the co-operation of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor; and,

Whereas, the rise of incidence of rheumatic fever in Pennsylvania calls for such immediate combative measures as a compulsory notification of all cases of acute rheumatism, chorea and rheumatic heart disease, diagnostic services, organization of hospital schools and cardio-rheumatic clinics as well as extension of convalescent care and after-care services;

Now Be It Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Public Health Committee of the Senate, the Public Health and Sanitation Committee of the House and the Secretary of Health forthwith jointly formulate an adequate rheumatic fever program for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and submit within thirty days from the passage hereof, recommendations to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for enactment of appropriate measures; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That the members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the United States Congress be memorialized to lend their efforts towards the enactment of a Federal appropriation of adequate appropriation of adequate funds for the further combat of the dreaded rheumatic fever disease.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Messrs. NAGEL and TURNER.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 20.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

Whereas, many employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and former and present members of the General Assembly have been inducted into the Armed Forces of the United States since April first, one thousand nine hundred forty; and

Whereas, many of these persons have died while serving with the Armed Forces; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Property and Supplies be instructed to publish in the Pennsylvania Manual for 1945, a roster and a short biographical note of each officer and employe of the Commonwealth and of each former and present member of the General Assembly who has died in the armed service during World War II; and to continue to publish such rosters and biographical notes in all future issues of the Pennsylvania Manual, with such additions as may from time to time become necessary.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. POWERS. HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 21.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

Whereas, Through the efforts of the Allegheny County Commissioners, there was constructed on the south bank or Pittsburgh side of the Allegheny River, between Eleventh Street, and the Point Bridge, an automobile highway and a flood prevention wall, which wall should prevent much property damage in case there is a flood of the Allegheny River.

The business people and the residents on the north bank or north side of the Allegheny River opposite this highway and wall have had an opportunity to both use the said highway and to see the advantage gained by the people of the district protected by the flood wall.

Many people in Pennsylvania, including quite a few legislators of this State, and many visitors from all over the United States, have seen this flood wall and are interested in the further construction of flood prevention walls in every flood district.

The business people and residents of the north bank or north side of the Allegheny River, are particularly interested in having duplicated on their shores from the end of the Eleventh Street Bridge to Manchester Bridge, the highway and flood wall construction of the south side of the Allegheny River, and therefore respectfully urge the County Commissioners of Allegheny County to include these improvements in their post-war program; now therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, mindful of the desirability of the construction of a highway and flood wall on the north side of the Allegheny River opposite the present highway and flood wall on the south side of said river, join the business people and residents of that district in urging the County Commissioners of Allegheny County to include in their post-war program, the construction of said highway and flood prevention wall.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

By Mr. WEISS. HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 22

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

Whereas, a large proportion of the people of this Commonwealth are now in the armed forces of the United States or in women's organizations officially connected therewith; and

Whereas, when these men and women are released from service, they will be faced with serious problems of readjustment in their social and economic lives; and

Whereas, if the veterans are not given aid to quickly readjust themselves to civilian life, social and economic confusion resulting in chaos may ensue; and

Whereas, there have been a great many bills introduced during the present session of the Legislature that indicate a desire to aid returning veterans; and

Whereas, the number of bills so introduced may deter rather than aid the veteran; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee to be composed of five members of the House of Representatives, for the purpose of studying the post-war problems of the returning veterans and to make recommendations as to legislation to aid such veterans in more quickly readjusting themselves to civilian life. Such committee shall report to the House of Representatives on or before March 15, 1945.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WEISS. HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 23.

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

Whereas, The man of tomorrow is the youth of today; and

Whereas, The laws governing juvenile delinquency frequently have been made independently of each other, thus causing difficulty in application, and inefficiency in operation; and

Whereas, The all-out prosecution of the present war has occasioned unprecedented social and economic changes in the lives and affairs of many minors;

Whereas, The necessity for successfully coping with these problems as they arise and frequently before they arise is made very difficult and sometimes impossible because of the state of the laws relating to juveniles; and

Whereas, The termination of the present war will raise many problems concerning juveniles that the present laws are inadequate to cope with; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint five members of the House to be a committee, whose duty shall be to study the entire question of juvenile delinquency with particular attention to post-war problems that may arise. The committee shall codify the existing law and make such recommendations as it shall think necessary. The committee shall make its report to the House on or before March 15, 1945.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 103

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydroelectricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, therefore, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and

Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Probert for Mr. CADWALADER for today's session.
Mr. Haberlen for Mr. LOVETT because of illness.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mr. LYONS reported from the Committee on Rules as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 108. The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the Senate, January 30, 1945.

Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purpose of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefor, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is now impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 148) entitled "An act regulating the issuance of marriage licenses prohibiting the issuance thereof to persons infected with syphilis in certain stages requiring each applicant to produce certain evidence of freedom from such disease imposing duties upon the Department of Health and the clerk of the orphans' court of the various counties and imposing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 No license to marry shall be issued until there shall be in the possession of the clerk of the orphans' court a statement or statements signed by a duly licensed physician of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or a Medical Officer of the United States Public Health Service or a Medical Officer of the United States Army or a Medical Officer of the United States Navy that each applicant within thirty days of the issuance of the marriage license has submitted to an examination to determine the existence or nonexistence of syphilis which examination has included a standard serological test or tests for syphilis and that in the opinion of the examining physician the applicant is not infected with syphilis or if so infected is not in a stage of that disease which is likely to become communicable. The physician's statement shall be accompanied by a statement from the person in charge of the laboratory making the test or from some other person authorized to make such statement setting forth the name of the test the date it was made the name and address of the physician to whom a report was sent and the exact name and address of the person whose blood was tested but not setting forth the result of the test.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 223, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" and known as The Fiscal Code by authorizing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to petition for a resettlement of claims against the Commonwealth by the Auditor General and State Treasurer and to petition for a review of settlements by the Board of Finance and Revenue and to appeal from the decisions of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County

Section 1 Section one thousand four of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1004 Set-offs in Settlement of Claims Against the Commonwealth It shall be the duty of the Auditor General and State Treasurer in the settlement of accounts of persons having claims against the Commonwealth to ascertain from the Department of Revenue whether such persons are indebted to the Commonwealth and if so to secure the amount so due or as much thereof as the claim of the Commonwealth may amount to as shown by the settlement made by the Department of Revenue Any person feeling himself aggrieved by the settlement made by the Auditor General and State Treasurer or by the settlement made by the Department of Revenue and deducted from his claim may proceed as in other cases to file a petition for resettlement a petition for review and an appeal but if he feels aggrieved both by the action of the Auditor General and State Treasurer and of the Department of Revenue his petition for review filed with the Board of Finance and Revenue and his appeal to the courts shall consolidate all questions which he desires to raise

In the event of the failure to deduct such indebtedness or any part thereof the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may file a petition for resettlement a petition for review of such settlement or resettlement by the Board of Finance and Revenue and an appeal from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County

Section 2 Section one thousand one hundred two of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1102 Petition for Resettlement within ninety (90) days after the date upon which the copy of any settlement was mailed to the party with whom or with which the settlement was made such party or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may file with the department which made it a petition for resettlement

Every petition for resettlement shall fully state the reasons which the petitioner believes entitle him or it to such resettlement

It shall be the duty of the department with which the petition was filed within six (6) months after the date of any settlement to dispose of any petition for resettlement

In the case of petitions for resettlement filed with the Department of Revenue the disposition of the petition shall be subject to the approval of the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and if the two departments shall be unable to agree the case shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue by the Department of Revenue The Board of Finance and Revenue shall decide every such case within three (3) months from the date of the submission thereof and in case of its failure to reach a decision within such period the disposition of the Department of Revenue shall automatically become valid and the Board of Finance and Revenue shall immediately return to the Department of Revenue all of the papers appertaining to the case

In the case of petitions for resettlement filed with the Department of the Auditor General the petition shall be disposed of by the joint action of that department and of the Treasury Department as in the case of original settlements

Notice of the action taken upon any petition for a resettlement shall be given to the petitioner promptly after the date of resettlement by the department with which the petition was filed

Section 3 Section one thousand one hundred three of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is further amended to read as follows

Section 1103 Petition to Board of Finance and Revenue for Review Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the Department of Revenue or of the Auditor General of the action taken on any petition for a resettlement filed with it the party with whom the settlement was made or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action

Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reasons upon which the petitioner relies The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof

The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

Section 4 Section one thousand one hundred four of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Courts Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) From the end of the ninety (90) day period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of the refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement. Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County. All such appeals shall be lodged with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and a conformed copy thereof indicating the date on which it was filed shall be forwarded immediately to the Department of Justice.

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement, resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within sixty (60) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be due by such party to the Commonwealth. The party appealing shall file with every such appeal an affidavit containing the specification of objections and stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief. If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers.

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo but no facts shall be admitted in evidence that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlement or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have laid such evidence before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided.

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases.

Section 5. This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall apply to all proceedings pending at the time of its final enactment as well as to proceedings begun thereafter.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Venango, Mr. McKinney.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McKINNEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman in what manner is the procedure for handling of claims before the Board of Finance and Revenue changed by this amendment?

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, it simply gives the Department of Justice the right to appeal.

Mr. COHEN. To the Dauphin County Court, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McKINNEY. To the Dauphin County Court.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does that take in all claims before the Board of Finance and Revenue?

Mr. McKINNEY. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that presently the taxpayer may only appeal to the Dauphin County Court?

Mr. McKINNEY. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire further whether or not the right to take an appeal by the taxpayer against the State in a claim against the State, does not by indirection permit the taxpayer to do what he is not permitted to do under the Constitution, that is to sue the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. McKINNEY. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not know that that would follow.

Mr. COHEN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 264, as follows:

An Act to amend section three and to further amend section twelve of the act approved the twentieth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1143) entitled "An act relating to free public nonsectarian libraries and branch libraries within this Commonwealth providing for their establishment maintenance and regulation and for the maintenance and regulation of such free public nonsectarian libraries as may have been already established by the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships and providing that all library property and all gifts devises grants or endowments for library purposes shall be exempt from taxation and providing that the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships may levy taxes condemn private property and borrow money for library purposes and imposing penalties for injuring library property and for violations of library regulations and repealing existing laws in relation to the above subjects" making more specific the power of the municipal authorities of counties cities boroughs towns and townships to appropriate moneys out of current revenues for library purposes without the levy of a special tax therefor and validating such appropriations heretofore made

Section 1 Section three of the act approved the twentieth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1143) entitled "An act relating to free public nonsectarian libraries and branch libraries within this Commonwealth providing for their establishment maintenance and regulation and for the maintenance and regulation of such free public nonsectarian libraries as may have been already established by the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships and providing that all library property and all gifts devises grants or endowments for library purposes shall be exempt from taxation and providing that the several counties cities boroughs towns and townships may levy taxes condemn private property and borrow money for library purposes and imposing penalties for injury library property and for violations of library regulations and repealing existing laws in relation to the above subjects" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 [Any] The municipal authorities of any municipality may make appropriations out of current revenue of the municipality or out of moneys raised by the levy of special taxes to establish or maintain or both a free public nonsectarian library for the use of the residents of such municipality. The appropriations for maintenance shall not exceed a sum equivalent to two mills on the dollar on all taxable property annually. Special taxes for these purposes may be levied on the taxable property of the municipality or the same may be levied and collected with the general taxes. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit appropriations made for library purposes to those made from special tax levies

Section 2 Section twelve of said act as amended by the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 724) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 12 (a) [Any] The municipal authorities of any municipality may make appropriations out of current revenue of the municipality or out of moneys raised by the levy of special taxes not to exceed a sum equivalent to two mills on the dollar annually on all taxable property in the municipality to maintain or aid in the maintenance of a free library established by deed gift testamentary provision or in any manner otherwise than under the provisions of sections three four and seven of this act. Provided That the municipal authorities shall be represented by at least two members of the board having control of the affairs of said library

(b) The municipal authorities may submit to the qualified electors of such municipality at any election general or special the question of maintaining or aiding in the maintenance of a library established as specified in clause (a) of this section and must submit such question if petitioned for by three per centum of the number of the voters at the last preceding general election. At such election the question of establishing an annual tax at a certain rate not exceeding two mills on the dollar on all taxable property of the municipality shall also be submitted and voted upon

(c) If the majority of votes cast upon this question shall be in favor of establishing such tax rate the municipal authorities at the first meeting following the official announcement of the result of such election shall take the necessary steps to levy and collect such tax and shall if the municipality be not already so represented upon the board of control of such library appoint at least two persons to represent the municipality upon such board the number to be determined by agreement with the other members of the board each person so appointed to serve for such term as may then be determined

(d) The rate of tax so voted shall be an annual tax rate until another vote is taken changing the same. Provided That the municipal authorities may increase said rate not to exceed two mills on the dollar in the aggregate on all taxable property of the municipality without submitting the question to a vote. The tax shall be levied and collected in like manner as other taxes in the municipality and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used for no other purpose than that of maintaining or aiding in the maintenance of a library established as specified in section twelve of this act

(e) Any election heretofore held and any tax heretofore levied by any municipality to maintain or aid in the maintenance of a library established as specified in clause (a) of this section are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid

(f) The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit appropriations made for library purposes to those made from special tax levies

Section 3 All appropriations heretofore made by the municipal authorities of any municipality out of current revenue of the municipality for any of the purposes specified in sections three or twelve of the act to which this is an amendment that in other respects comply with the provisions of said act as amended hereby are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 317, entitled:

An Act to amend Section One of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 403) entitled "An act relating to the form execution revocation and interpretation of will to nuncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to spendthrift trusts to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to the fees therefor" by authorizing members of or persons called for induction into the armed forces of the United States or of any allied or associated power who have attained the age of seventeen years to dispose of real and personal estate by will.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he will permit this bill to remain on the calendar for the purpose of having an amendment added which will not in any way detract from the purpose of the bill, but rather strengthen it, so as to better effectuate the purpose of the bill?

Mr. MAHANY. I will be very glad to accommodate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 317, Printer's No. 32, was passed over at the request of Mr. MAHANY.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 322, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 984) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others and to make uniform the law relating thereto" by authorizing conveyances from husband and wife as tenants by the entireties to either husband or wife alone

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 984) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others and to make uniform the law relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the third day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 273) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That a conveyance release or sale may be made to or by two or more persons acting jointly and one or more but less than all of these persons acting either by himself or themselves or with other persons and a contract may be made between such parties

This section shall be construed as authorizing a conveyance of an interest in real property by either husband or wife to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties and by husband and wife as tenants by the entireties to either husband or wife alone

Section 2 All conveyances heretofore made by any husband and wife as tenants by the entireties to either husband or wife alone are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid to the same extent as if they had been made after the effective date of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 338, Printer's No. 42, was passed over at the request of The SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 365, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further regulating elections during the time of the present War and for six months thereafter; authorizing and providing a procedure for the voting of qualified electors in actual military service as herein defined, who are absent from their place of residence while in, attached to, or serving with the armed forces of the United States; imposing additional duties upon the various county boards of elections and election officers; placing costs upon the Commonwealth; authorizing appropriations by counties and cities of the first class; further regulating the last day for filing nomination petitions and nomination papers; the withdrawal of nominated candidates; the payment of fees by persons nominated at primary elections; the filing of substitute nomination certificates to fill vacancies caused by the withdrawal of candidates and further regulating the date of the primary election.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. ANDREWS and COHEN. Mr. Speaker, we ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 10 (Sec. 1306), page 11, line 27, by inserting after the word "commissioned", the following: "or non-commissioned not below the rank of sergeant."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous to the offering of an amendment at this time. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, at the special session of 1944 after long hours of deliberation by a bipartisan committee, Pennsylvania enacted the most liberal soldier voting law in the country. At that time the act called for the execution of the jurat to be taken by a commissioned officer. This act provides—the act we are considering at this time, House Bill 365, that the affidavit on the jurat be taken by a commissioned officer or any other person authorized or designated to administer an oath.

The men on this side of the House have come through the election of 1944. There was a great deal of confusion in most of the counties in Pennsylvania as to the taking of affidavits by commissioned and non-commissioned officers. I believe in many cases an opinion of the solicitors of the county boards of election revealed that the Federal act provides for other persons designated to take oaths, individuals other than commissioned officers down to the rank of sergeant.

I want to point this out before the vote is taken on this amendment. We want in Pennsylvania to continue to have the most liberal GI voting bill in the nation, but I want to call attention of the Members on this side of the House particularly, and to all of you, that they in their respective counties have had experiences with the present GI voting bill and suggest to them that they be guided accordingly in voting for or against this amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, will agree with me that this suggested amendment is wholly without partisan implication or intent. We agree that Pennsylvania has one of the best GI ballot laws in the nation, a ballot law with which we have all had experience. Every county has had its own experience. The question as to whether only commissioned officers should certify to the jurat or whether non-commissioned officers not below the rank of sergeant should be permitted to certify, in our minds, is a purely practical question.

Experience has demonstrated that in many instances and in many localities there was not immediately available for the purposes of the soldier who wanted to vote a commissioned officer. There is many an isolated post at which there are Pennsylvania boys, and there is no commissioned officer there. There are many details and detachments that are commanded only by non-commissioned officers, and it is because we believe, on the basis of experience, that permitting non-commissioned officers not below the rank of sergeant to sign the jurat improves the functioning of the law and will enable more of our Pennsylvania boys actually to vote, that we have offered this amendment.

Now, we know at least in our county that in many instances the jurat was sworn before a non-commissioned officer, and we know that in many instances in many counties those in charge of the election; knowing the intent of the soldier, permitted the ballot to be counted even though the jurat or oath was taken before a non-commissioned officer, and so to bring the GI ballot law into keeping with the reality of the situation and with a view of permitting or making it possible for more of our boys to vote, we have presented this amendment.

Now, the facts of the negotiations leading up to the formulation of the present law are these: there was substantial agreement upon all points involved with the exception of this single matter, and because there was a disagreement it was decided and mutually agreed that this particular issue, this particular matter would be submitted to a broader body than the committee, a more authoritative body than the committee that was considering the law, none other than the membership of this House and of the Senate, and that is the reason I am presenting this amendment today to substantiate a view which I believe is in line with the realities and which will actually make a good law a better law.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk as a soldier who has slept in barracks, a soldier who has been in no-man's-land, and one that has has been out. I do not believe that there should be any of this voting taking place without a commissioned officer, because I definitely believe that at no time is there a soldier left alone without a commissioned officer for any definite length of time, and if he is at any time left without a commissioned officer he cannot vote because he is isolated by some enemy outfit.

I believe that anyone that has slept in a barracks, anyone that has been in any soldier encampment knows definitely what it is to try to vote different than what the top sergeant would call for. I, being a Member of this House, know definitely in some camps I was in I certainly would vote the way the top sergeant wanted me to vote in order to comfortably live in that barracks, and for that reason, I say we should vote down this amendment and see that there is a commissioned officer on that jurat on that ballot.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to everything the gentleman from Lehigh has just said. I just came back from overseas. I was flown back here so I could run for reelection to this House, and I can tell you this, that if the top sergeant doesn't have the right to take these affidavits it will be one of the few jobs to all intents and purposes that a top sergeant does not perform, because as Mr. Freed knows, every battery or company or anything else, is practically run by the top sergeant.

I happened to be in the capacity of a Red Cross officer over there, and there are a great many problems that the boys over there would bring to me or to the top sergeant, because they didn't want to bother the commissioned officer or the battery commander.

I say that this GI bill will be more favorable, will be a fairer bill if the top sergeant has an opportunity to take these affidavits, because he sort of acts, as the saying is, as the mother of these boys. He calls them in the morning and he does everything for them, and the boys are hesitant about going to their battery commander.

Another thing, there won't be any pressure on the boys as far as the sergeant is concerned to have the boys vote the way he wants them to if he knows that he is not allowed to put any pressure on, and surely the army will not get into politics and that is sure.

Mr. McDOWELL. Mr. Speaker, I hesitated to get up and indicate the position that I expected to take upon this question before the House at this moment, and I merely want the record to show—it is not argumentative—I am not trying to make an argument, because I think it will be too apparent to everyone—the merits of the situation.

I personally had the privilege of watching Pennsylvania's ballot law in operation in North Africa and Italy. I felt very proud of the Legislature of Pennsylvania and its record in its 1943 session for having passed the most liberal law that I came in contact with.

I likewise as an officer in the army feel that there is no objection to having the jurat taken by any non-commissioned officer, and I expect to vote in favor of the amendment.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to rise also for the reason of breaking the continuity of the speakers on the subject, that it should not go from one side of the House to the other, for fear that some misinformed person might feel that it is a partisan matter that is being debated from one side to the other, but I suppose that there is some pride of authorship of the original soldier vote bill in Pennsylvania.

May I say, as has been indicated on the floor, there was not the slightest motion or attempt made, not an act susceptible to suspicion of partisan bickering for position when the bills were originally drawn the early part of last year, and up to this point and including this point partisanship is out of the window.

However, may I just carry on a little more to clear up one point that has not been cleared up yet, the right of the sergeant to take the jurat on the ballot was in the original draft as presented by the drafting committee in the original GI legislation in Pennsylvania.

When the committee finally met and discussed point after point, line for line, paragraph for paragraph and section by section that GI voting law, there were discussions, not arguments—there were discussions as to how to better the act, and then out of that last meeting there were many matters of betterment that were arrived at completely dispassionately and without partisanship. When the question of the sergeant's right to take the affidavit was brought up there was discussion both ways, and it was suggested that the lieutenant or commissioned officer, no lower, should be the man to take the oath. We talked about army organization, we talked about the number of Pennsylvania boys in each company and we talked about the number of officers assigned to each company, and we came to the conclusion that in all likelihood each commanding officer would make certain that a commissioned officer would be available in each outfit and that therefore there would be no harm. But the answer is that probably through confusion, maybe some officer not having the time to bother or not caring, we have a situation where under the Federal law a sergeant is permitted to take the affidavit, and perhaps because of that confusion we found in Philadelphia alone, out of the fifty thousand or more ballots that were returned by GI's from all over the world, better than five thousand ballots were invalidated because the affidavit had been taken by a non-commissioned officer, by a sergeant, and in one or two cases I know of myself, by a corporal. I feel that those five thousand or better Philadelphia ballots should have been counted. We didn't know what was on the inside, and we didn't care, the important thing was that they voted. Having in mind also that in many cases the county solicitors advised their county boards of election to count them anyway, we feel that the ballots of the boys that were counted out through no fault of their own should have been counted in. This will also put the county commissioners in the position where if they want to do the right thing and count these boys in, that they will not be violating the law, and I ask, Mr. Speaker, on that basis, that this amendment be voted upon favorably.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Skale and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1307 of House Bill No. 365, Printer's No. 57, Page 12, by inserting after the word "canvass" in line 27, the following: "shall begin immediately following the official civilian canvass for all".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I should just like to say about this amendment that in the printer's copy there was one line omitted, and this is just a corrective amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 366, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1132) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class A as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens parties political bodies registration commissions commissioners registrars inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions county election boards election officers municipal officers, departments and bureaus police officers courts judges prothonotaries sheriffs county commissioners peace officers county treasurers county controllers registrars of vital statistics certain public utility corporations real estate brokers rental

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 12, Printer's No. 60.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives January 31, 1945.

Major General Anthony Wayne began his public career as a member of this General Assembly of Pennsylvania where he actively promoted measures leading toward independence.

Turning from service in the legislature to service in the American army, Anthony Wayne commanded with distinction the first Pennsylvania troops to take an important part in battle during the American Revolution when, by their brave steadfastness during the battle of Three Rivers, they founded a Pennsylvania tradition which has been maintained in every war of the United States.

Raised to the rank of Brigadier General in 1777, Anthony Wayne led the Pennsylvania Line in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth and helped General Washington to hold the army together during the terrible winter at Valley Forge.

Anthony Wayne won especial fame in 1779 by his daring exploit in surprising and capturing the fortress of Stony Point on the Hudson River.

The victory at Yorktown did not end Wayne's services to the American cause for his Georgia campaign in 1782 and 1783 against the Tories and Indians was largely responsible for saving that state for the new nation.

Having fought for independence, he later supported sound conservative government when re-elected to the General Assembly in 1784 and was an influential member of the Pennsylvania convention which ratified the Constitution of the United States in 1787.

When Indian hostility threatened to prevent American settlement and possession of the rich territory north of the Ohio River, Major General Anthony Wayne was chosen by President Washington to command the United States Army and with the reliable force which he had trained at Legionville near Ambridge in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, Wayne defeated the Indian confederacy at the battle of Fallen Timbers on August 20, 1794, enforcing their submission by the Treaty of Greenville on August 3, 1795.

After a lifetime spent in the service of his country, he fell ill while returning from the Northwest Territory which he had saved and died in Fort Presque Isle at Erie, Pennsylvania, on December 15, 1796 at the age of fifty-one years.

Anthony Wayne, as military leader and as patriotic statesman, above all believed first in his country and rendered great services to the United States and especially to Pennsylvania and the States formed from the Northwest Territory.

Two hundred years have passed since his birth on the family plantation of Waynesborough Chester County, Pennsylvania, on January 1, 1745; and one hundred and fifty years since his crowning achievement of the Treaty of Greenville which dictated the future course of American expansion and which followed long days of discipline, drill and watchfulness by the Conqueror of the Old Northwest from which the present states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin were carved, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do honor to the memory of Anthony Wayne by designating as "Anthony Wayne Day," August 3, 1945, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Treaty of Greenville and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways be hereby instructed to designate an appropriate highway in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the "Anthony Wayne Memorial Highway," and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby commends and endorses the proclamation of the Governor of the Commonwealth, Edward Martin, calling attention to the significance of this anniversary year and calling upon the schools and all other public agencies and institutions and all the historical, patriotic civic and other organizations of the Commonwealth at some time during the year to conduct appropriate exercises and undertake such other observances as may seem fitting to pay tribute to the achievements and services of Anthony Wayne.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 18, Printer's No. 61.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1945.

On January 16, 1945, War Food Administrator, Marvin Jones, called upon the farmers of the United States for all-out food and feed production; on the same date Dr. S. W. Fletcher, Dean of the School of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, predicted probable food shortage in 1945; and Governor Martin has recently asked for all-out production.

Dairy herds in Pennsylvania have been reduced and many others completely sold, beef cattle are being sold before being properly fitted, less poultry is being produced than in many years, hogs are not being produced in sufficient quantities to supply the demand, and farms are lying idle for lack of man power to operate.

The recent revision of our rationing system is further evidence of a food shortage with the prospect of a still greater curtailment.

Farmers and their families are willingly working fifteen and more hours per day in peak seasons, and will continue to do so with reasonable cooperation from the government, in order to contribute their all to the war effort.

In the face of these undeniable facts, Selective Service has instructed local draft boards to call farm boys for induction, and it is this younger element who are the most efficient operators.

Everyone, including the farmer and the farmers' sons, is convinced of the necessity of exerting the full man power of the nation in order to win the war speedily and completely.

The danger from this war and its consequence is as great on the home front as on the foreign front.

The soldier in the invaded countries and the sailor on the seas must be fed, and the reduction of the output of food products here at home is a direct threat to their health and efficiency.

When we reduce the man power that produces the food, we impede the progress of the machinery that makes the winning of the war possible, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully but earnestly calls the attention of the Members of the Congress of the United States and those in charge of the Selective Service of the Nation to change the all-inclusive order for the induction of young men heretofore deferred by reason of work on the farms of the Nation, and to direct local draft boards to make a thorough investigation in each case, and promptly induct those who have used farm work only for deferment purposes while they engaged principally in other lucrative employment, and to continue the deferment of all farm boys who have been and are actually working and producing on farms, until the countless number of non-essential Federal employees has been reduced, and until those engaged in non-essential work, and those who are chronic absentees in essential occupations, have been placed in uniforms, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director, Selective Service, and Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, and to each Member from Pennsylvania in the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, every Member of the House recognizes and knows for a fact that probably the greatest worker on the home front during the past three years has been the farmer and the farm worker, and everybody in this House knows it for a fact, and as a fact of course we are prepared to vote for this resolution, at least this side of the House will.

Our only objection to the language of the Resolution of course is the injection of extraneous matter that has nothing whatever to do with the farm question, the matter of the deferment or non-deferment of farm workers. We feel that there are two matters which do not belong in the Resolution, one unproven as yet as far as we are concerned, that there are persons receiving deferments because of alleged farm work while they are principally engaged in other lucrative employment. I have heard in the past six months that people in high places presumably had or were supposed to have had deferments from military service as farm workers when as a matter of fact they earned their livelihood by other means. But we do not have that as a proven fact, Mr. Speaker, and I do not believe that we should vote on anything on which we do not have the facts.

Then I see no sense in taking a slam at somebody else by bringing in the old cat that was kicked around during the last election, dragged up every alley and on every speaker's platform these "countless federal workers." I should imagine that a good Republican such as General Hershey, Director of Selective Service, must know what is going on with respect to Federal manpower. I should think that the Federal government has a pretty good idea what is going on with respect to manpower, and from an investigation that I have made of several agencies my conclusion is that many of them are undermanned rather than overmanned.

I think we decided at the last election that that matter had been determined definitely and I do not feel that we should drag it into an otherwise commendable resolution in regard to the farm worker problem. I think that the members of Congress will not pay attention to extraneous things but will listen to a resolution that we can unanimously support, and we will support this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. LEISEY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. NAGEL offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. MORAN offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the resolution to be read for the information of the House. Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution was filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. Today we introduced in this House a minimum sick leave bill for the public school teachers of this Commonwealth. I am inviting the attention of the membership of this House to a brief presentation of some facts which I believe are pertinent of consideration at this time.

In the first place, I am reliably informed that about half the public school teachers of Pennsylvania have no sick leave protection—that means about 30,000 teachers. Furthermore, I am informed the overwhelming majority of these teachers so discriminated against are serving in the rural schools of our fourth class districts. For many years the teachers in first, second, and most third class school districts, as well as a few fourth class districts, have had sick leave protection, but the number of teachers without such protection, especially in the remaining third class and the majority of the fourth class school districts, is impressively large as I have indicated.

Two specific cases have been called to my attention as typical. The first concerns a fourth class district teacher with eleven years of faithful and devoted service to her school, her pupils, and her community. This teacher had never missed a day on account of illness during those eleven years, but last November she was ill for seven days with a serious throat infection acquired in line of duty with the result that she lost seven days full salary. The other case concerns a high school teacher who was docked five days' salary during time away from his school to attend his mother's funeral.

As I have indicated, there is nothing unique about the cases I have cited. These things are happening to the teachers in the schools of every rural county in Pennsylvania all the time.

Personally, I do not know of a single instance where any other political subdivision of this Commonwealth denies sick leave to its salaried employees. It is well known that the salaried employees of all departments of our State Government have liberal sick leave protection, and rightly so. I believe the membership of this House has a moral responsibility to the teachers of our boys and girls everywhere in this Commonwealth to correct this injustice wherever it exists and to do it promptly in this Session. I cannot conceive that the membership of this House will longer deny to one large segment of public employees what has been so generously and rightly provided for other groups without exception to the best of my knowledge and belief.

At the present time we hear and read a great deal about a program of equal educational opportunity for all the children of Pennsylvania. We would do well to dedicate ourselves through our efforts in this Session of the General Assembly to the full achievement of such a program, but we will not attain such an objective unless and until we can establish a salary program and other satisfactory working conditions for rural teachers which will stop their migration away from the rural schools. Every time we permit a discrimination against a fourth class district teacher, we are discriminating against the children in our rural schools. To my way of thinking we are indirectly discriminating against the children in any school in this Commonwealth when we deny the teacher in that school a sick leave program she can rely upon in event of personal illness or when she attends the funeral of her parent.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 14, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

May we be conscious of Thy presence, O God, as we begin the duties of the day. That consciousness will enable the Senate to deliberate wisely and conclude justly. It will keep free from sectionalism, from prejudice and from intolerance—enemies of our civil and religious inheritance.

Today we pray especially for the youth of our state and nation, the young men and women upon whom will soon rest the religious, the moral and the educational responsibility of preserving our way of life. We of this generation are setting the standards. Enable us, O God, to set the standards high by the example of our own lives and by legislation, wisely conceived and generously administered. This trinity of evils—irreligion, immorality and ignorance must be destroyed or they will destroy.

We pray for the wisdom, the courage and the fighting qualities to overthrow every enemy of the Republic, that, under God, our free way of life may be preserved for our children and children's children.

For all members of the Senate and for the presiding officer we pray Thy continuing favor. In the name of the Living Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SNOWDEN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. JAMES.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS.

HOUSE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

INCREASING FREE SERVICE PER DIEM ALLOWANCE TO HOSPITALS

In the Senate, January 30, 1945.

Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purpose of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefor, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is now impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriation Committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

DEFERMENT OF FARM BOYS URGED

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1945.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, TOWNSHIP OF CONEMAUGH

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 14, 1945.
To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 255, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend clause two of section seven hundred and two, and to further amend paragraph one and clause three of section nine hundred and five of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by providing for the furnishing of street lighting by contract with lighting companies, upon petition of property owners in villages, and for the assessment and collection of the costs and maintenance thereof upon property benefited thereby, and for the levy of an annual township tax for street lighting without petition of property owners; and validating petitions of property owners, contracts entered into between townships and lighting companies, taxes levied to pay the costs and maintenance of lighting service and the collection, receipt and payment out of the revenues therefrom notwithstanding such petitions were filed, contracts entered into and taxes levied, collected and paid out under unconstitutional laws; validating agreements and understandings between township supervisors and lighting companies to continue lighting service pending the enactment of valid laws; regulating and providing for the expenditure of moneys arising from special lighting taxes; and authorizing the payment of the costs and expenses of maintaining lighting service until valid laws are enacted to collect charges from property owners benefited thereby, out of the road tax fund, and the creation and transfer of moneys to a special account for such purposes at any time notwithstanding the prior adoption of the budget; and authorizing any light and power company to apply the net rate and to waive the gross rate or to grant discounts and to waive penalties in the same manner as if payments had been made by the township within the time required by the contract and the company's schedules or tariffs.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

RESOLUTION

ACCLAIMING DECISIONS REACHED AT CRIMEAN CONFERENCE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT, BARR and GOURLEY, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 14, 1945.

Whereas, The Three major allies engaged in the promotion of the present war have successfully come through a crisis of negotiations bearing upon the future peace and security of the entire world, and

Whereas, The agreements reached in the Crimean Conference, presage a stable Europe, a peaceful Europe and a prosperous Europe, and

Whereas, A prosperous Europe will mean a prosperous America with expanding trade opportunities and full time employment, and

Whereas, The decisions reached are a reaffirmation of the four Freedoms embodied in the Atlantic Charter, holding out to the peoples of the world the hope of freedom from wear, freedom from want, freedom from religious persecution and freedom of thought, and

Whereas, The decisions reached are the first practical moves toward the plan evolved at Dumbarton Oaks, setting up the machinery for making the peace permanent and just, and

Whereas, The President has shown himself to be a true leader in the search for security and peace by naming an equal representation of Democratic and Republican Members of Congress to the Peace Parley to be held in San Francisco on April 25th, and

Whereas, This is the first time in the history of mankind that three great leaders, representing the greatest nations in the world, are so completely in accord in their positive position based upon the respect and tolerance of one unto the other, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania joins in the rejoicing of the people of the Commonwealth in their acclaim of the decisions and spirit of the Crimean Conference. We congratulate President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin for their courage and wisdom in launching the Crimean Conference that marks a milestone one the road to victory and peace. They have answered the prayers of every American home, of our fighting allies and of the liberated and the yet enslaved peoples of the world to bring about victory at an early date, to create an international organization, to maintain and secure for all times to come peace on earth good will towards man.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the resolution for several reasons.

We believe on this side of the Chamber that a resolution of this kind should have more study. One of the reasons we think it should have more study is contained on the second page of the Philadelphia Inquirer of this morning, a United Press story from Rome, Italy, headed "Vatican Gloomy Over Big 3 Pact." "Authoritative Vatican quarters commented gloomily today on the Big Three decisions. They expressed anxiety lest the seeds of a future war be sown in carrying out the agreement."

So runs the article, half a column in length.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of this resolution and suggest that it be referred to a committee for proper study.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Yesterday Mr. President and my colleagues, we listened to a rather lengthy discussion by the distinguished gentleman, the leader of the Democratic members of this Senate, in which he criticized two things: first, the right of the Governor of this Commonwealth to speak on matters of international importance; and, second, the right of the Governor of this Commonwealth to say that the Atlantic Charter did not exist.

First, let me say, Mr. President and my colleagues, that no state of this Union is making a greater contribution in materials, in the natural supplies of its resources, and in man power, than is the great State of Pennsylvania, and that under the leadership of a man whom we are most fortunate to have as our leader in this day of national crisis, General Martin, at great sacrifice to himself, is serving in that position. He is a military leader, he is a civic leader, he is a leader the like of which we have not had in the Governor's chair for many years, and I, as a citizen of this Commonwealth, feel that we are most fortunate to have him at this time.

But on the original point, concerning the remarks of the distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland yesterday, on his right to talk, let me read from the United States News of January 19, 1945, a statement appearing on the editorial page, and let me remind you that one David Lawrence of Washington is an editor of that page, and I quote:

"Each of us can only speak according to his little lights—and pray for a composite wisdom that shall lead us to high, safe ground. It is only in this spirit of anxious humility that I speak today. Politics, in any such connection, would be as obnoxious at home as they are in international manipulations abroad."

"We, of course, accept no conception that our contribution to 'unity' must be silence, while others say and do what they please and that our only role in this global tragedy is to fight and die and pay, and that 'unity' for us shall only be the 'unity' which Jonah enjoyed when he was swallowed by the whale.

"I hasten to say that any such intolerable conception as this would be angrily repudiated by every American—from the President down to the last citizen among us. It has not been and is not true."

And then, secondly, Mr. President, I should like to read from The Evening News, a Harrisburg publication, of Tuesday, February 13—and let me remind you gentlemen as I read, that the editor of this paper, the president of the company issuing this paper, is one Vance C. McCormick; and let me remind you further that this same Vance C. McCormick was Chairman of the Democratic National Committee years gone by and, if my memory serves me correctly, in the days when President Wilson was elected both the first and second times, and while I would not be facetious at this time in speaking on such an important matter, I should like to properly identify the paper by reading this one article first, appearing on the front page. It is entitled "Saved."

"SAVED"

"A Harrisburg business man boarded a plane in Chicago one day last week, and got a seat next to a soldier. After the plane got going and there was no chance of any newcomer forcing his presence with a higher priority, the local man and his companion struck up a conversation. The occasion permitted a bit of bantering and the Harrisburger reportedly asked:

"Weren't you afraid you'd be bumped off?"

"Yes, I thought once I'd be bumped off so I barked like a dog and saved my seat."

And next I should like to quote, gentlemen, from this same paper, an article which is headed "Washington," February 13, and which reads as follows:

"President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin were joined today in strong endorsement of the Atlantic Charter and its principles.

"The charter was conceived by the President and Churchill almost four years ago. Among other things, it enunciated the four freedoms and the right of every nation to choose its own government.

"While the charter itself never existed as a formal document of state, Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly expressed this country's adherence to its principles. His critics, however, have demanded more positive assurance from the three big Allies."

I should like to repeat that phrasing, Mr. President: "While the charter itself never existed as a formal document of state, Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly expressed this country's adherence to its principles. Then, Mr. President, I should like to quote from a Philadelphia publication known as the Philadelphia Record—and if I am not entirely mistaken it leans perhaps toward the Democratic Party. I quote from that paper, the issue of December 21, 1944, in which they say on the editorial page, going back to August 14, 1941:

"Partial text of the White House statement on the Atlantic Charter, drawn up by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, during their meeting at sea:

"The following statement signed (in capital letters) by the president of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain is released for the information of the press:

"They have agreed upon the following joint declaration:

"First, their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other;

"Second, they desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;

"Third, they respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live, and they wish to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them."

And then I again quote, Mr. President, from that same editorial, under date of December 21, 1944, as follows:

"December 19, 1944:

"President Roosevelt today unharnessed American foreign policy from the rigid letter of the Atlantic Charter with the revelation that the Charter was an unsigned statement of immediate aims rather than a formal contract with a binding effect on the world. There is no authentic original, the President stated." And I repeat, "There is no authentic original, the President said."

And then may I further quote Mr. President from the Harrisburg Patriot, which is issued by the same paper I referred to a little while ago, in their issue of December 23, 1944, and I read from their editorial page:

"Disillusionment has come to many Americans, perhaps to none as much as Polish citizens who supported Mr. Roosevelt, only to find that in the partition of their old land, their new land is offering no voice of protest."

"Atop of all this comes the bland admission by the President himself that the Atlantic Charter which everybody off the battleship thought was drafted and signed by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill as a modern Magna Carta is really not an agreement at all. Certainly it is not a document. Apparently it binds nobody. There is no original of it. Like as not, it can be written off as a guiding star for the objectives of this war.

"These are hard blows for a nation and a world approaching a Christmas Season. They are second only to the alarming war communiques. War developments may be explained by factors over which the valorous and hard-hitting American soldier had no control, but can as much be said for the other the disillusioning developments over which men did have control."

And then further, Mr. President, may I close by quoting again from the Philadelphia Record of December 22, 1944, an article appearing on the editorial page entitled:

"Atlantic Charter—An Ideal Written In People's Hearts Sealed With Men's Blood:

"Blackest hour in U. S. military history since the fall of the Philippines

"That's what correspondents are calling the situation on the Western Front, as the Nazi Armies at this writing continue to drive unchecked through Belgium and the fateful Argennes Forest.

"Worse, the President selects such an hour to tell the American people that the Atlantic Charter is only come 'scrap of paper', that it has no binding force on the nations because it was never actually signed, that it was only a statement of moral aims.

"You can add these events up to a mighty black Christmas."

And with that, Mr. President I maintain that the great Governor of this Commonwealth—that any citizen of this Commonwealth—has a right to be critical under circumstances of that kind; that we have been told time and time again that this great document, embodying the four freedoms, was written so that all men could receive copies of it and understand its contents.

We now find, as the Governor so ably said in Pittsburgh just a few evenings ago, that the charter does not exist.

I may say I have not been asked to make this statement. May I say also that I make it voluntarily, and further that I shall defend his rights, and the rights of any official and any citizen of this Commonwealth to make statements when his statements are absolutely correct.

Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I desire to make a statement in rebuttal.

I was fearful that my colleague from Cumberland, Senator Wade, on the other side, would run out of newspapers, so I gathered a few for him.

I might state to the members of this Senate that there is a great difference between reading editorials—because editorials are the opinions of the men who write them—and reading the news which covers the events of the day as they transpire.

I quoted news articles yesterday—and not editorials. We Democrats have long ago learned that the editorials of the nation are always against us. It is just by the grace of God and the good judgment of the people of the United States that the votes are not against us.

I might say to the gentleman that what I objected to yesterday—and what I object to again and again and again—is the statement of the Governor of Pennsylvania when he says that Roosevelt admits the Atlantic Charter was a publicity stunt.

At no time has the President of the United States made such an admission. Whether the Atlantic Charter exists or not may be easily determined by the headlines of all the newspapers all over the world, in that the Big Three Conference reaffirmed their positions on the Atlantic Charter, in that the Atlantic Charter was borne out by the results of the conference in the Crimea, in that the United States of America has provided leadership not only for this nation in its successful conclusion of the war but for all the nations of the world in their negotiations for a permanent and enduring peace, and in that the President of the United States has at all times maintained a policy, as near as it is humanly possible to do so, to have a non-partisan outlook upon the issues involved, not only in prosecuting the war but in creating and maintaining peace.

I want to say, too, that I never at any time in my life have objected to the right of any man to talk like Voltaire, I would defend to the death his right to talk, and may not agree with one word he says.

I do not object to the right of the Governor in going to Pittsburgh and saying what he wants to say, but, by the Holy Eternal, he must stand upon what he says, and, if it bears criticism, he must take that criticism—and we all have just as much right to deny the statements and the allegations that he makes.

I, too, am an admirer of Governor Martin in certain respects. I know that he was a general—from a neighboring county of mine; I know that he was an illustrious soldier, but I do say that his statements were ill-advised and ill-timed. I say that he claimed that the Big Three were at loggerheads, and the truth of the matter is contained in the decisions made and heralded to the world—directly contrary to the statements made by the Governor in Pittsburgh—and that I say without fear of contradiction. The results speak for themselves.

I want to repeat that if we want to go into the reading of editorials, especially those by men who by their public stand are known as men who hate Roosevelt as much as or more than they hate even the common enemies of this nation, and who throughout his entire career have fought every move that he has made—they hate him because of his policies on domestic social life; they hate him because he stands for things that the common people were guaranteed under the Constitution; they hate him because he stands for the thing that they do not.

Whether a man is named Vance McCormick or whether his name is Vandenberg or whether his name is Dewey, if you hate a man your politics do not matter.

We never agreed that Mr. McCormick was of much help to the Democratic party—he may have been in the days when President Wilson was alive, and if I remember right I understand that he fell out with him too, when he started dealing in terms of common equality.

Today I reaffirm the position that I took yesterday, that the Governor's statements were ill advised, were not intended to create unity, needed now as never before, in order that the people of Pennsylvania could learn the truth and the whole truth about the negotiations in the Crimea and the results as they have come through the news releases.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. EALY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EALY. I recall a time in this Senate when neither the Republican party nor the Democratic party selected floor leaders; in those days we seemed to get along all right without them.

Perhaps in these conflicting New Deal times it is necessary—I rather think it is—in order that we may have these leaders to tell us how to vote on complicated questions. Perhaps that may not be out of place.

I first want to say that I am very much pleased that we have on the Republican side, and on the Democratic side, such intelligent and active leaders.

Perhaps I may not be too much out of place in expressing a warning to our friend from Westmoreland county, that there is sometimes danger in a man wielding a new broom too vigorously and stirring up dust which blinds himself. I hope, too, that he will not be under the delusion that he is sent by Almighty God to clean up Pennsylvania and the Nation, and I hope that he will not consider himself sent by David Lawrence to wreck the Republican party. The Republican party can only be wrecked by its own mistakes; on of the biggest would be to try to follow a Democratic leader—and by the same token the Democratic party can only be destroyed by its own foolishness.

I think we need these two parties, vigorous parties, working together, the one to check on the other—the President of the United States to the contrary notwithstanding.

I am sorry that the two parties seem to be mostly given to furthering their own interests—in securing their own patronage and trying to destroy the other, and I am looking forward to that millennial day when the rivalry between these two parties will be a friendly rivalry as to which can do the most for the Commonwealth and the Nation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have listened with interest to the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, bringing in a problem which we heard a great deal about in the last campaign, the Polish problem, and I would be remiss in my duty—as I believe that I represent one of the largest Polish votes of any Senator sitting in this Senate—and as I sat beside the radio in the last campaign and listened to the lament or plea of Republican orators concerning the fate of the Poles and as I sat here today and listened to the crocodile tears being spent and shed here for poor Poland, my mind went back to a time when some of us in America were trying to tell the people of America—and most of those men who were trying to tell the people of America were Democrats—that we had a responsibility, when the Nazis blitzed Europe and killed the people of Poland, and I heard in the Congress of the United States—which any of you can read in the Congressional Record—orator after orator, with “R” after his name, meaning Republican—stating that it was a foreign war and it was no concern of ours.

Yes, when we tried to prepare for war, look at the vote. Yes, look at the vote of the Republican Congressmen from Pennsylvania. It was a foreign war then. Those men in Poland were foreigners and were no concern then of ours.

Now the Republicans see a way of trying to regain the Polish votes and regain the votes of the Slavic people of Pennsylvania. The Slavic people in the last election contributed much. Yes. So did the Polish people because they remembered Franklin Roosevelt—and Franklin Roosevelt was interested in the Polish people when Republican orators in the Congress were saying this is a foreign war.

Now to get their votes you are shedding crocodile tears for the poor Poles. It does not shape up.

The time that millions of Jews were being killed in the ghettos of Warsaw, when the Polish people were being killed, murdered, their women raped and taken back to Germany as slave labor—nothing was said by the Republican orators then.

The war is practically won—we hope it will be only a matter of time—Italy is again free—you know that the Polish people of America vote and now you are crying, crying for Poland.

I have faith that the Polish people shall be given the right to decide what their country shall be, who shall govern it. Poland shall have a democracy when this war is won. Yes, equal to any democracy existing in the world.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have no desire whatever to continue this discussion; however, I think probably it is a timely matter to discuss.

If I wished to continue it longer I might interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland and ask him—however, I do not wish to do so—and ask him if Dave Stern is one of the gentlemen to whom he referred a little while ago who dislikes so the President of the United States.

However, just let me, for the benefit of the record, make this statement: The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, has just made a statement that I am crying crocodile tears for the Polish people—that is right.

I firmly believe in the principles of the supposed Atlantic Charter. I only regret that they are not written and that they are not being lived up to by this administration.

To substantiate that let me read from the public paper, the Philadelphia Inquirer; and I quote:

“Rome, February 13. Authoritative Vatican Quarters Commented Gloomily Today on The Big Three decisions.

“They expressed anxiety lest the seeds of a future war be sown in carrying out the agreement.

“Outstanding disappointments, informants said were: Poland, to which the Pope often has referred as ‘our beloved’; failure to mention Catholic Italy and the likelihood that Italy will have no part in peace conferences; failure to mention freedom of religion as promised by the Atlantic Charter.”

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I do not want to continue this any longer than is necessary.

However, I may answer the direct question propounded by the gentleman with regard to Dave Stern of the Philadelphia Record, I would say that he runs the Democratic party on about the same order that the owners of the Philadelphia Inquirer run Republicans, and if they run the Republicans then we will accept the same proposition from Dave Stern.

I might say, too, that there is an old admonition, given to me when I was just a kid, and that was “Always beware of Greeks bearing gifts,” and twice this morning I have heard about the wants and desires of the Pope in Rome from the other side of the Senate.

I do not know that we in this country are so disturbed over the religious ideas that certain people have.

I may say to the gentleman from Somerset County, that I have never been foolish enough to think that I was more than an ordinary person created by God, and of the same likeness as the rest of the men in the Senate, with the same amount of intelligence and no more.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 360, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand two hundred twenty-three to the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code," authorizing the extension of time for inspection of motor vehicles.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, February 19, 1945, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. TROUTMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:13 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time until Monday, February 19, 1945, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 14, 1945.

The House met at 11 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, as we look upon a world in which all things seem to be shaken, we thank Thee for the assurances which come to us from the past. We praise Thee that truth crushed to the earth has always risen again. Thus we pray for Thy guidance in the deliberations of the Allied leaders, for victory unto our armed forces and for an enduring just peace to be enjoyed by all the people of the earth. O Lord, hear us for Thy name's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, February 13, 1945.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, February 13, 1945, when, on motion of Mr. GAFFNEY, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. LEISEY.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1945.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project was originally presented to Congress in the form of a treaty, it is being handled as an agreement. Its proponents are renewing their efforts to generate public interest in this enterprise which will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve; and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and the United States, with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000, and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more, this money would be paid by the United States taxpayer for work in Canada done by Canadian labor; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal, which by-passes Niagara Falls, and the Great Lakes Channels, amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year, due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty percent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Sca-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing, and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail, highway and inland waterways services, and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, By facilitating the direct importation of semi-finished low valued commodities, it would adversely affect American labor; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points, as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement, if ratified, would reduce the exportation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project.

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 25.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1945.

The Surplus Property Act of 1944 (October 3, 1944, C. 479, 58 Stat. 765) was enacted to facilitate and regulate the orderly disposal of surplus (war) property.

Numerous sales have recently been held throughout the country under which various surpluses have been auctioned off to the bidders present.

At some of these sales, the authorities of political subdivisions have charged they were not given adequate opportunity to enter into the bidding and general criticism has accordingly risen in connection with these sales.

As to these charges and criticisms, we are in no position to know wherein the true fault lies and we in no way attack or defend the auction system of disposing of surplus war goods except that where those surpluses are normally needed by the several States and their political subdivisions, first consideration should be given to their needs. Now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Congress of the United States to either amend the present Surplus Property Act or to enact entirely new legislation under which the several States and their political subdivisions shall be given prior consideration to that of the general public in receiving by grant or by opportunity to purchase, any and all surplus war materials; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be and he hereby is directed to send a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Senate of the United States and one to the House of Representatives of the United States and to each member of either House from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(Concurrent) HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1945.

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has within the past several years issued orders increasing rates for natural gas to ratepayers of The Peoples Natural Gas Company and Manufacturers Light and Heat Company serving large portions of western Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Equitable Gas Company has filed tariffs effecting similar increases in rates for natural gas to its ratepayers, effective February 10, 1945, and

Whereas, the increased rates to the small ratepayer or customer of the three gas companies in some instances exceed 100% of the old rates, and

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has issued an order in the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company rate case which will permit increases in electric rates to its ratepayers, and

Whereas, it is contended that reductions in rates should have been made to the ratepayers of all four companies instead of the increases authorized or that may be authorized by the Commission, now

Therefore Be It Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that the House of Representatives and the Senate of the General Assembly constitute themselves as a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of receiving and considering data in the hands of the Public Utility Commission and the four companies involved to the end and that the Legislature exercise its legislative function under Article XVI, section 3, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, to establish just and reasonable rates to be charged to the ratepayers for the natural gas or electricity supplied by the said four companies respectively, and

Be It Further Resolved, that the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and the Minority Leaders of the House and Senate be and are hereby constituted a Committee of Four for the purpose of gathering and compiling the necessary records and data in the files of Public Utility Commission from the books and records of the four above named public utilities, and to compile therefrom the actual legitimate original cost of the properties, the amount of invested capital, capitalization, working capital requirements, legitimate operating expenses, depreciation and taxes for the purpose of compiling data for submission to the Committee of the Whole not more than thirty calendar days from the date of this action and as much in advance of that date as may be possible. For so doing said Committee of Four shall be authorized and directed to require of the Public Utility Commission and its staff such aid and assistance as it, the said Committee of Four, shall deem necessary and proper, which aid and assistance shall have priority over other Commission matters, and, likewise said committee shall have power of subpoena and shall have available to it the services of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House and Senate for the purposes of enforcing the production of evidence or witnesses or such other matters material to the fixing of just and reasonable rates in this proceeding, and

Be It Further Resolved, that at the end of thirty calendar days from the adoption of this resolution or within five calendar days thereof, the House and Senate of the General Assembly shall meet in executive session as a Committee of the Whole to receive the report of the above named committee upon the original cost, invested capital, etc., as above recited and in due course to hear argument by counsel of the public utilities above named and intervenors representing municipalities and other parties in interest that may desire to be heard, and that said Committee of the Whole shall continue in executive session with reasonable recess over weekends until a final determination is reached of the just and reasonable rates to be charged the customers of the four public utilities, The Peoples Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Equitable Gas Company and Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented for concurrence Senate Bills 52, 57, 87, 106, 118, 212, 228.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 27.

An Act to further amend subsection A of section one thousand six, subsection C of section one thousand seven, and section one thousand twelve, and to amend section one thousand two hundred ten of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 624), entitled "An act relating to the business of banking, and to the exercise of fiduciary powers by corporations; providing for the organization of corporations with fiduciary powers, and of banking corporations, with or without fiduciary powers, including the conversion of National banks into State banks, and for the licensing of private bankers; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such corporations; of existent corporations authorized to engage in a banking business, with or without fiduciary powers, of private bankers, and of the officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, attorneys, and other employes of all such corporations or private bankers, or of affiliated corporations, associations, or persons; restricting the exercise of banking powers by any other corporation, association, or person, and of fiduciary powers by any other corporation; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, prothonotaries, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by further providing for the powers and duties and limitations upon power of corporations and persons authorized to engage in a banking or fiduciary business, or both

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred fifty-six of the act, approved the first day of May; one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," providing for the regulation of encroachments on township highways; and the issuing of permits therefor by the township supervisors instead of by the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth; and for the payment of permit fees into the township treasury.

Mr. SNYDER from the Committee on Townships reported as committed House Bill No. 440, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection six of section nine hundred five of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by increasing the tax rate for fire hydrants and fire hydrant water service.

Mr. RUDISILL from the Committee on Counties reported as committed House Bill No. 520, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred and nineteen of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," providing for the payment of the costs of viewers by the Commonwealth in certain cases.

Mr. FLACK from the Committee on Elections reported as committed Senate Bill No. 30, entitled:

An Act to amend section eight hundred and four of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections", by changing the time for the organization of State committees.

Mr. CULLEN from the Committee on Elections reported as committed Senate Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand two hundred seven of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by increasing the compensation for services rendered by constables and their deputies.

Mr. ELDER from the Committee on State Government reported as committed Senate Bill No. 108, entitled:

An Act to authorize the Department of Forests and Waters to lease or sell its telephone lines or parts thereof.

Mr. STONIER from the Committee on State Government reported as amended House Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act to amend section five of the act, approved the fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1664), entitled "An act to ratify and adopt a compact or agreement negotiated by commissioners designated by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and commissioners designated by the Governor of the State of Ohio, relative to the development, use, and control of the Pymatuning Lake and the State owned land surrounding said lake for fishing, hunting, recreational, and park purposes," so as to permit the operation thereon of boats equipped with motors of four horsepower or less.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. STOCKHAM, from the Committee on Public Utilities, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special, House Bill No. 162, entitled:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 113, Printer's No. 18, was passed over at the request of Mr. LICHTENWALTER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 254, as follows:

An Act authorizing counties of the second class to insure titles to land purchased by any taxing authority or authorities in the county at any sale for the non-payment of taxes or municipal claims upon the resale thereof providing for an indemnity fund to secure such insurance and the investment thereof and fixing the fees conditions and requirements for such insurance

Section 1 The county commissioners in counties of the second class are hereby authorized to establish a system for insuring titles to lands in said counties where such lands have been purchased by any taxing authority or authorities in said counties at any sale for non-payment of taxes or municipal claims and such lands are being re-sold by said taxing authority or authorities to a purchaser after the period for redemption has expired

Section 2 To create an indemnity fund as security for title insurance issued under the authority of this act the net proceeds of all re-sales of tax acquired properties by the taxing authorities requesting title insurance indemnifying the purchaser shall be paid over to the county and placed in a special fund until said fund shall amount to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) and shall be credited by the county to the various taxing authorities in the proportion contributed from re-sales of tax acquired lands Should a loss occur and payment be made to the indemnified person or persons thereby reducing the fund below five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) the taxing authority or authorities originally selling the land on which the loss occurred together with other taxing authorities if any receiving any of the proceeds from the re-sale of such land shall thereafter again commence applying the proceeds from the re-sale of tax acquired property to the fund until said loss is restored to the fund Said fund shall be referred to as "The Land Title Fund" of the respective county and the principal thereof may be invested by the county commissioners in bonds or obligations of the United States the Commonwealth the county or of other taxing authorities within the county The income from the investment of such fund shall be paid to the county It is the intention of this act to keep the fund fixed at five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000)

Section 3 The county commissioners shall provide suitable office space equipment and supplies and employ the necessary persons to administer the system provided for in this act and said persons shall be considered as employees of the county

Section 4 In applying for title insurance under this act the proper law officer of the taxing authority or authorities selling the land being authorized by proper resolution of the taxing authority or authorities shall certify a title search to the county solicitor and said solicitor shall recommend to the county commissioners whether or not he approves such title for insurance and in his recommendation state any exceptions or conditions as a part of the policy

The recorder of deeds shall sign all policies and attach the seal of the county and cause a duplicate thereof to be kept and the purchaser of the land shall be required to pay the sum of ten dollars ($10) to the county for executing said policy of insurance

Section 5 The purchaser of tax acquired land purchasing the same from the taxing authority or authorities and desiring a policy of title insurance under this act shall be required to pay to the said taxing authority or authorities or to a person fund or department designated by resolution of said taxing authority or authorities for the service of searching the title to said land and referring the same to the county solicitor as provided for in section four of this act at the rate of thirty-five dollars ($35) for the first thousand dollars ($1,000) or fraction thereof of consideration or insurance and five dollars ($5) for each additional thousand dollars ($1,000) of consideration or insurance thereafter Said title insurance may be increased upon the erection of improvements on the land upon the payment to the county of five dollars ($5) for each one thousand dollars ($1,000) of increase and the fee of ten dollars ($10) for execution of a new policy but such increase shall be subject to any defects of title or claims against the land which may have occurred since the conveyance of the land from the taxing authorities to the purchaser

Title insurance may be granted to the successors in title to the original purchaser from the taxing authorities in which case the county solicitor shall cause the title search to be brought up to date and the successor in title shall be required to pay to the county thirty-five dollars ($35) for the first thousand dollars ($1,000) of insurance or fraction thereof and five dollars ($5) for each additional thousand dollars ($1,000) of insurance thereafter and ten dollars ($10) for execution of the policy

Section 6 This act is intended to facilitate the disposition of tax acquired real estate held by governmental agencies exempt from taxation and to increase the base of taxation for expenses of government If any clause phrase action or part of this act is held to be unconstitutional it shall not affect the validity of the remaining or other portions of the act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 317, Printer's No. 32, was passed over at the request of Mr. MAHANY.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 338, as follows:

An Act to amend sections two seventeen eighteen twenty and twenty-six of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 886) entitled "An act creating a Municipal Employees' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employees of political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor imposing certain duties on the State Employees' Retirement Board and the actuary thereof providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith and as to certain existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employees of such political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them providing certain exemptions from taxation execution attachment levy and sale and making an appropriation" changing certain definitions clarifying provisions relating to local pension and retirement systems changing the formulae for the ascertainment of contributions by members and by municipalities eliminating the provision requiring retirement at age seventy and reappropriating the unexpended balance of the prior appropriation

Section 1 Sections two seventeen eighteen twenty and twenty-six of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 886) entitled "An act creating a Municipal Employees' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employees of political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor imposing certain duties on the State Employees' Retirement Board and the actuary thereof providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith and as to certain existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employees of such political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them providing certain exemptions from taxation execution attachment levy and sale and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 Definitions The following words and phrases unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context shall have the following meanings

"Board" the Municipal Employees' Retirement Board

"Municipality" a city borough town township county and institution district

"Municipal Employee" a person holding an office or position under a municipality or an institution supported and maintained by it in any capacity whatever employed and paid on a yearly or monthly or per diem basis or employed and paid by the municipality with its funds or through any separate institution supported and maintained through trustees or otherwise by it The term shall not include officers and employees paid wholly on a fee basis

"Member" a municipal employee who has become a member of the Municipal Employees' Retirement System established by this act

"Original Member" a municipal employee who was a municipal employee at the date the municipality by which he is employed joined the retirement system established by this act

"New Member" a municipal employee who first becomes a municipal employee after the date the municipality by which he is employed joined the retirement system established by this act

"Contributor" a municipal employee who has accumulated deductions standing to his credit in the member's account of the fund created by this act

"Beneficiary" a person who was a municipal employee but has retired and is receiving a retirement allowance as provided in this act

"Prior Service" all service as a municipal employee completed at the time the municipality by which he is or was employed elected to join the retirement system established by this act or the same municipality under a prior name or classification

"Superannuation Retirement Age" sixty years of age or upwards

"Final Salary" the average annual salary or compensation earned by a municipal employee and paid by the municipality during the last five years immediately preceding retirement or if not so long employed then the average annual salary or compensation paid during the whole period of such employment In computing final salary if the amount thereof shall exceed four thousand dollars ($4000) it shall for the purpose of this act be limited to four thousand dollars ($4000)

"Accumulated Deductions" the total amount deducted from the salary or compensation of the contributor and paid over by the municipality or paid by the municipal employee or from any existing pension or retirement system directly into the retirement fund and credited to the member's account together with regular interest thereon

"Regular Interest" interest at two and one-half per cent per annum compounded annually and in case of interest earnings in excess of two and one-half per cent shall mean the interest actually earned on investments in any year

"Municipal Annuity" that portion of the retirement allowance derived from contributions made by the municipality

"Member's Annuity" that portion of the retirement allowance derived from the accumulated deductions of the municipal employee

"Retirement Allowance" the municipal annuity plus the member's annuity

"Fund" the Municipal Employees' Retirement Fund created by this act

Section 17 Existing Local Retirement Systems Where a municipality elects to join the retirement system established by this act and is then maintaining a retirement or pension system or systems covering its municipal employees in whole or in part those employees so covered and employees thereafter eligible to join such pension system shall not become members of the retirement system established by this act unless at the time the municipality elects to join the system the members of such existing retirement or pension system shall by the affirmative vote of seventy-five per centum of all the members thereof elect to be covered by the retirement system established by this act At any time thereafter within a period of three years after the municipality has elected to join the system but not thereafter the members of an existing retirement or pension system may in like manner elect to join the system established by this act In any such case provision may be made for the transfer of the moneys and securities in its retirement or pension fund or funds in whole or in part to the fund established by this act Securities so transferred shall be only those acceptable to the board Securities not so acceptable shall be converted into cash and said cash transferred to the fund created by this act. In any such transfer provision shall be made to credit to the accumulated deductions of each member at least the amount he has paid into the retirement or pension system of the municipality which moneys shall be credited against the prior service contributions of such member or a municipality may turn over to the retirement system created by this act any existing local pension system on a completely funded basis as to pensioners and pension credits of members related to prior service to the date of transfer or on a partially funded basis if the municipality either pays currently into the retirement system sufficient to cover its current share of unfunded pensions or shall agree to make such payments directly to beneficiaries as payments fall due.

No liability on account of retirement allowances or pensions being paid from any retirement or pension fund of the municipality shall attach against the retirement fund created by this act except as provided in the agreement making a transfer of an existing system in accordance with this section. The liability to continue payment of pensions not so transferred shall attach against the municipality which shall annually make appropriations from its tax revenues sufficient to pay the same. In cases where employes covered by an existing retirement or pension system elect to join the system created by this act the election to join shall be deemed to have been made at the time the municipality elected to join the system and the liabilities of the municipality shall be fixed accordingly.

Section 18 Contributions by Members Consolidation of Credits Change of Employment. Each member of the retirement system shall be required to contribute to the fund such per centum of his actual salary or compensation including fees where paid in part on a fee basis as shall be computed by the actuary to be approximately sufficient to procure for him on a superannuation retirement age a member's annuity of one [one-hundredth] one-hundred-thirtieth of his final salary for each year of service after the time the municipality by which he is employed joined the retirement system which contributions shall be paid into the fund by the municipality through pay roll deductions in such manner and at such times as the board may by rule and regulations determine.

In order to increase his member's annuity each member shall also have the option to make contributions for his prior service. Such contributions for prior service may be anticipated in whole or in part at the time the municipality joins the retirement system or payment thereof or of such part thereof as is not anticipated may be spread over a period of time by increasing the pay roll deduction of the member by at least one-third. Where a member elects to contribute on account of his prior service his rate of contribution shall be calculated as of his age at the time he first entered the service of the municipality. Provided however That any municipality may at the time it elects to join the system established by this act or at any time thereafter agree with the board to pay into the fund as a part of its liability under and in accordance with section fourteen hereof the moneys necessary to provide the member's contributions for prior service and in such case no contributions for prior service shall be made by the members.

If the rate of contribution so computed shall exceed seven per centum of his earnable salary the member may request the board to be permitted to contribute at a lesser rate and if the board finds that there are reasons which justify such reduction then there shall be deducted seven per centum of his earnable salary.

Where a municipal employe is employed by more than one municipality he shall be required to make contributions on account of the salary paid by each municipality. In such cases the board shall provide for the consolidation of credits of the contributor and upon his retirement for a consolidated retirement allowance.

Where a contributor leaves the employ of a municipality which is a member of the system and enters into the employ of another municipality which is also a member of the system his service credits shall remain unimpaired but in such cases the unpaid municipal liability for prior service shall be prorated by the board between the municipalities on an equitable basis.

Section 20 Retirement for Superannuation Retirement for superannuation shall be as follows:

(a) Any contributor who has reached superannuation retirement age may [and any contributor who has reached the age of seventh shall] retire for superannuation by filing with the board a written statement duly attested setting forth on what date he desires to be retired. Said application shall make the superannuation retirement allowance effective on the date so specified if such application was filed in the offices of the board or deposited in the United States mail addressed to the board before the date specified in the application and before the death of the contributor. But the date so specified in the application shall not be more than thirty days from the date of filing or the date the application was deposited in the mail.

(b) On retirement for superannuation a contributor shall be entitled to a retirement allowance throughout his life which shall consist of

(1) A member's annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions and

(2) A municipal annuity which shall be equal to one [one-hundredth] one-hundred-thirtieth of his final salary (not exceeding however in any event a final salary of four thousand dollars ($4,000)) for each year of total service and in addition thereto in the case of an original member one [one-hundredth] one-hundred-thirtieth of such final salary for each year of prior service if the municipality has paid or has obligated itself for the payment of the contributions of the member for his prior service.

(c) In no event shall the municipal annuity exceed fifty per centum of the final salary.

Section 26 Appropriation. The sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated and any balance thereof remaining at the end of the fiscal biennium May thirtieth one thousand nine hundred and forty-five is hereby reapportioned to the Department of State [for the two fiscal years commencing June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three] for the use of the State Employes Retirement Board and the Municipal Employes' Retirement Board for the payment of the costs and expenses incident to the work of setting up the Municipal Employes' Retirement System created by this act including the payment of the compensation of the actuary in performing the duties required by this act for additional compensation of the secretary the compensation of additional employes required and for postage telephone telegraph supplies printing and traveling and other incidental expenses. Provided however That the cost and expense of administering this act after the Municipal Employes' Retirement System shall become effective as provided in section eight hereof shall be paid by the municipalities as provided in section sixteen of this act from moneys paid into the State Treasury and credited to the current appropriation to the State Employes' Retirement Board.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

An Act to further amend section five hundred and forty of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" further defining the duties of the secretary to the board of supervisors and providing for the preservation and turning over to the successor in office of township records and for the destruction of certain records

Section 1 Section five hundred and forty of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 1299) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 540 Duties and Compensation The secretary in each township shall be clerk to the board of supervisors He shall keep a record of the proceedings of said officers in a minute book in which he shall also record the annual reports of the township supervisors and township auditors and all court orders relative to the laying out opening and vacation of roads. The minute book account book and other financial records shall be carefully preserved by the secretary and shall be turned over to his successor in office. Miscellaneous records and papers of the township other than the minute book and account book may be destroyed with the consent of the supervisors after the lapse of six (6) years from the date of such records.

The secretary shall prepare and write the annual tax duplicate of the township and shall receive such compensation therefor as shall be fixed by the township auditors. The combined amount paid to the secretary and treasurer shall not exceed two per centum of the money paid out by the treasurer except where the same would amount to less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and the calculation of such maximum compensation shall not include any percentage upon moneys paid out by the treasurer for the repayment of loans, notes, certificates or other evidences of indebtedness or other borrowed moneys.

Levy,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 402, as follows:

An Act to amend sections five hundred ninety and five hundred ninety-three of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for the appointment of policemen by the supervisors.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Sections five hundred ninety and five hundred ninety-three of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" are hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 500 Petition for Appointment of Police Upon the petition of not less than twenty-five taxpayers of any township or of two or more adjacent townships [to the court of quarter session] representing that the safety of the citizens and the security of property makes it necessary for the appointment of one or more electors who shall be residents of the county of which the said township or townships are a part to act as policemen the [court] supervisors of such township or townships shall consider said petition and if satisfied of the reasonableness and propriety of said application shall [direct the supervisors of said township to] appoint one or more qualified electors who shall be residents of the county of which the said township or townships are a part to act as policemen and to serve at the will of said supervisors.

The [court] supervisors of such township or townships shall fix the number of policemen the compensation of such policemen and shall limit the term of service of said policemen as it may deem proper. Where such policemen are appointed for two or more townships the [court] supervisors of such townships shall fix the amount of compensation which shall be paid by each of such townships. Such compensation shall be paid from township funds.

Section 593 Equipment The township supervisors may [with the approval of the court] provide such policemen with a uniform and equipment and for means of transportation and the maintenance of the same the cost thereof to be paid out of the funds of the township or townships.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. SORG offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1945.

Harry C. Stackpole, prominent civic and industrial leader of St. Marys, former Pennsylvania State Game Commissioner and father of the Honorable J. Hall Stackpole, a former member of this House of Representatives, died at his home in that town on Saturday, February 3rd, leaving behind a notable record of outstanding accomplishments, memorable deeds and kindly actions.

He was born in McVeytown on November 10th, 1875, and was one of eleven children. He left school at an early age, and while in the eighth grade, to deliver the Harrisburg Telegraph.

In 1890 he moved to Ridgway and began work in a laundry owned by two of his brothers.

When the laundry was sold in 1898, he moved to St. Marys as assistant cashier of St. Marys National Bank.

In 1906 he organized the Stackpole Battery Company, in 1912 changed to the Stackpole Carbon Company, an industry which has performed and is now performing outstanding service in the present war effort. He remained as president of the company until 1940, when he resigned to become chairman of the board of directors.

His interest in the community in which he lived was constant and his name became synonymous with the development of St. Marys. Several years ago, the American Legion Post in St. Marys, in recognition of his civic activity, awarded him a Distinguished Service ribbon.

Mr. Stackpole was president of the Gulf Stream Corporation, Miami Beach, Florida, director of the Harrisburg "Telegraph," St. Marys Trust Company and St. Marys National Bank.

During his life he took an active interest in public affairs and was an ardent devotee of outdoor life. He was a member of the State Game Commission during Governor John S. Fisher's term.

He is survived by his widow, Adelaide Wittman Stackpole, and four children, Lyle H., Mrs. Frank N. Townsend, New York City, J. Hall and Jude, of St. Marys, and Harrison, member of the armed forces, now stationed in Guam.

One sister, Ella, Mrs. Frank Oyster of Asheville, N. C., and a brother, Don C. Stackpole, of Marion, Pa., also survive; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that in the death of Harry C. Stackpole, the Commonwealth has lost a former official whose service to the Commonwealth was outstanding, the community in which he lived has lost and will sorely miss its leading citizen whose interest in its development never lagged and the wife and family have been deprived of the love and companionship of a loving husband and father; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of its deep sympathy, the Chief Clerk of the House is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to his widow, Adelaid Wittman Stackpole, and to the Honorable J. Hall Stackpole, St. Marys, Pa.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 360.

An Act to add section one thousand two hundred twenty-three to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" authorizing the extension of time for inspection of motor vehicles.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

ADDITIONAL COPIES HOUSE BILL NO. 1

Messrs. READINGER and STOCKHAM offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1945.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That the Department of Property and Supplies is hereby requested to authorize the printing of five hundred (500) additional copies of House Bill No. 1, entitled "An act to amend the title and certain sections, and to add certain new sections to the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1937), entitled 'An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health, animal and aquatic life, and for industrial consumption, and recreation; empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution; providing protection of water supply; providing for the jurisdiction of courts, magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof; and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters; imposing certain penalties; and repealing certain acts," by changing the definitions of "establishment" and "industrial waste," by eliminating requirement of notice to discontinue discharges of industrial waste, by changing penalties for violations, by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth, and the discharge of acid mine drainage into clean waters thereof, by authorizing the purchase or condemnation by the Sanitary Water Board, and certain persons of easements or rights of ways, and providing for the payment of a portion of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth in certain cases."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this statement is preliminary to the offering of a resolution. I hesitate to offer a non-privileged resolution and ask for its immediate consideration. I recognize I am in so doing setting a bad precedent. And yet, Mr. Speaker, there have been certain momentous happenings in the history of our world, so momentous that I am convinced that we should take special notice of it.

On the western front Von Runstedt has fought his Gettysburg and now knows that his Appomatox is near. On the eastern front Hitler has fought his Leipsig, and he knows that the day of his Waterloo is near.

On the world diplomatic front, if the Argosies of our fortune have not reached the port of final victory, yet I believe we can say confidently this morning that these Argosies have at least rounded the Cape of Good Hope, because there has been in the Crimea a conference which is probably the most momentous development in the last five hundred years of our history.

Once again, that hope that has been in the hearts of the American people since the days of the colonies can burn again, a great nation in a world at peace, a great nation leading the way to recognize the right of the little nations, all of the things that we had hoped for, the things that some of us had feared might not happen have been born again in Crimea.

There has been scheduled for San Francisco a world conference of the United Nations to which our President has had the wisdom and the leadership to appoint a bi-partisan delegation to represent the United States of America in a conference that is to reconstruct, we hope, the destinies of this world.

It is by way of tribute to the creation of that bi-partisan conference that I ask your leave to present a resolution and crave your indulgence that it may be read and acted upon at this session.

Mr. Speaker, I send to the desk the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1945.

Whereas, As a result of the recent momentous Crimean Conference in which Winston Churchill, Josef Stalin and Franklin D. Roosevelt represented the cause of the Allied

Nations, the President of the United States has named an eight member bi-partisan delegation to represent our country at the United Nations Conference in San Francisco which will be convened to devise a world security organization, and

Whereas, As a result of the Crimean Conference and by means of the United Nations Conference there is reason for mankind to hope and confidentially expect that there will be created a World Organization composed of nations dedicated to the preservation of world peace, and

Whereas, The peace to be achieved is to be based upon the recognition of the fact that our freedom loving peoples are by right entitled to their independent national existence, and

Whereas, The framework of the peace as projected at the Crimean Conference will promote freedom of trade and prosperity based upon a revived world industry, and

Whereas, The United Nations Conference as projected at the Crimean Conference offers the reason to hope that in the days to come in the new world that is to be created there will be a greater freedom from want, a greater measure of employment, a greater degree of human happiness than the world has ever know, and

Whereas, The leaders of the Allied Nations by their achievements have abundantly answered those who have unjustly and prematurely criticized them, therefore be it

Resolved, That this House joins in the rejoicing of the people of our State in their acclaim of the decisions and spirit of the Crimean Conference and that for ourselves and for the people of this Commonwealth we pledge to the non-partisan delegation that will represent our country at the San Francisco Conference to devise a world security organization, a sympathetic understanding of their aims and efforts and sustain support of their ideals.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a caucus of the Republican Members of the House on Monday evening, February 19, 1945, at 8:15 in the new House Caucus Room.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WILLIAM J. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 19, 1945, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:58 a. m.) the House adjourned.

Legislative Journal.

Vol. 29.

HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1945.

No. 18.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 19, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Most gracious God, who hast been merciful to us through all our lives, though we have often been unmindful of Thy mercy and regardless of Thy rightful claims upon us, accept we pray Thee, our confession and grant us forgiveness.

Enable us during the remaining days allotted to us to serve Thee better by obedience to Thy law and to Thy voice speaking to our consciences. Our lives are many-sided, but Thou knowest us altogether. So bring into harmony the discords of our lives that they may be lost in praise to Thee and in Christly service to our fellow-men.

Our Great Leader "went about doing good" and left us an example for right living. Give to us the desire and the will to follow Him and we shall not walk alone.

Help us to dignify the position and work assigned to us by faithful performance, whether that work be in office or store or shop, on land or sea or in the air, for thus "We are laborers together with God."

Again we pray for those in high position, burdened with great responsibilities and facing momentous questions. Give to all such the faith that will honor Thee and the wisdom that will make for world security and peace.

In the name of the Prince of Peace. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. LETZLER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS.

HOUSE MESSAGES

SENATE BILL No. 28 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection B of section nine hundred three of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 457), entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan associations; providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such associations, and of their officers, directors, shareholders, solicitors, and other employees; prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; establishing limitations of actions; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by further defining the powers of building and loan associations with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules.

FIVE HUNDRED ADDITIONAL COPIES OF HOUSE BILL No. 1, TO BE PRINTED

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the Department of Property and Supplies is hereby requested to authorize the printing of five hundred (500) additional copies of House Bill No. 1, entitled "An act to amend the title and certain sections, and to add certain new sections to the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987), entitled 'An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health, animal and aquatic life, and for industrial consumption, and recreation; empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution; providing protection of water supply; providing for the jurisdiction of courts, magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof; and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters; imposing certain penalties; and repealing certain acts,' by changing the definitions of "establishment" and "industrial waste," by eliminating requirement of notice to discontinue discharges of industrial waste, by changing penalties for violations, by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth, and the discharge of said mine drainage into clean waters thereof by authorizing the purchase or condemnation by the Sanitary Water Board, and certain persons of easements or rights of ways, and providing for the payment of a portion of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth in certain cases."

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 254, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties of the second class to insure titles of land purchased by any taxing authority or authorities in the county at any sale for the non-payment of taxes or municipal claims upon the re-sale thereof; providing for an indemnity fund to secure such insurance and the investment thereof, and fixing the fees, conditions and requirements for such insurance.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

House Bill No. 307, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two thousand five hundred four of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "Third Class City Law," by further providing for the triennial assessment of taxable property.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

An Act to amend clause IV, section seven hundred and two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Law," designating the purposes for which appropriations may be made to fire companies; and requiring annual report by such fire companies of expenditures of appropriated moneys.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

House Bill No. 338, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two, seventeen, eighteen, twenty, and twenty-six of the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 886), entitled "Municipal Employees Retirement Law," changing certain definitions, clarifying provisions relating to local pension and retirement systems; changing the formulae for the ascertainment of contributions by members and by municipalities; eliminating the provision requiring retirement at age seventy; and reappropriating the unexpended balance of the prior appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

House Bill No. 344, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred and forty of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Law," further defining the duties of the Secretary to the board of supervisors; and providing for the preservation and turning over to the successor in office of township records and for the destruction of certain records.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

House Bill No. 365, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," by further regulating elections during the time of the present War and for six months thereafter; authorizing and providing a procedure for the voting of qualified electors in actual military service as herein defined, who are absent from their place of residence while in, attached to, or serving with the armed forces of the United States; imposing additional duties upon the various county boards of elections and election officers; placing costs upon the Commonwealth; authorizing appropriations by counties and cities of the first class; further regulating the last day for filing nomination petitions and nomination papers; the withdrawal of nominated candidates; the payment of fees by persons nominated at primary elections; the filing of substitute nomination certificates to fill vacancies caused by the withdrawal of candidates and further regulating the date of the primary election.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

House Bill No. 402, entitled:

An Act to amend sections five hundred ninety and five hundred ninety-three of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Law," by providing for the appointment of policemen by the supervisors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to pay the expenses of the Electoral College.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, rate regulation in Pennsylvania is approaching a crisis. Recent decisions arrived at by the Public Utility Commission and recent rulings by the Court have brought our utility rate structure to a state of unbalance. As a result, tens of thousands of rate payers in the lower consumption brackets are being improperly and unfairly penalized and discriminated against. The situation is one that calls for action.

I know the Senators, whose constituents are affected by these increases, are just as much concerned over these increases in gas rates as Senator Barr and I are—and they too will welcome an investigation of gas rates in these counties represented by them—Allegheny, Armstrong, Butler, Indiana, Jefferson, Crawford, Mercer, Bedford, Fulton, Somerset, Blair, Fayette and Beaver.

On June 24, 1940, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania decided a preliminary case of the Peoples Natural Gas Company (141 Pa. Superior Court 5) in which the Court told the Public Utility Commission that any degree of proof would be sufficient to sustain an increase in rates. This ruling permitted the Peoples Natural Gas Company to obtain an increase in natural gas rates approximating one hundred forty percent. And, for the information of the Senate, the Peoples Natural Gas Company is owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

On November 10, 1943, the Superior Court—in a final order in the Peoples Natural Gas Company case—wrote into the public utility law, by their decision, a part of the old Public Service Company Act of 1913 which this Legislature specifically repealed in May 1937. I know, because I was a member of the Legislature at that time and there was no question as to what we intended to do.

The Court, in making their decision, pointed their finger at the Legislature as a Body and said—and I quote: "Although the opportunity to debate the respective merits of these wholly different theories of rate fixing offers an alluring challenge, and extended discussion would serve no useful purpose here for the Legislators mandate is that the rate base is fair rate. The doctrine, irrespective of its merits, is entrenched in our law until the Legislature changes it." (Peoples Natural Gas Company vs. Pennsylvania P. U. C., Pa. Super. Court 153, 475-482)

The result of the Superior Court's decision was to modify the Court action of June 1940, thereby reducing the amount of increase in natural gas rates from one hundred forty percent to just an even one hundred percent. As usual, with all the late decisions made on rates, the little fellow who burns gas economically to save his bills carries the brunt of this increase.

This increase in rates—at the expense of those less able to pay—enriches the coffers of the Peoples Natural Gas Company to the extent of $1,400,000 annually. And, by the way, gentlemen, this company has averaged more than 10 percent dividends each year since 1926. Its "invested capital" was around $10,000,000—but when the Public Utility Commission issued the final order on February 16, 1944, it permitted them to base their rates on a figure slightly less than $40,000,000 using the "reproduction of costs" instead of the "prudent investment" as written in the law of 1937.

The ironical part of this decision is that the Federal Government—representing the people through the Federal Power Commission—has been steadily reducing the wholesale rates of gas, and in the Peoples Natural Gas Company a decision of the Federal Power Commission has just granted them a decrease in cost of $1,000,000 resulting from the reduction in the wholesale prices in gas sold the Peoples Natural Gas Company by the Hope Natural Gas Company. So, in reality, the Peoples Natural Gas Company is enjoying an additional income of nearly $2,500,000 a year.

I think the Superior Court was wrong in its decision in writing back into the Public Utility Law the old 1913 Public Service Act. This action by the Court makes it imperative that the Legislature adopt the necessary amendments.

It was the duty of the Public Utility Commission to bring this to the attention of the General Assembly and propose proper legislation to undo the Court's decision—for if it is not done other rate-making cases shall be based on the Court's decision of 1943. That is why I have asked to bring in the Public Utility Commission in the Resolution sponsored by Senator Barr and myself. That is why we again sponsored a resolution asking for the Public Utility Commission—who failed again to inform us they had lost a Court decision due to the oversight of the General Assembly to define “public interests.”

The Public Utility Commission is part of the General Assembly—and, as an “arm” of this Body, they have responsibility to us and must advise us of the necessary changes needed in the Public Utility Act. This they have failed to do.

And so the battle for increased rates is on.

The success of the Peoples Natural Gas Company—in adding to their income—prompted the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, a part of the great Columbia Gas and Electric system, a J. P. Morgan subsidiary, to ask for increased rates—to make them identical with those charged by the Peoples Natural Gas Company. This resulted in another $1,400,000 increase in rates.

The Equitable Gas Company, a subsidiary of the Philadelphia Company, which in turn is a subsidiary of the Standard Gas and Electric Company—a “holding” Company, owned by Chicago interests, has now asked the Public Utility Commission to bring their rates up to the same as charged by the Peoples Natural Gas Company and the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company. The Equitable Gas Company serves mostly in Allegheny County—but does serve part of Beaver County. Senators Barr, Cox, McGinnis and Klein and I invite the cooperation of Senators Geltz and Walker to join us in our fight to stop this unnecessary increase of gas rates by the Equitable Gas Company.

A fast play has just been made by the Public Utility Commission in this State. They fear that public opinion will be aroused by the elected representatives of the people of this district through the forum of the General Assembly in fighting the increase rates. So—what do they do? They postpone their decision for six months. The Legislators will then all be back in their own communities and can not avail themselves of using their offices to acquaint the public of another steal of one and a half million dollars from the consumers of gas served by the Equitable Gas Company!

The Public Utility Commission has granted increases to two companies. The records show that.

They probably intend to grant the increase to the third—just as soon as this session ends!

Mr. President, that is why I am petitioning the Chairman of the Public Utility Committee to report out the resolution sponsored by Senator Barr and me—to inquire into rates fixed by the Public Utility Commission for certain gas and electric companies—thereby permitting the members of the General Assembly and the people of Pennsylvania to acquaint themselves with the operations and manipulations of the utilities of Pennsylvania.

They are a monopoly—and have been granted this monopoly—because they are supposed to be a public service company. Gentlemen, the name “public service” is certainly a misnomer today.

Let us do our duty as elected representatives of the people by interpreting “public interests” and “public service” to mean what they are intended to mean.

An inscription is written in the House, facing the Speaker's rostrum. It reads—“Let the truth be known and the truth shall make us free”. Let us live up to this motto as Senators of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I am sure that every member of the Senate must have been as deeply touched as I was at the speech of the Senator from Cambria County last week, when he introduced a bill calling for the making of a blood test by a physician as a prerequisite for a surgical operation.

The Senator was speaking out of the depth of his own bereavement for the protection of the citizens of this Commonwealth. The safety of our citizens demands eternal vigilance, and it is well that this body give frequent consideration to their safety.

I have been giving much thought to the words of the Senator since last week, and I have been wondering how it comes about that there has been no forceful action to remove from the rolls of practicing physician in my own county of Philadelphia one specialist in plastic surgery who served a prison sentence for perjury in connection with false testimony given at a hearing in his own bankruptcy proceedings.

Governor Martin himself has seen fit to fire the chairman of the State Board of Licensure for his laxity in moving to deprive this man of his license to practice medicine and to prey upon a gullible and unsuspecting public.

The Attorney General of the State said nine months ago, and I quote: “The Governor wants it understood, that he is sick and tired of this board (and he was referring to the State Board of Licensure) this board's making it so difficult for young people to be admitted to the medical profession and showing such great disinclination to rid the profession of persons who apparently have no right to be there.”

The man to whom I refer was cited to appear at a hearing on July 14, 1944, to show cause why his license to practice should not be revoked by the State Board of Licensure. He went into court to obtain an injunction against that citation. So far as I can learn, nothing more has been heard of the matter. It has been delayed, postponed, put off—the old “stall it around and maybe they'll forget it” act.

But I don't think we ought to forget it. Dr. Paul Correll, the new chairman of the Board of Licensure, is on record as saying that this man has “no right to merit a license in Pennsylvania.” If that is so, why isn't he stricken off the rolls? Why isn't his license cancelled?

Despite all these court proceedings and statements about his unfitness, this man goes right on practicing in my home city of Philadelphia, and the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is apparently either unwilling or too apathetic to do anything about it.

There are thousands of men returning from the battlefields of the world, Mr. President, who are going to need medical treatment for years to come. Thousands of them coming back to our own state. Those men deserve the very best we can give them—nothing in the world is too good for them. That goes for medical skill, too.

We should make certain beyond a doubt that they will not fall into the unqualified hands of licensed practitioners who will take advantage of them, who will pretend to be treating them while in reality they will be unable to help them at all by reason of their lack of medical knowledge or their unfitness.

If we do not do so, we shall be failing in our obligations to these brave citizens of our Commonwealth. I, for one, do not propose to shirk my obligation in this respect. At some later date in the Session, I propose to introduce a resolution which will eliminate some of the technicalities behind which unqualified men such as the one I have alluded to can hide when their fitness to practice one of the highest callings of mankind is questioned.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CRIDER, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 195, entitled:

An Act relating to suits by shareholders against officers or directors in a corporation, domestic or foreign, to enforce a secondary right because the corporation refuses to enforce rights which may be asserted by it; requiring that plaintiff be a shareholder at the time of the transaction of which he complains or that his shares thereafter devolved upon him by operation of law; requiring security for defendant's expenses, including attorneys' fees; and providing for the assessment and recovery of such expenses, and including attorneys' fees.

Mr. EALY, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Kephart on February 7, 1945, reported the same without amendment as follows:

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROPOSE AN AMENDMENT TO THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION LIMITING TENURE OF OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

In the Senate, February 7, 1945.

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby memorialize and petition the Congress of the United States to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America limiting the tenure of office of a President of the United States to not more than two consecutive terms, and be it

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution properly authenticated be sent forthwith to the presiding officer of each house of the National Congress and to each of the United States Senators and Representatives from Pennsylvania which was laid over for one day in accordance with the rules.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 348, entitled:

An Act to amend by adding clause (g) to section forty-nine of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries, the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents, widow's and children's exemptions, debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof, contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate, legacies including legacies charged on land, the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges, the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation, the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised, the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein, the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries, investments by fiduciaries, the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents, the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries, refunding bonds, transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries, the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries, the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia, the recording and registration of decrees, reports, and other proceedings and the fees therefor, appeals in certain cases, and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents" by providing for the appointment of substitute fiduciaries to execute decrees of distribution in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. EALY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 349, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for payment to Somerset County Institution District to reimburse said district on account of certain property damages, under agreement between the Commonwealth and the institution district.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 350, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred ten of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (1933-34 P. L. 15), entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys, authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises, forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties," requiring notice of the liability to be cited for hearing on suspension or revocation and limiting the time within which decisions thereon must be rendered.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. We have introduced in both the House and in the Senate a bill making an appropriation of $20,000,000 to the Department of Highways. This fund will be allocated to counties, cities, boroughs, towns and townships to be used in making emergency street repairs as well as road repairs to meet a crisis that has arisen in mass transportation due to the very severe winter.

As the ice and snow is disappearing from our streets we find that their condition in general is such that it will greatly hamper the war effort unless local communities can embark on a large scale resurfacing program immediately. The streets have been subjected to freezing and thawing through the continued use of chains for over two months with resulting deep and jagged holes. As a result, war workers are finding it increasingly difficult to reach their places of employment because either their cars or buses have been wrecked or their tires have been destroyed, all as a result of road conditions.

The transportation of farm products from the farm to market is also being hampered. The local communities are not prepared to deal with the situation and as a result local transportation in many communities faces an emergency.

Something constructive should be done and we have introduced our bill making the $20,000,000 appropriation for the purpose of making it possible to do something. It is a fact that mass transportation of workers to their war jobs in scores of communities is being seriously hampered. Since an emergency actually exists street and highway repairs must be made—now. The local communities need the Commonwealth's helping hand. They are not in a position to carry the load.

I wish to quote from a release just made by the workers in the steel mills of Allegheny County.

"Mass transportation of workers to their war jobs in scores of communities is already staggering under the load. A serious breakdown has possibly been avoided through the use of whatever private automobiles are available. This is primarily through the current car-pool system. Streets in normal condition take a heavy toll of tires and motor parts. In normal times, replacements of tires and parts are no problem, or a minor one at most. But the present scarcity of tires, parts and manpower for motor repairing aggravates a most serious condition. Our concern that the war effort be not further impeded; that is, that workers be able to get to their jobs without any additional hazards, is therefore understandable.

"Merely to outline the proportions of the problem and say that local and state governments must face their responsibilities is not enough. The budgetary status of local government units, whether county, borough, township or city, is with rare exceptions, in such condition that this potential extra load for emergency street repair simply cannot be met."

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HOLLAND read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 351, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Highways for allocation to and expenditure in the counties, cities, boroughs, towns and townships of the Commonwealth for the repair and maintenance of streets and roads necessary in connection with the production of war materials and the transportation of farm products to convenient markets and providing for certification of mileage of public roads and streets by municipal authorities to the Department of Highways.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 352, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred thirteen of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 159), entitled "An act amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating to the borrowing of money by certain political subdivisions, the authorization, issuance and sale of general obligation bonds as herein defined, of bonds imposing no general obligation of debt and of bonds not deemed to constitute a debt for certain purposes, and to the funding of debt and the refunding of bonds; regulating the keeping and use of sinking funds; imposing powers and duties upon the Department of Internal Affairs and upon corporate bodies and officers of political subdivisions; imposing penalties, and repealing existing laws," by authorizing temporary investments in certain obligations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

Mr. GOURLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 353, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 47), entitled "An act to enable persons, associations, partnerships, and corporations to borrow money and secure the repayment thereof by the execution and recordation of chattel mortgages on any chattels of any kind or description; providing for bonds with confessions of judgments; regulating the assignment and release of such mortgages; and designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages," by extending its provisions to include loans from persons, associations, partnerships, corporations, banking institutions, building and loan associations, loan and discount companies.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 354, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," authorizing salary boards in counties of the fourth class to fix the compensation for certain solicitors; empowering prothonotaries, clerks of the courts and register of wills in fourth class counties to appoint solicitors.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

RESOLUTIONS

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WADE, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 19, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1945, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1945, at nine o'clock, p. m.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I realize three speeches have been made today by my friends, so I will spare you the next speech. However, I will ask unanimous consent to have this prepared statement, which I now hand to the Chair, made a part of the record.

EXTENDED REMARKS BY MR. JASPAN

Mr. JASPAN. Today there are thousands of citizens walking our streets who are mentally weak and physically unsound. I refer specifically to the tubercular, insane, the feeble-minded and mental defectives. They are helpless individuals, and there is little comfort that they can possibly get out of life. The Commonwealth can help them, but thus far has failed them miserably. Institutions for the insane, tubercular, feeble-minded, and mentally defectives are overcrowded, yet nothing was done to correct the situation. Promises have been made, but why place reliance in them. They have been made before, but have they been fulfilled? Apparently not.

Commissions are appointed and make recommendations to relieve the suffering of the poor and helpless, but as soon as there is a change in administration, all suggestions and recommendations are forgotten. Frankly, we are lacking in foresight, initiative and courage. Let's act now. We all remember the Butler Sanitorium—the White Hill Institution—both fiascos. Now we have the Huntingdon affair—we may as well close for all the good it is doing. It is certainly a sad commentary in the history of Pennsylvania. My immediate concern is Huntingdon. We can save it by acting promptly. The newspapers are doing a tremendous job to save the institution. The mental defective are dangerous and require proper treatment and care. The Welfare Department has lost all human touch by failing to provide the proper facilities and equipment. Inmates are confined there with little or no training, little activity. What can you expect in turn? My resolution speaks for itself. Let's forget politics for a moment and consider those who are less fortunate than ourselves. Let's forget appropriations for road and bridge building for the time being, and devote some time and expend moneys to relieve the helpless.

I offer the following concurrent resolution.

URGING INVESTIGATION OF THE HUNTINGDON INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

Whereas, the Philadelphia newspapers have been critical on existing conditions at the Huntingdon Industrial school for Defective delinquents,

Whereas, prominent jurists, especially Judge Charles Brown and Judge Nocham Winnett, long authorities on juvenile delinquency, and prominent penologists, psychiatrists and criminologists have been bitter in their denunciation of the turn that matters have taken at the Institution,

Whereas, a recent investigation conducted by the Philadelphia Inquirer brought to light shocking revelations concerning the state of affairs at the Institution,

Whereas, the Huntingdon Industrial School now used as an institution for defective delinquents lacks the facilities for the care and training of its inmates,

Whereas, the School is not now and has never been equipped to handle the many types of patients that are incarcerated there,

Whereas, the institution today is practically devoid of industries, having been virtually stripped of its training shops,

Whereas, the school is overcrowded, thereby adding to the confusion and chaos that now exists there.

Whereas, the institution is set up as a prison rather than a training school,

Whereas, conditions now existing at the school have rendered it impossible to properly classify inmates and segregate them according to age and various degrees of mental instability,

Whereas, the present set-up and arrangements defeat the very purpose for which the institution was set up and are not conducive to public welfare,

Whereas, the problem has become increasingly greater and more alarming with the passing of time,

Whereas, it presents a grave social problem, and may lead to dire consequences, unless immediate action is taken,

Whereas, the Department of Welfare, either deliberately or unwittingly, failed to reveal the true nature of affairs at the Institution,

Whereas, The Department of Welfare has definitely failed to keep the Institution operating and functioning abreast with the law and the pressing needs of the time.

Whereas, it devolves upon us, the Legislature, to take immediate action to assure proper control, management and functioning according to the law and times,

Therefore, Be it resolved if the House of Representatives concur, that a committee of ten be appointed, consisting of two members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and five outstanding citizens of the community interested in and conversant with the situation to be appointed by the Governor, whose duty it shall be to inquire into the immediate needs of the Institution, visit the Institution and confer with the officials, hold public hearings, if necessary, and make a detailed report of its findings, together with its recommendations to the General Assembly within thirty days after the adoption of this resolution.

Be it further resolved that an appropriation of $5,000 be authorized to carry out the purposes of the resolution.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1303) entitled "An act to regulate the sale of certain hypnotic analgesic and body-weight reduction drugs in the interest of public health" by redefining the meaning of "other hypnotic drug or analgesic drug or body-weight reducing drug" and adding "inhalers" to the remedies permitted to be sold at retail

Section 1 Sections one and two of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1303) entitled "An act to regulate the sale of certain hypnotic analgesic and body-weight reduction drugs in the interest of public health" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the following words and phrases shall for the purpose of this act have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

"Hypnotic drug" shall mean the drugs known as barbitol and the salts of barbituric acid also known as malonylurea or any derivative or compounds or any preparations or mixtures thereof possessing hypnotic properties or effects

"Other hypnotic drug or analgesic drug or body-weight reducing drug" shall be held to mean and include sulphonethylmethane (Trional) or sulphonmethane (Sulphonal) or diethylsulphon diethylmethane (Tetronal) or bromdiethylacetyl-carbamide (Carbromal) by whatever name they may be known or paraldehyde or any derivatives or compounds or preparations or mixtures thereof possessing hypnotic properties or effects and chloral or chloralhydrate or chlorbutanol or any compounds or mixtures thereof possessing hypnotic properties or effects or phenylcinchoninic acid (Cinchophen) an analgesic anti-rheumatic drug or any derivative or compound including Atophan and Atoquinol or dinitrophenol a metabolic accelerator body-weight reduction drug or any dinitro compounds including dinitrophenol sodium and dinitrocresol sodium Amphetamine (Benzedrine) and Thyroid when the drugs herein defined or any derivatives or compounds or mixtures or preparations thereof

Section 2 No hypnotic drug or analgesic or body-weight reduction drug as defined herein shall be sold at retail or dispensed to any person except upon the written prescription of a duly licensed physician dentist or veterinarian compounded or dispensed by a registered pharmacist or under the immediate personal supervision of a registered pharmacist and no pharmacist shall dispense any such drug without affixing to the container in which the drug is sold or dispensed a label bearing the name and address of the pharmacist the date compounded and the consecutive number of the prescription under which it is recorded in his prescription files together with the name of the physician dentist or veterinarian prescribing it Provided That the provisions of this section of this act shall not apply to a duly licensed physician dentist or veterinarian Provided however That they keep a record of the amount of such drugs purchased and a dispensing record showing the date name of the quantity of the drugs dispensed and the name and address of the patient No physician dentist or veterinarian shall dispense any such drug without affixing to the container in which the drug is sold or dispensed a label bearing the name and address of the dispenser the date dispensed the name and address of the patient and the directions for the use of the drug by the patient

Sprays eye lotions tooth-ache drops linaments inhalers and external preparations not including vaginal or rectal remedies may be sold at retail provided that such compound or mixture or preparation intended as a spray eye lotion tooth-ache drops linament inhalers or external application shall contain in addition to the content of Chlorbutanol or other drug defined under this act [407]

some other drug or drugs conferring upon it medicinal qualities other than those possessed by the drug used as specified in this act and that such compounds or mixtures or preparations shall be sold in good faith for the purpose for which they are intended and not for the purpose of evading the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

An the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in our Caucus, several members of our caucus were not quite clear on the meaning of the word "inhaler," and wanted to know whether or not that is a patented article.

Mr. CARR. This (indicating) is what is meant by an "inhaler."

Mr. DENT. Do they not allow the sale of those today?

Mr. CARR. These inhalers are sold, yes. This particular drug, amphetamine—also known by the trade name of benzedrine, and thyroid tablets, have been sold in the open market at retail drug stores, but it is a habit-forming drug. The Health Department wants it put on the same basis as other habit-forming drugs. That is the purpose of the bill and in order to allow its use in these inhalers the bill has been amended in that manner. It does not prohibit the sale of these.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I might say, Mr. President, as I understand the bill, this bill makes an exception to the inhaler because under the law, as it stands today, benzedrine is not permitted to be sold over the counter except on a doctor's prescription.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47

Barr.	DiSilvestro.	Kephart.	Tallman.
Becker.	Ealy.	Klein.	Taylor.
Berger.	Farrell.	Leader.	Thomas.
Blass.	Geltz.	Letzler.	Troutman.
Bowers.	Gourley.	Mallery.	Tyler.
Carr.	Haluska.	Margie.	Wade.
Chapman.	Heyburn.	McCreesh.	Wagner.
Coleman.	Holland.	Rosenfeld.	Walker.
Cox.	Homsher.	Ruth.	Wilson.
Crider.	James.	Snowden.	Woodring.
Crowe.	Jaspan.	Stevenson.	Woodward.
Dent.	Jones.	Stiefel.

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 238, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine hundred ten, and subsection (e) of section nine hundred fifty-one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by providing that in certain cases when a candidate is in the armed forces of the United States an affidavit by certain members of his family or by a person holding a general power of attorney may be substituted for such candidate's affidavit required by said act to accompany his nomination petition or nomination papers be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 246, on third reading entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 808) entitled "An act providing for the use of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon as an institution for the reception care maintenance detention employment and training of defective delinquents authorizing the preparation and equipment (including necessary construction) of the institution for such purposes either by the Department of Property and Supplies or The General State Authority and authorizing the necessary leases or conveyances for this purpose changing the name of the Board of Trustees of Pennsylvania Industrial School providing for the commitment and transfer of such persons to such institution and discharge therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on the aforesaid board of trustees the Department of Welfare and courts and imposing certain charges on counties" by removing the juvenile age limitation defining "defective delinquent" providing for the proclamation by the Governor of the opening date of the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon Pennsylvania and providing for the disposition of certain delinquents

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 288, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing that an equity court may not enter a permanent injunction against any person committing acts constituting a crime except after a trial by jury

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 314, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to officers and employees of the Senate and House of Representatives providing for and fixing the compensation of an additional employee changing the compensation of certain existing employees and making an appropriation therefor and for contingent expenses

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 53, on second reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 73, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three (Appropriations Act page fifty-nine) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three" providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-five

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 143, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to aid certain school districts

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 143, the bill just read, on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I ask why the gentleman wants this bill recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. This matter, in my mind, has been taken up by the Committee on Appropriations, and approved.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am making this motion at the request of the chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations. He tells me that the bill has not been in his committee. I suggest that the gentleman direct his question to the chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, it is a fact that I have been in order so far, because my friend from Delaware County moved that it be sent back to the Committee on Appropriations not realizing at the time that it was done at the solicitation of the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations. However, in view of the fact that the chairman of the committee requested it, I will go along.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 172, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing that any person who makes a gift in trust inter vivos or a gift under an insurance trust, may name the guardian of such gift for the beneficiaries when the appointment of a guardian for such beneficiaries is required by law

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 183, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 232, on second reading, entitled:

An Act requiring persons involved in civil or criminal investigations, proceedings or trials in which the identity of a person is in issue to submit to serologic blood tests upon court order; making the results of such tests admissible evidence in certain cases; requiring the tests to be made by qualified physicians and providing that the refusal to submit to such tests shall be admissible in evidence

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 19, 1945

The House met at 11 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, who art in heaven, we lift our hearts to Thee, believing that Thou who has been the help of Thy children in ages past wilt answer the cry of Thy children today.

We pray, O God, that Thou wouldst grant unto these legislators, Thy servants and our servants, Thy counsel and courage so that they may faithfully minister unto the needs of the commonwealth.

We pray that in the midst of the worldwide conflict we may have our eyes opened to the way of a just and durable peace.

We pray, O God, that we may so hunger and thirst after righteousness that we may help to realize Thy kingdom among the children of men.

In the name of Christ, our Saviour. Amen.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 19, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1945, at four o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, February 26, 1945, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from McKean, Mr. McDowell for presiding.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act providing that in cities of the first class, in all cases where taxes are due and unpaid upon a single tract of land and it is desired to divide such tract into separate parcels, the Board of Revision of Taxes may apportion such taxes ratably between or among the parcels so divided; provided that upon payment of the taxes and proper costs on any such parcel it shall be released from the lien.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know whether under the provisions of this bill, where a parcel of land has been broken up, the tax authority has the power to accept a ratable proportion of the tax?

Mr. TAHL. If the gentleman has read it, and I assume he has, he would be able to tell that the taxing authority would assess a portion of that parcel according to its value.

Mr. ROSE. Under the provisions of this bill who has the authority to determine what the value of a particular piece of property is?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I presume the gentleman has read the bill and if he has he knows that the authority is the Board of Revision of Taxes which has the sole assessing authority of the city of Philadelphia.

May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, yield and permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I will be happy to be interrogated after I have concluded interrogating the sponsor.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman wishes to continue interrogating the sponsor of the bill. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker. I will be glad to answer all the questions that the gentleman may put to me.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman advise me as to whether there is any provision made for the Board for the Revision of Taxes to act as a body in making these arrangements with the owners of the property.

Mr. TAHL. The Board of Revision of Taxes of the City of Philadelphia has the sole authority to make assessments. If the gentleman would read the act of 1939, the prior act, he would know that there is no authority that can make assessments except the Board of Revision of Taxes.

Mr. ROSE. I was not discussing the assessing powers of the Board, Mr. Speaker. I was concerned primarily with the power of the Board to act in the capacity of apportioning taxes, and I would like to know whether under the provisions of this bill the Board will act as a body or whether there is a bureau set up that will act in setting values on portions of real estate.

Mr. TAHL. The bill is very plain, I believe, and as I said if the gentleman had read the bill he would know that they would act as a body. The Board is composed of both Democrats and Republicans who are performing their duties in an efficient manner.

Mr. ROSE. For the gentleman's information I have read the bill, and inasmuch as the gentleman is the sponsor of the bill, I thought he might have discussed it with the Board prior to its introduction, and I just wanted to clear this up through the sponsor and I thank the gentleman.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. Has the gentleman from Philadelphia read this bill?

The SPEAKER. He has already stated that he has.

Mr. TAHL. Well, Mr. Speaker, has he had any difficulty to understand it?

Mr. ROSE. As with most of the gentleman's bills, I had difficulty to understand.

Mr. TAHL. Well, Mr. Speaker, I am willing to take a little time and go over the bill with the gentleman very carefully at any time he sees fit, either in Harrisburg or in Philadelphia.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this is a conversation or an interrogation, for the information of the House?

The SPEAKER. It is an interrogation. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. ROSE. If I can understand the gentleman, yes.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he wishes me to go over the bill with him line by line or paragraph by paragraph, and when he wishes to do that?

Mr. ROSE. If the gentleman will permit the bill to remain on the calendar, I will be glad to meet with the gentleman and discuss it.

Mr. TAHL. I will be glad, Mr. Speaker, after it has passed on second reading, to defer action to give the gentleman from Philadelphia more opportunity to understand this bill and to study the bill and if I can help the gentleman, I will be very glad to do that.

Mr. ROSE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if a man owns a large parcel of land, both improved and unimproved on which he owes ten years' taxes, I would like to know from the sponsor under this act whether he will be able to have the improved piece of land released, sell it at a profit and put his profit in his pocket and dump the rest of the land on the city or county?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I assume the gentleman is serious. I say this, that the Board of Revision of Taxes of Philadelphia is composed, as I said before, both of Republicans and Democrats who are men of high integrity and ability, and in whom the judges of the city have great confidence, and by whom they are appointed. These men at the present time have the right to assess pieces of ground, real estate, at a proper value, and I do not think that the gentleman has the right to assume that they will not perform their duties honorably and efficiently and conscientiously.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am not questioning the integrity of the Board of Revision of Taxes. I asked the sponsor a question and I would like to have it answered.

If a man has both improved and unimproved real estate in one piece or parcel of property, whether he can divide it in such a manner as to pay the taxes and secure a handsome profit on the improved piece of land and dump the rest of the land, which might be worthless, subject to failure of payment of ten years of taxes on the city or county. I just want that answered.

Mr. TAHL. It is not the right of the owner of the land to decide what he can do. That will be a matter for the authority of the Board of Revision of Taxes to single out a certain portion that he wishes to sell and upon which he wishes to pay taxes. I assume since the gentleman has conceded that they are men of integrity, that they will assess it according to its value. If it is the most valuable piece of ground it will be assessed higher; if it is not, it will not be. In other words it will be assessed according to its value. It will not avail any speculator or any other man to fool the city of Philadelphia or fool the Board of Revision of Taxes.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, suppose the man sold that parcel for fifty or one hundred per cent more than its appraised value by the Board of Revision of Taxes, I want to know whether he can put that profit in his pocket and dump the rest of the land on the city. That is a simple question.

Mr. TAHL. Well, Mr. Speaker, what the man is going to do, or what he would like to do is one thing, and what the Board of Revision of Taxes is going to let him do is another thing. The Board of Revision of Taxes isn't going to let a man sell part and leave for taxes a piece of land which is not worth anything. They will most likely collect on that piece of property for most of the taxes, and the part that is not so valuable will probably be assessed at a very low cost.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlemen please be more specific in asking and answering questions. This seems to be a conversation. This bill may also be fully debated in third reading, but please be specific in asking and answering questions.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think my question is very simple, but unfortunately the sponsor will not answer it.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see why the gentleman does not understand. He wants to know what a certain man is going to do. I am telling him that the Board of Revision of Taxes will adjust properly according to its value, and no man would be able to defraud or deceive either the city of Philadelphia or the Board of Revision of Taxes, because if the Board of Revision of Taxes can at the present time assess ground or real estate at any value they see fit and proper, why shouldn't they be given the right to assess pieces of ground, the same as the right to assess the whole tract of land?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the parcel which is split from the whole is assessed at a certain amount and the owner has a right under this bill to pay the taxes—is that correct?

Mr. TAHL. Under this bill, Mr. Speaker, if a man has a large tract of land on which taxes are due, and he wishes to sell part of it, at the present time the Board of Revision of Taxes cannot assess taxes on any part of the tract of land; there must be payment in full for the entire tract. This bill will give them a guide to determine the value of that particular tract or piece of land, and the value of the part that he does not sell.

Mr. HERMAN. Suppose, Mr. Speaker, that parcel is released and he pays taxes on it, and sells it for one hundred per cent more than the taxes that he paid, what becomes of that profit? Can he put it in his pocket or does it apply on the rest of the land for delinquent taxes?

Mr. TAHL. This bill is not interested in how much the man sells the land for. The bill is just to make sure that the city of Philadelphia will collect the taxes for the part of the land that he sells that properly valued good value, to make sure that the part remaining has the proper value. If that is not plain I don't know what is. I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman read the bill again.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in order not to take any more time of this House, I see that I cannot get an intelligent answer to my inquiries, I will have to close.

Mr. TAHL. I am very sorry, Mr. Speaker. I tried to explain.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Did I understand the Speaker to rule that this bill was not subject to general debate on second reading?

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair did not so rule. This bill is subject to debate of course on second reading. The Chair merely requested the gentlemen to be specific in their questions and answers and to confine themselves to the question.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I again desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Did I understand the gentleman to say in response to the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, that the Board of Revision of Taxes has the right to assess the value of the different portions into which a property may be divided?

Mr. TAHL. It does not at the present time, Mr. Speaker. This bill seeks to give them that power.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, has the sponsor read this bill?

Mr. TAHL. For the information of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, I helped draw the bill.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, may I call the gentleman's attention to line five of the bill which says that the Board of Revision of Taxes, is hereby authorized to apportion such taxes ratably between or among the partials so divided.

I don't see after reading this bill over several times where the board has any right whatsoever to reassess any portion of the property.

I would like again to ask the sponsor whether he feels that the Board of Revision of Taxes has the right to reassess the value of any portion of the property which might be divided.

Mr. TAHL. Not reassess, Mr. Speaker. The Board of Revision of Taxes has a right to put a value on a particular portion of a tract of land on which to pay the taxes.

I want further to say, Mr. Speaker, that this bill has been gone over by the city solicitor of Philadelphia, and the city solicitor of Philadelphia thinks that this bill will do just what I said it would do.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me where in this bill there are any words whatsoever which give the Board of Revision of Taxes the authority to assess any portion of a property as to its value.

Mr. TAHL. Well, Mr. Speaker, that is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. ROSE. Will the gentleman then tell me, Mr. Speaker, what lines of the bill have anything to do with that particular point?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to help the gentleman out on this bill.

Section one of the bill provides, line three,—I will read the whole section,

"In the cities of the first class in all cases where taxes are due and unpaid upon a single tract to land and it is desired by the owner or owners to divide such tract into separate parcels the Board of Revision of Taxes is hereby authorized to apportion such taxes ratably between or among the particles so divided."

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean that the provision of the bill on line five, that the Board of Revision of Taxes "is hereby authorized to apportion such taxes ratably between or among the parcels so divided," gives the Board the authority to determine the value of a particular portion of the property?

Mr. TAHL. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I see nothing there indicating that the Board has the authority to determine the value. All that the bill says is that the Board of Revision of Taxes is authorized to apportion taxes ratably, and I would like to know whether the Board has a right to determine the value.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I think under this section they will have the right to do that, and that is the opinion of the city solicitor of Philadelphia.

Mr. ROSE. The gentleman has stated, Mr. Speaker, that he has had the opinion of the city solicitor of Philadelphia. I would like to inquire if the city solicitor of Philadelphia has told him that the Board of Revision of Taxes under this bill would have the authority to determine the value of a particular piece of property and not ratably apportion the taxes, but fairly determine the value of a portion of the property.

Mr. TAHL. That is what ratably means, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. I asked the gentleman whether the city solicitor has told him that the Board of Revision of Taxes under this bill would have the authority to determine the value of a part of the property? Did the city solicitor give him such an opinion?

Mr. TAHL. The city solicitor, Mr. Speaker, in charge of this particular bill has so informed me, and I agree with him.

Mr. ROSE. Then I cannot read English, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an important bill as far as the city of Philadelphia is concerned. The Members from Philadelphia have been bombarded with a lot of mail from people who are against this bill. There seems to be a lot of confusion as to what this bill stands for.

I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities and Counties—First Class for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this motion comes with very poor grace, from the other side particularly, when at the request of the Democratic delegation from the city of Philadelphia I deferred bringing out this bill for over a week. Furthermore at the request of another member of the Democratic delegation this evening I agreed that when the bill is on third reading I would put it on the postponed calendar. That was the agreement and understanding, and I think at this time it comes with very bad grace for them to make a motion to send it back to the committee. I ask the Members to vote down this motion. I also ask the Philadelphia Members on the other side to vote down the motion.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I have again read this bill and it seems to me in the clearest and most simple of English,—and the sponsor has usually prepared simple bills,—I find that there is no authority given to the Board of Revision of Taxes.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, we are on a motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Rose is debating the bill on the question on a motion to recommit. The gentleman is clearly not in order in doing so. The question before the House is on a motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, may I make this comment, in view of the fact that this bill is subject to so many different interpretations, I ask that the Members of the House vote to recommit this bill to the Committee on City and County—First Class, so that it may be properly discussed and the intention of the sponsor placed in the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third section and title were separately read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry there has been such a protracted debate on this subject, but there is something I want to find out before this bill passes second reading.

In Pittsburgh, in transactions like this it is necessary to file a deed as evidence of good faith that an actual transaction has taken place, that there is reason to divide the property because a portion of it has been sold.

In this instance there is no requirement that any evidence of good faith be shown, and it is a fundamental defect in the bill. I am sure that the sponsor of this bill before it comes to final passage will want to consider that point and remedy that particular defect in his bill.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the gentleman from Cambria that there is no desire to rush through this bill. I will be very glad if there are suggestions that the other side has, or anyone else, that will improve the bill, we will welcome such suggestions. I am still trying to give them time to do that. When the bill comes out on third reading, I will ask to postpone action on it. There is no desire to rush this bill through. We want to make sure that it is a proper bill for the interest of the people of Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 268, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," excluding annuities granted to employes by employers in consideration of a long period of service.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McKINNEY offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 1), page 5, line 17, by inserting after the word "annuities" the words: "and pensions."

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 1), page 5, line 19, by inserting after the word "service" "nor to annuities or other benefits granted to or purchased for employes or their beneficiaries by employers under an employes retirement plan including plans to which employes contribute a portion of the cost."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. McKINNEY offered the following amendment:

Amend title, page 1, twelfth line of title, by inserting after the word "annuities" the words: "and pensions."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 320, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 319), entitled "An act authorizing the waiver of trial by jury in certain criminal cases, and the trial of such cases by a judge without a jury; regulating such trials; and conferring a jurisdiction upon the judges of the several courts in such cases," by extending the act to all cases except murder and treason.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 329, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred one and section three hundred three and to amend section three hundred four of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 789), entitled as amended "An act relating to insurance establishing an insurance department and amending revising and consolidating the law relating to the licensing qualification regulation examination suspension and dissolution of insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and interinsurance exchanges and certain societies and orders the examination and regulation of fire insurance rating bureaus and the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and brokers the service of legal process upon foreign insurance companies associations or exchanges providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by further regulating the computation of the reserve liability of life insurance companies deficiency reserve requirements and the acceptance of valuations made by other states.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance for the purpose of further study and a possible hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, might I ask the gentleman whether his phrase, "possible hearing" means that the hearing is in doubt?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, there is a possibility of someone wanting a hearing and we do want to grant them that privilege if they want a hearing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 330, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by amending section four hundred ten (410) thereof relating to uniform policy provisions by adding thereto section four hundred ten A (410A) relating to non-forfeiture benefits and cash surrender values required in life insurance policies and by amending section four hundred twenty C (420C) thereof relating to uniform industrial policy provisions.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance for the purpose of further study and a possible hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Kline.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KLINE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know, Mr. Speaker, from the gentleman from Schuylkill whether any hearing on this bill will be a public hearing?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, we will grant anybody a chance to be heard, no closed meeting. If he wants to call it a public hearing we will call it such and everybody will have an ample opportunity to be heard.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 377, entitled:

An Act to prohibit experiments upon living dogs, and providing a penalty for the violation thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he has any objection if another bill on the calendar relating to fire hydrants might not be studied at the same time.

Mr. JAMES. I haven't the slightest objection, Mr. Speaker, as long as they keep these dogs happy.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 274, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (g) of section one thousand three hundred four of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by definitely specifying the place where the records of professional examining boards shall be kept.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 342, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and three (P. L. 14) entitled "An act concerning proxies authorizing representation and voting of shares of capital stock of corporations at meetings and elections thereof" by further regulating the execution of proxies.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 359, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections three four and five of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 589) entitled "An act to promote the public health and safety by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering regulating barber shops and barber schools and apprentices and students therein regulating compensation for service rendered conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Public Instruction and providing penalties" by further regulating the examination and licensing of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FREED offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 5), page 6, line 28, by inserting after the figures "1932" "or performed the duties of a barber in the armed forces of the United States during any part of the war in which the United States is now engaged and has been honorably discharged from such service."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 361, entitled:

An Act giving the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the acquisition by the United States of America of a tract of land in the Fortieth Ward City of Philadelphia Commonwealth of Pennsylvania known as the Naval Ammunition Depot of Fort Mifflin Pennsylvania and ceding jurisdiction to the United States.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 363, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 33, entitled:

An Act to reappropriate certain moneys heretofore appropriated to the Armory Board of the State of Pennsylvania for a memorial or monument in memory of the residents of Dauphin County who served in the forces of the United States during World War I; and limiting the scope of such memorial.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 246, entitled:

An Act defining and regulating the practice of Chiropody and providing penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McKINNEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, does this bill give a chiropodist the right to treat hands as well as feet?

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, the bill clearly says the human foot.

Mr. HERMAN. The feet only, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McKINNEY. Feet only.

Mr. HERMAN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I want to read lines six and seven of the bill. It says

"Surgical treatment of abnormal nails, all superficial excrescences occurring on the hands and feet."

Mr. McKINNEY. I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker, that amendment was put in in committee and I hadn't noticed the "hands".

Mr. HERMAN. Well then, Mr. Speaker, I would again ask the question whether this gives the chiropodist the right to treat the hands.

Mr. McKINNEY. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in section one of the present law it reads as follows and this bill strikes out the following:

"Chiropody or podiatry as defined by this act is the diagnosis and treatment of ailments of the human foot. This act shall not confer the right to amputate a leg, foot, toes or the use of any anesthetic other than local treatment of any constitutional disease."

That is stricken out from the present bill.

Mr. McKINNEY. That is true, Mr. Speaker. That was my bill, and that was stricken out, and the amendment has been inserted by the committee.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, is it the intent of this bill to give authority to chiropodists to amputate fingers, hands and feet?

Mr. McKINNEY. It certainly is not. They cannot do surgery. The bill specifically tells what they can do.

Mr. HERMAN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth and fifth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 113, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three hundred ten and three hundred eleven of Article III of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for monthly returns and payments by certain issuing agents and requiring that amount of bond of issuing agents shall be fixed by Secretary of Revenue

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RAY L. RILEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 24, by adding at the end thereof the following: "nor more than three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) for each place where licenses are issued."

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 25, by adding at the end thereof the following: "if an agent has more than one place where licenses are issued he may supply a blanket bond covering all places."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members on this side of the House, I went over these amendments with the sponsor, and I ask the Members on this side of the House to support the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments have already been agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 317, Printer's No. 32, was passed over at the request of Mr. MAHANY.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 382, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by authorizing such townships to regulate parking

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Clause XXII of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" as added by the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 119) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 702 Supervisors to Exercise Powers The corporate powers of townships of the second class shall be exercised by the township supervisors They shall have power

[XXII] XXIII Regulation of Parks To regulate by resolution the use and enjoyment by the public of any park or recreational grounds owned and operated by charitable organizations for the use of the public without charge to prescribe rules for the use by the public of such parks and recreational grounds and the facilities and amusements connected therewith and to make any violation of such rules when posted at conspicuous places in such parks or recreational grounds punishable in a summary proceedings before any justice of the peace alderman or magistrate of the county by the payment of costs of prosecution and a fine of not less than two dollars ($2.00) or more than ten dollars ($10.00) and in default of the payment thereof imprisonment in the jail of the county for a period not exceeding five (5) days

Any police officer when displaying a badge or sign of authority may arrest upon view any person violating any such rules and such peace officer shall forthwith make and file with the justice of the peace alderman or magistrate before whom the arrested person is taken an information setting forth the offense

Section 2 Section seven hundred two of said act is hereby amended by adding thereto after clause XXIII clause XXIV to read as follows

Section 702 Supervisors to Exercise Powers The corporate powers of townships of the second class shall be exercised by the township supervisors They shall have power

XXIV Regulation of Parking To regulate parking so as to promote the convenience and protection of the public Provided such regulation shall not contravene the provisions of The Vehicle Code

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Duffy, Levy,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 408, Printer's No. 55, was passed over at the request of Mr. FRANK E. SNYDER.

COMMITTEE REPORT

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules, Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 103.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? Is there objection?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry in regard to this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that under the procedure you are now working on this resolution is going to be presented to the House for action? I could not distinguish from the manner in which the Speaker announced it what his intention was. Unless the resolution is read for the information of the House I will have to object to immediate consideration. It is too important a subject for anyone to debate without knowing exactly what it is.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger, requested unanimous consent of the House to report this resolution from committee out of the regular order of business.

Unanimous consent is not required for its consideration, if consent is granted to report it from committee, because it is a Senate Resolution for concurrence and under the Rules of the House is considered immediately.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the request for unanimous consent to report the resolution to the House at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I object to the reporting of the resolution out of order, and I would ask permission to state my reasons for objecting.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I have been very careful when I have asked unanimous consent for any proposition to bring a matter to the attention of the Majority Leader, and I think we should maintain as a precedent that practice. I do not think that on our side we should be subjected to the threat of surprise.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. LYONS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add two additional sponsors to a resolution.

RESOLUTION

ST. PATRICK'S BIRTHDAY

Messrs. LYONS, BRICE, MORAN and FINNERTY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1945.

There is an old legend in connection with the life of St. Patrick to the effect that the 17th day of March is not his birthday, and that the celebration of that day is only the result of a compromise made in the interest of harmony, and for the preservation of human lives.

In years long past, there were many sons of Ireland who believed that March 8th was the day upon which the Irish snakechaser had been born, but, sad to say, many others were convinced that he had first seen the light of day on March 9th.

As a result of this divergence of opinion, those who believed in the theory of eight, held their celebrations on that day in March, and those who differed did their celebrating on the following day.

This divergence of opinion not only made for different banquet dates, but for hospital and funeral dates as well, and the fights that were precipitated by the arguments held over the all-important question, left behind them many widows and orphans.

In order to settle the question and bring to an end the slinging of brick-bats and shillelaghs and to decrease the death rate and the need for charitable homes for widows and orphans in Ireland, a priest whose name has unfortunately been lost to posterity, suggested that the differences be adjusted by adding the two different dates and holding joint and friendly celebrations on March 17th.

This was done to the everlasting credit of the Irish and since that time, on that new date, they have jointly celebrated, St. Patrick rests more quietly, the celebrations are less quarrelsome, and the death rate has decreased.

It is the custom of the Irish Members of the General Assembly and of the Press and other Irishers to meet on this compromise birthday of St. Patrick and fittingly celebrate the day and to do honor to their glorious ancestor, at which time the only bricks thrown are verbal ones and the only damage resulting is to their digestive processes; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That a legislative committee is hereby created consisting of twenty Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and fourteen Members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to arrange for a fitting and suitable celebration of the compromise birthday of St. Patrick by the Members of the General Assembly and their guests.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WELSH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House this evening a former Member from Allegheny County, Mr. Anthony J. Gerard, better known as "Tony Gerard," who is now Recorder of Deeds of that County.

PRESENTATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls to the rostrum the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Munley. The Chair presents a German Bible to the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Munley, from Mr. Charles Schmidt, and also requests that he carefully read it so that he might be better prepared to celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I possibly should ask consent also of the Majority Floor Leader to use his private "mike" over here, but I cannot get used to the habit of turning my back to a part of the House when I attempt to say something. I sat for so many years down here in this angle where I could look the House in the face, and I found it rather disconcerting a few weeks ago when I tried to say something to this House to have to stand at the microphone half way up the aisle where I realized that a part of the House was behind me.

I am particularly interested, Mr. Speaker, in the presentation of that German Bible, because we seem to have gone astray a bit in this House tonight. I saw earlier in the evening that we had a Black Shirt Fascist in the person of the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, who earlier in the evening made the statement that he could not get into his room or something of that kind to get a clean shirt, but somebody told me that he hadn't paid his laundry bill and therefore he had to appear in that black shirt.

I trust this is not setting a precedent in that we have a German Bible and a Black Shirt. We have had a lot of queer things in my time in the House, but never anything like that.

A week ago I attempted to say something to the Members of this House to which I am rather inclined to think a great many Members of this House paid little attention. I am accustomed to having things I say disregarded by people. One who has been here for any length of time knows that he generally gets very little attention for the things he says, and that what he does say bears very little weight. Nevertheless I was not insisting upon any attention for myself, because I was talking on one of the most important and vital questions before the people of America today, and I had hoped that the Members of this House might have gained some information out of the words and out of the things I said on that occasion. But, as I said, speeches very rarely have any great value in this House. Perhaps I have made as many that went on the air, floated around and landed nowhere as any Member of the House. I remember only two or three speeches that ever had any great results in this House, but I must with all modesty—I know that you men who know me so well will agree. And the visitors who are here tonight, who do not know me quite so well, perhaps you will tell them in my behalf that I am just a modest and shrinking violet, and I would hesitate to say anything about the speech of a week ago were it not for the surprising results of that speech.

I want to say, as I said to you then, there are very few speeches of the many that I have made that apparently did any good. They failed to percolate past the stony fringes of the foreheads of the Members of the House. Nevertheless that speech did have very surprising results.

You will remember I told you something about Federal and state action with regard to war problems, and I tried to tell you something about the encroachment of the Federal government to the extent where it looked as though we were going to be deprived of any opportunity to defend our interests in our water resources.

I tried to tell you something about the pollution of the streams and about the Schuylkill River and the necessity for cleaning up the conditions in the Schuylkill River. I felt that unless you saw to it that the public were deeply interested in this question, that you were missing the boat and that you were not realizing the signs of the times.

On this side of the House we have had a rather catastrophic experience, Mr. Speaker, for our failure to realize some of the signs of the time in the past decade, and we have thereby created a dynasty in this country that many of my Republican friends dislike to talk about a great deal, but it was due to the failure on our part to catch the actual feeling of the people. I know from the comments in the newspapers that the people are deeply interested, and I do not want the Members of this House, whether Democrats or Republicans to fail to realize the importance of the problem. As I said, this speech had a peculiar effect. I had hardly completed it when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, got up and said that a colleague of his had introduced an appropriation bill for ten million dollars to clear up the Schuylkill River. That was a quick result from the statement I made.

The next day the coal operators came in here swinging fists and cudgels and uttering loud cries as to what it would do to the coal industry. And then I read him a paper stating that they were willing to go along. I hadn't expected it to have any effect upon the hard coal industry but it did. I don't want to seem to take any credit, but nevertheless that is what happened following my speech.

Then I was amazed to read in the newspapers that the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, over in the Senate, had immediately introduced a bill for $12,500,000, and he was going to do a lot of dredging or something like that in the Delaware River to make Philadelphia a better port.

Then to my astonishment I read in the papers that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspán, had proposed that Philadelphia go out and get a new water supply, and I had the suggestion made to me by some Members from the hard coal regions as to whether Philadelphia should not go out and get a new water supply. In fact one of my own colleagues told me they were going to put canned salmon down the Schuylkill so that they could have fishing uninterrupted by the pollution of the river and the silt.

But then I began to sum up with these immediate friends and I began thinking about the ancient saying about the gift-bearing Greeks, and I began to wonder whether this talk about a new water supply for Philadelphia would not cost more than two or three hundred million dollars. That is a mere bucket of shells in times like these—if it wouldn't cost any more than that. They have a good, adequate water supply in the Delaware River if they just clean up the Delaware River. It has nothing to do with the silt problem in the Schuylkill although the silt is clogging up the intake for the Philadelphia water supply and the supply of many other municipalities, but nevertheless I began to see there was some kind of plot.

As I said at the end of that speech, I was not going to be fooled by the cloud being created. We have acquired a lot of ability in creating clouds, and I thought some people were trying to get us off the question of the Schuylkill by creating a fog about the water supply of Philadelphia. Let us not be fooled, gentlemen. As I said this problem is a vital one, for there are three bills, which I mentioned in my speech, in the Congress of the United States, three bills are in Congress now to have the Federal government take over the pollution problem. Do the industries of Pennsylvania want to have to go down to Washington in order to get relief, in order to get some stay in order that they may meet the problem, or are they going to sit down and face a sensible program in Pennsylvania?

Are our municipalities going to be forced by federal agencies to do what we ought to do here in the State?

And then as a surprise I see also that the new Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. Myers, has introduced in Congress a bill which said that the Federal government would give the states two years to do their job, and if they didn't do it, a commission would be created under that bill that would come in and do the job.

I think Mr. Myers has some sound common sense when he talks that way, because it is just in line with what I have been saying, if you don't do the job in the State, if you do not do the job here, the Federal government is going to come in and do it.

And then no later than a few days ago the former Republican Governor of Ohio, Mr. Bricker, the recent Republican candidate for Vice President, made a speech in which he referred to the Ohio River Basin Pact. That is another distasteful situation. The other States are willing to go along, but Pennsylvania hangs back.

I introduced tonight House Bill 662 which provides for standards of quality of the water in the Delaware River. It is a part of our all-over program for the cleaning up of that river. It has been adopted by the state of New York as far back as 1939, and by the state of New Jersey I think in 1941 and in Delaware possibly the same year, yet Pennsylvania has held off and consistently refused to pass this measure, although it was introduced in 1939 and 1941. It was not introduced in 1943. We are introducing it at this time because of the awakened knowledge in the House, the drive that the administration is putting behind it, and the fine efforts made by the Attorney General of this Commonwealth to try to carry out this program. We believe that now is the time that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will do her part because, gentlemen, the question is not between the Federal government and the states as to states rights. It is a question of states' responsibilities. Will the states live up to their responsibilities? Every pressure group that goes to Washington and asks the Federal government to take over some problem, the same thing happens, "We tried to get the states to do the job, we tried to get the states to live up to their responsibilities, but the states have fallen down, and we have no recourse but to go to the Federal government."

So on the Ohio River where we are great contributors in the western part of the state to the problem, we ought to be a part of the Ohio River Basin Pact. If not, we will be driven to do it by a Federal agency, and if you do that you will have control by a Federal agency, rather than the state agency.

I never believed that we should put great burdens on industry until we clean up our own backyards. Let us get sewage disposal plants in our own municipalities and let the average tax payer bear his share of cleaning up the streams before we say to industry "Clean up yours." The time is coming now when we are cleaning up from the municipal standpoint, and industry must do its part. You can't ask industry to do its part overnight, to transform overnight and erect great treatment works to clear the affluence from their mills and mines. There are many engineering, chemical and economic problems to be solved, but we should have a program and should have industry solidly behind the program, because it will affect the economic future of the state.

Today I sat in a meeting of the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee of the House and I listened to the director of the Postwar Planning Commission telling us of the great program they have envisioned for Pennsylvania, the things they want to do for its industries, agriculture, soil erosion, reforestation, but undoubtedly the greatest problem of all of those and the basic problem concerning all of those is this question of water in Pennsylvania, and you are not going to have water for industry, you are not going to have water for labor and you are not going to have water for agriculture, you are not going to have water to serve the economic industry in this great industrial state unless we here in this Legislature in this Session do our part to move forward the program.

So let us not be fooled, let us not have our eyes diverted, let us turn away from the negative position and let us take a constructive and positive position. Let us go forward and accomplish something that the people of Pennsylvania are going to demand, and if they don't get it this time, they are going to turn out any group of politicians that stands in their way.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FREED asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk on two subjects and I would like you to bear with me and take home to your immediate sections what I say and try to study the project as I see it in Allentown, Lehigh County.

To start out with on this subject, I would like to refer to a letter that I wrote to our Governor back on July 23rd. On that date I wrote him a letter saying:

Reading the Sunday Inquirer I read—"Jobs for Vets urged by Governor Martin," hence this letter.

This is going to be and is right now one of the big factors and from my experience of five months in an ALLOUT Defense plant my answer is that any man that has had any service in the armed forces would be better off if he could erase the time he tried to do his bit for his country and the outstanding reason is envy—by who—some foreman, super or plant manager that has evaded the draft under the term used "indispensable employee".

This being the case as I see it, it is hard for the ex-soldier to adjust himself and for the fathers and mothers of service men to stand by on the home front in these plants which the latter are not there only for the money they make but to shorten this war, if possible. You will find on checking with the employes it is not (what you know, it is who you know) regardless to waste, expense or the holdup of production.

I believe, Governor Martin, if some checkup could be made by our Labor Department in the smaller brackets in industry we could avoid a lot of labor troubles. My experience in industry shows me that at no time do they or will they—meaning the workers—object to the advancement of someone that knows their job or operations required in their departments but when they put men in charge that are inexperienced and lack leadership is when labor slows up, sits down or strikes on some small thing that some inexperienced so-called leader that knew someone instead of knowing something about his work—then trouble starts.

Hoping that I may be of some help in this state of ours to make this state outstanding for industries and fair treatment to its labor, I am

I bring in that letter, Mr. Speaker, because the Governor then answered with a very, very brief letter, not knowing or not thinking that I too possibly had served, and that we have members of our family who are serving now, he answered me in about five lines, and he said

"I am a soldier and was a soldier and I know that they will be taken care of when they come home."

The reason for coming back to that is that I would like to refer to, without reading or taking your time, three different news articles in three different papers at three different times, February 6, 7 and 8 in our hometown of Allentown. The last one of these papers says

"The job skipping, ex-service men damaging cause of war weapons."

In this article they turn around and say they feel that the time should be shortened for this job skipping ex-service man. I mean to say that according to this paper of February 6. The Harrisburg area is next in line for the Allentown Plan application. You will find the papers are full of what is taking place down in Allentown at this time, and they are all going to apply the Allentown plan.

What does the Allentown plan mean? The Allentown Plan means that any independent operator must give up any amount of men they see fit to call upon to be sent to these particular plants.

I have asked the Labor Board, or this War Labor thing here, Dr. Frank P. Maguire, area director of the War Manpower agency and Anderw K. Wilson, manager of the U. S. Employment Service of Allentown, I have asked them to make a survey and a study of these particular plans. I have asked them for a study as to whether these men are working in these particular plants. I have asked them why these particular service men are skipping their jobs in these particular plants. I told them that on their investigation they would definitely find if before they went there they called up for an appointment or stated they would be in at a certain time, they would find that old Paul Revere would ride right down to this plant and every thing would be in order. Definitely they didn't see the condition, the real condition of this plant.

I think if we can get some check up, probably by the Department of Labor in this State, that you wouldn't have that striking condition in the area and you wouldn't find the men taking over the places where they have been for many years. They take those men from the plant and then take the ex-service man and put him in that plant for the duration, and definitely that other man who has all those days and hours of service with that particular firm is naturally going back to that particular plant after the duration, and the ex-service man will be out. My idea is that we should be careful and see that that does not happen in your locality until you check and see if there is a manpower shortage. In my opinion we have no manpower shortage until we definitely have used every element available for work and before we turn around and have taken up the man that is willing to give part of his time, we should not wreck any particular industry and say "You must work in such and such a plant as long as we have men that want to work." We have men in our locality that during the winter months, and by that I presume they definitely offer their services for two or three or four months, but will not be taken up by this so-called Dr. Frank P. Maguire because they will not get the release after the four months that they are willing to give at this time.

Just this month this one particular party that I refer to that offered his services for four months was told "If that's all you are willing to give we don't need manpower that bad." And yet they will turn around and wreck one particular plant, they will tell them "We need twenty men." And the boss of that particular plant turned around and said "Alright, there is one or two or three or four of you and I will give you sixteen more." That applies particularly around here. They don't want to go in there and work, but they want to wreck this particular plant and take these people they think are wanted in these plants, and if you will look into these defense plants you will find men leaving their jobs because they are negative and don't have enough to do and they leave the plant to go into the work that they have been doing in the past.

I refer in that instance to carpenters and bricklayers and that type of men that are used to putting in a day's work. I hope that you gentlemen will look into the matter and see that something is done to stop it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, very eloquently expressed himself on the subject that has now been before this House for a second session; a subject that has been in the newspapers in the Eastern part of our state, particularly those of Philadelphia, for a long while, and a subject of very vital worth. All of these discussions are based upon general statements of the conditions as they are, but the subject of the coal content of the Schuylkill silt has inveigled me as an engineer, and inquiry has revealed that there is a vast quantity of coal in this river.

At the outset let us clear pollution and silt. Pollution refers to sewage, mill and mine wastes or obnoxious offal that contaminates the stream to the detriment of public health and aquatic life. Silt refers to the gangue minerals that are washed into the stream, as from eroded fields or washed out culm banks but principally today from the wet system used by collieries.

This problem is a tremendous one and much involved. It cannot be solved in a month, it cannot progress fast during the war because of the scarcity of equipment and manpower. But there is a way to do this job both in cleaning and in curing the silting condition whereby the coal content will pay the bill. There need be no great expenditure of public funds as has been suggested of federal, state and city appropriations.

Investigations reveal that there is a way to remove this carbon from the gangue minerals in this silt, that it can be done profitably and that it is beyond the laboratory stage. I find that markets are at hand and that there is a specific foreign market for this type of fuel; that there is a field for its industrial use in the production of nylon, rubber, graphite, and so forth, all of which may lead to new industrial developments in the Schuylkill Valley that will turn a curse into a blessing. These plans therefore should not disturb the economic balance of the anthracite industry.

There are three phases to this problem, one, cleaning the coal-burdened silt from the stream; two, stopping further infiltration and three, the cessation of pollution.

1. Allowing the necessary time for securing equipment, this can be accomplished profitably and by private industry.

2. Engineers are experimenting with methods and have studied the whole hard coal terrain, looking to practical coal filter processing plants to catch the silt.

3. The hardest rub is the need—and this I think Mr. Turner very vividly spoke about—the need for numerous municipalities to eliminate sewage pollution.

However, municipal authority laws will permit the financing of such projects as municipal utilities and relieve real estate of additional burden of taxation. When done, however, the towns are enhanced and a problem that is mutual to all has been solved.

By this token there is no reason under heaven why Philadelphia should seek Pocono Mountain water and burden the taxpayer for a one hundred million dollar debt when collectively the cities and towns in the whole Delaware River Basin should cooperate, so that each can take and use and return to the stream pure water.

This same principle applies to the coal operator's attitude. He cannot arrogantly or willfully refuse to recognize his responsibility to help in this general program. He has a public relation duty which he should recognize.

What I have outlined and that which I am working on to perfect then accomplishes other valuable purposes, namely, flood control and recreation. The Commonwealth should take over by gift as allowed by the Yeakel-Stockham law which permitted Governor James to accept the property of the canal in Bucks County from the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company to be registered and used for recreation, all right, title and interest in the dams, locks and canal bed of the Schuylkill Canal Company and to restore them from the ravages of neglect.

These dams, repaired and restored, will provide slack-water for flood control. The locks rebuilt and the canal beds restored will permit of this whole river basin extending from Fairmount to the upper reaches of the river, the advantages of power boating, canoeing, swimming and many aquatic sports for the people of Philadelphia and this whole teeming industrial area, a great playground for the youth, the retired worker and the returned soldier.

Let us pull together, miner, operator, mayor, chief Burgess, everyone, let us do a job. It will be the very best investment possible. Under the leadership of our Governor this may be a way to show how to overcome distrust and bickering and selfishness and ill will for the common weal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEONARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am reluctant to rise to add to those already uttered my protest against the completely ridiculous charges made against a very great President of a very great nation by Governor Martin of the very great State of Pennsylvania. I cannot think that Governor Martin is so wanting in knowledge that is currently understood even in the grade schools that he did not know better; I am inclined to be generous enough to believe that he was merely "caught off balance" and spoke without due consideration.

The Governor knows, as I know, and you know, that the Atlantic Charter was never represented to be "a binding commitment with signatures" that would keep England, and America from drifting into postwar quarrels over power politics. Everyone, it seems, but Governor Martin knows the Atlantic Charter was a statement of principles and nothing more. Surely the Governor knows that when the Atlantic Charter was formulated on the rolling surface of the broad Atlantic, that power politics were farthest from the thoughts of not only Mr. Churchill, and Mr. Roosevelt, but from the thoughts of you and I, and I suppose of Governor Martin, too, because then it was a case of surviving by defeating a powerful Germany which still thought it could conquer the World.

Another fact the Governor overlooked is that the Atlantic Charter was formulated before America entered the war. Perhaps this may be news to our chief executive. Certainly the Governor knew that if the President had made a "binding agreement" with foreign nations of the kind he reputes to The President, that the Senate would have had to ratify it, which the Governor knows the Senate never did because if it had the subject would have been spread all over the front pages of the papers where the Governor couldn't help but see it.

And while I am about it, I would correct another misapprehension under which the Governor seems to be laboring. He imputed in his remarks that Mr. Wilson's policies were responsible for losing the peace after the last war. I know and you know who lost the peace after the last war—and it wasn't Mr. Wilson, either, as most school boys today know. It was that wilful group, about which so much could be said, who lost the peace and who have caused the deaths of thousands of our boys in this war and at this very moment.

It is unfortunate, indeed, that the Governor of the great State of Pennsylvania, at a time such as this we now experience, when the concerted effort of every citizen is necessary to a quick ending of this frightful ordeal, when our boys, and girls, are giving their bodies and their lives—suffering unimaginable pain and hardship—should so loosely and so flippantly enter the wedge of disunity into our National war effort. The majority of the people have ok'd the President of the United States—on his record in office and in conduct of the war—so much so that it is the wisdom of patriotism, if not of judgment, to united wherever possible and not disrupt for petty political capital.

It is my studied opinion that the Governor last Monday night, not only did the cause of victory a disservice, he also humiliated himself before the bar of public opinion.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MOSER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, from 1919 to 1939 I sat upon the sidelines of this House, attended every regular and special session during that time. I saw many legislators come and go, I heard good legislation enacted as well as some that was not so good. Session after session there were many commissions created until today the state of Pennsylvania is honeycombed with commissions.

Session after session they have been given greater power until today they have unlimited power, some of them almost as much as this House. Many of their rulings are unconstitutional and will not stand the acid test of the higher courts. Some of them are beneficial in the eastern part of the state and just as detrimental in the western part. Many of the rulings are looked upon by the masses as law enacted by the Members of this House, and we are oftentimes criticized.

If my memory serves me correctly, in the 1943 session there were two bills introduced which would have gone a long way towards curbing the unlimited power of some of the commissions. Those bills had they been enacted would have given to the business man, the manufacturer, the industrialist and the utilities from thirty to sixty days' time in which to prepare their house in order to meet the requirements of the law, but under the present system they do not have a Chinaman's chance.

It is time that something be done to curb the unlimited power in the issuing of rulings. It will not be long before the commissions will be the legislative body of our state government and the Members of the House will be the messenger boys. If the acts are not right that the commissions are acting upon, let them bring in their recommendations to this body and if we see fit we will amend the laws or repeal them.

I am appealing to the younger Members of the House who are looking forward to coming here in future sessions to represent their constituents, but if something is not done to curb some of the unlimited power it will not be necessary for them to come here. And, Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that many of the Members of this House do not realize that every time a ruling is issued it takes from this, the legislative body of our state government, our rights, our authority and our jurisdiction.

Mr. BONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STONIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to my friend, Mr. Turner, in regard to stream pollution, both this week and last week. Mr. Turner made an eloquent speech for the State Authority and various agencies, but, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware what would be the cost to the municipalities in the state of Pennsylvania if the Brunner bill is passed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I do not know the total figures of the cost to the municipalities of Pennsylvania. The Brunner bill is only an amendment to a statute already on the books, and as far as the 1937 statute is concerned, it is perfectly adequate to deal with municipal sewage.

I do know that in the Delaware Basin the total cost of the sewage program, I should say is somewhere around two hundred million dollars, and I know in Allegheny County, Pittsburgh itself will have a program that will total about forty-five million dollars. There are something like one hundred twenty-seven other municipalities in Allegheny County which would participate in any program, and I imagine that that would run close to the same figure, about 150 or 200 million dollars.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, it was brought to my attention by a statistician that it would cost the State of Pennsylvania at least one billion and a half dollars if these authorities were set up for the sewage disposal projects. I wonder if Mr. Turner thinks that is excessive.

Mr. TURNER. I do not, Mr. Speaker. I do not think that anything is excessive to relieve the conditions or to dispose of unsightly, unwholesome, ill smelling and other fetid matters which are involved in this program. I do not think it is a question of dollars and cents. I think we might take a leaf from the books of my colleagues on the other side of the House, that this is a question where human values are concerned, and where the dollar and cent value does not count.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

The gentleman from Delaware says he does not think the figure of one and a half billion dollars is excessive. I do not think probably that it is, but I am wondering, and the people who are within the sound of my voice are wondering how much money that is. It seems to me it is considerable money for many of these municipalities. I feel that at this time it is a considerable amount of money to be expended on this program. That is my own opinion; not only my own opinion but the opinion of many poor people from the anthracite regions. However, I understand or I believe that the people of Philadelphia intend that they are going to have pure water at any cost. Probably when they get that pure water they will clear up the Schuylkill River, so they will get the boat races or something like that. However, Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Delaware. Mr. Turner, for his statement that the figure of one billion and a half dollars is not excessive for this program.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the record to remain standing that I said that one billion and a half dollars was the amount that would be necessary to clean up in Pennsylvania. I ran over the figures in my mind, and taking the Philadelphia area and the Delaware Basin and the Pittsburgh area I am convinced that the sum of one and a half billion dollars would be an excessive amount. I was asked the question whether that was too much to clean up. There is a vast difference between that and the amount necessary to clean up. I do know, no matter what the amount is, that we have got to clean up because we have many billions of dollars invested in industry in Pennsylvania which we would hate to lose because we failed to spend the necessary amount of money to carry out this program. So it is only a question of cleanliness and healthfulness that we are interested in.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot permit the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware to pass without notice. I note that he objects to trotting up the aisle and speaking with his back to so many people. Over on this side we have no hesitancy about taking the floor with our colleagues at our backs, we have nothing to fear in that respect. The gentleman from Delaware, if he feels that he is in any danger and must needs face his constituency upon all occasions I would invite him over on this side of the House where he could confidently speak without fear of an assault from the rear.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we cannot enact speeches, we cannot debate enthusiasm. I never saw so much enthusiasm about a single program and so little action. Eight weeks ago the people of this Commonwealth understood that this administration had a stream pollution program and we were glad of it, we hoped that the opportunity would be afforded to us to participate in the deliberations which would result in the enactment of a thorough-going anti-stream pollution program, and all we have witnessed is a backing away from the proposition, gentlemen, that you so enthusiastically sponsored upon the floor.

On this side of the House we have not presented a stream pollution program and I wonder whether by means of one dilatory practice after another you are going to compel us to do so. The time has come for agreement for definitization of this program. Eight weeks! Pretty soon you will be saying, "Adjourn, adjourn, get the Legislature out of here," and say it before we have scarcely begun to discuss actual measures.

I listened with great interest to the discussion based upon a program of legislation, and I would ask the gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Bucks with whom they are pleading? What is holding you up? Who is in your way? Why are we stymied? Where is your proposition? Now, gentlemen, I hope it will not be necessary for the minority party to come into this House with a minority party program. We would rather help you, help the people of this Commonwealth, to enact a program vital to your interest and vital to the health of the people. Everything you say is true, but where is your legislation?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I would like to refresh his memory on the action that took place just a few hours ago, at a bi-partisan conference in the Governor's office, when it was definitely agreed that a committee of the minority and majority leaders of the Senate and of the House confer with the Attorney General and report to the Governor this week on the legislation which is already introduced to carry out the conservation program of this administration.

I would also like briefly to reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard. I rise in defense of the Governor of this Commonwealth. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, attacked the Governor upon an address, I believe, made in Pittsburgh last week. He said that the Governor was caught off balance. I disagree with the gentleman, and I think that the majority of the people in the Hall of this House, and the people of Pennsylvania, disagree with that statement, because the Governor of Pennsylvania, in any statement he has made in any address at any time, I am confident, was not caught off balance. I think the record he has established for himself and for his party in Pennsylvania shows that the Governor in making any statement is not making it at random and not making it without being able to base it upon facts.

The gentleman referred to the Atlantic Charter. In my mind, and not only in my mind but I believe in the minds of many people not only in Pennsylvania but all over this nation, they have been confused regarding the Atlantic Charter, its position and what was actually meant by that agreement. And I would refer the gentleman to an editorial recently appearing in the Philadelphia Record regarding the Atlantic Charter and the confusion in the minds of many people of this nation as to what effect it really had and what it binds this nation to. Therefore, I find that this confusion is in the minds of many people and I feel it is with poor grace that anyone should come upon the floor of this House and say that a group of people, Americans, some of the same group of people that were active in tearing down the Wilson program after the last war are costing the lives of our boys and girls at this time, and question the patriotism of a great Governor such as we have, Governor Martin, the Governor of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply very briefly to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, and I would also like to call the attention of the membership very briefly to what I think is a misunderstanding with regard to House Bill 1.

I had the privilege of sponsoring this measure in the 1943 session, and those of us who served in that session saw it defeated, revived and then defeated the second time. I believe it to be a sincere program to clear the streams of our Commonwealth. I believe that effective ways have been devised whereby silt can be removed from our streams.

House Bill 1 was reintroduced at this session by me, and it is my sincere conviction ere the termination of this session it will have become a law on the statute books of this Commonwealth.

It has been reputed that House Bill 1 deals with sewage. I call the attention of the Members of this House to the fact that it is already against the law to introduce untreated sewage into the rivers of this Commonwealth. House Bill 1 does nothing to the present law on that subject. The enactment of House Bill 1 will not cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the cities of the Commonwealth or the municipalities, a cent. They can be compelled under the present law to treat their sewage and clean up their individual messes. House Bill 1 only deals with silt and in some minor respects with acid mine drainage. Let us confine ourselves to the issues; let us confine ourselves to this measure and what it expects to accomplish and not be misled by people who come to us and say that if House Bill 1 is enacted into law, our cities, our counties, our state and everybody else will be bankrupt. That is nonsense.

Mr. Speaker, it is a pleasure to sit in this body and hear the many supporters of an admittedly good program rise to their feet on the floor of this House and support it. I have remained silent until this moment and trust I will not in the future infringe on your time to any extent, but I sincerely believe, for the information of the minority floor leader, that not only will House Bill 1 be enacted, but when the good points have been clearly understood by the membership, I believe as well that the other measures which I have seen and which I believe will be very soon introduced to accomplish a state-wide conservation program—I believe that they too will become enacted into law, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can point with pride to the most progressive step undertaken by any state in the nation. We are alive to the issue, and I for one do not intend to leave this legislative hall until it has been brought before you for your action, and I hope a favorable action.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, what is the issue before the House at this time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is about to ask the majority leader if he has any further business to present to the House.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several Members of the House have gotten up here and we have wandered all over the lot. I don't know, but I think we have covered about everything I can possibly think of, and nobody here knows what anybody is talking about. There is no bill on the floor at the present time. They are all talking about stream pollution. If they are all interested in stream pollution why don't they get the bill out and be done with talking about it?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the Members for their generous and hearty approval of my request to address the House. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, seems as usual in a fog and wants to know what this is all about. I admit, Mr. Speaker, that the continuity has been broken on several occasions during the evening by extraneous matters which have been introduced into a very important program and a very important matter. However, I could not help but ask for an opportunity to just say that I thank the gentleman from Cambria, the Minority Leader, for the generous offer of his microphone.

He reminded me of the diplomacy which I heard about the other day. There was a workman killed in a factory and the foreman said,

"You'd better take him down to his home."

Casey said, "No, that isn't the way to do it. You have got to use a little diplomacy, you had better let me go down with him."

So, they loaded him into the ambulance, and Casey rapped on the door and said,

"Be you the widow Flannagan?"

"No, I am Mrs. Flannagan."

"The hell you ain't. Just look at that hearse out there."

Now, Mr. Speaker, offering me all of this advice sort of reminds me of that preacher down in our county who said to his congregation one morning,

"Now, brethren and sistern, I understand that there is an awful lot of drinking going on in this congregation, and I say to you that instead of spending the money on gin and liquor, you ought to be giving it to the church."

They all said, "Glory be, Hallelujah!"

The preacher said, "I also understand that there is a lot of gambling going on in the congregation. Instead of gambling your money away you ought to be buying shoes for your family."

They all said, "Glory, Hallelujah!"

Then the preacher said, "I am sorry to report that there are certain of the members of this congregation running around with women who are not their wives." And nothing was said.

Then the preacher said, "Brethren and sistern I understand there is a lot of you running around with people who are not your wives, and you ought to stop." For a while there was not a murmur.

Then the preacher said, "Now, where is your Glory be and Hallelujah?" Then one of the members of the congregation got up in a back seat and said,

"You ain't preaching now, you is meddling."

I just hate to leave the record rather beclouded again. We have talked a lot about these measures, and the gentleman from Cambria is right because there has been a lot of work going on this program and I want to say for the benefit of the committee that called on the Attorney-General, that the condition in which the Brunner Bill appears is becaused by the fact that there was an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters. A bill was prepared for that at the beginning of the session but was not introduced because there was no certainty as to the amount necessary during this biennium, or how much work could be completed.

The Army engineers have made a report of their work on the Schuylkill River to Congress, and it was necessary for us to confer with them and with the engineers of the Department to determine just what kind of a program would be carried on and how much money would be necessary. Today that report has been completed and has been sent to the Attorney-General with the intention that it will be submitted to the Post War Planning Commission later.

I think the gentleman from Cambria is quite justified in saying, "Where is this program?" Nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, it is on its way, it is being worked out and the necessary legislation will be introduced, I am sure, within the next two weeks to accomplish that program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am happy to learn that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, is beginning to knuckle under and beginning to obey before all of us an edict of Washington. I saw in the newspapers a while ago big headlines which said that every night club shall be closed at twelve o'clock, and remembering a little bit of what the gentleman said, looking at the clock, the floor show is now over, and I was wandering if the two leaders have anything to keep us here for.

Vol. 29.

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1945.

No. 19.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 20, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

May our desire at this moment be to honor Thee, O God, and to magnify Thy great and holy name. In reverent attitude we are before Thee. May real reverence of soul as well as attitude be ours and genuine faith in a prayer-hearing God.

We pray for our nation that it may be sustained in these trying times by divine power. May the righteousness of our cause warrant the victory for which we pray.

We pray for the President and for all his counsellors, that they may seek and secure the guidance of Thy Holy Spirit and follow that leadership.

For our own greatly blessed State we pray that her great wealth and her great influence be dedicated and consecrated to the well-being of all her people; that equal opportunity be given to all, and justice, with mercy, be administered to all.

We pray for the Governor and his advisers; may they be men of wisdom and of vision.

We pray for the Lieutenant-Governor and each member of the Senate. May Thy Spirit inspire them to follow the path that leads to honor—the path of righteousness.

In the name of Him who is "the way, the truth and the life." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. EDMONDS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

MEMBERS OF THE STATE FOREST COMMISSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 20, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following persons for appointment as Members of the State Forest Commission:

Thomas H. Golden, 632 Edward Avenue, Pottsville, Schuylkill County, until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice A. Carlisle Smith, Montrose, resigned.

Edward A. Nicodemus, R. D. No. 2, Waynesboro, Franklin County, until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, to fill a vacancy.

EDWARD MARTIN.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 382, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Law," by authorizing such townships to regulate parking.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

House Bill No. 384, entitled:

An Act to add clause XX to section seven hundred and two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Law," authorizing townships to adopt ordinances and to prescribe and enforce penalties for violation thereof; and providing the procedure in such cases and the payment of fines and penalties collected into the township treasury.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 19, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1945, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1945, at nine o'clock p. m.

CELEBRATION OF THE BIRTHDAY OF ST. PATRICK

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, February 20, 1945.

There is an old legend in connection with the life of St. Patrick to the effect that the 17th day of March is not his birthday, and that the celebration of that day is only the result of a compromise made in the interest of harmony, and for the preservation of human lives.

In years long past, there were many sons of Ireland who believed that March 8th was the day upon which the Irish snakechaser had been born, but, sad to say, many others were convinced that he had first seen the light of day on March 9th.

As a result of this divergence of opinion, those who believed in the theory of eight, held their celebrations on that day in March, and those who differed did their celebrating on the following day.

This divergence of opinion not only made for different banquet dates, but for hospital and funeral dates as well, and the fights that were precipitated by the arguments held over the all-important question, left behind them many widows and orphans.

In order to settle the question and bring to an end the slinging of brick-bats and shillelaghs and to decrease the death rate and the need for charitable homes for widows and orphans in Ireland, a priest whose name has unfortunately been lost to posterity, suggested that the difference be adjusted by adding the two different dates and holding joint and friendly celebrations on March 17th.

This was done to the everlasting credit of the Irish and since that time, on that new date, they have jointly celebrated, St. Patrick rests more quietly, the celebrations are less quarrelsome, and the death rate has decreased.

It is the custom of the Irish Members of the General Assembly and of the Press and other Irishers to meet on this compromise birthday of St. Patrick and fittingly celebrate the day and to do honor to their glorious ancestor, at which time the only bricks thrown are verbal ones and the only damage resulting is to their digestive processes; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That a legislative committee is hereby created consisting of twenty Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and fourteen Members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to arrange for a fitting and suitable celebration of the compromises birthday of St. Patrick by the Members of the General Assembly and their guests.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

REPORT OF THE DELAWARE RIVER JOINT COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate Report of the Delaware River Joint Commission of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, for the year 1944, receipt of which is noted in the Journal.

NORTH CENTRAL DIVISION OF FEDERATED SPORTSMEN'S CLUBS

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I am in receipt of a complaint petition from the North Central Division of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs. I would like to present the same to the Senate and request that it be read for the information of the Senate and that the petition be noted in the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection it is so ordered.

Whereas Section 501 (d) of the Pennsylvania Game Code provides:

"If at any time the commission shall, by resolution, declare an open season for antlerless deer throughout the Commonwealth or in any given county or part thereof, such open season shall be abrogated in any such county if there is filed with the commission a petition opposing such antlerless deer season, signed by a number of residents of that county, who held Pennsylvania resident hunting licenses the previous year, equal to fifty per centum of the total number of licenses issued to residents of that county for the previous year. Said petition must be filed at least thirty days prior to the opening of the proposed antlerless deer season."

And Whereas Cameron and Potter Counties in pursuance of said provisions, after said Counties were declared open for antlerless deer for the 1943 season, duly filed with the Game Commission their petitions to abrogate said season in said Counties.

And Whereas, after the time of the filing of said petitions, the same were disqualified by the Game Commission for various reasons, after which it was too late to obtain additional qualified signers in said Counties to sustain said petitions.

And Whereas, due complaint was made to the Game Commission regarding their actions, and explanations were requested but refused.

And Whereas, the complaint of the sportsmen of said Counties, was by resolution of the North Central Division of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs, duly presented to the Honorable Edward Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania, summarized as follows:

1. We would like to know who was responsible for Mr. Arthur Logue, Game Protector of Potter County, having issued and circulated 5,000 pamphlets. We would further like to know whose money paid for the printing of said pamphlets and the cost of their circulation.

2. We would like to know why Potter County, in the first instance, was not furnished with a correct list of 1942 resident hunters licenses.

3. We would like to know why and by what authority the Game Commission, thru its officers and agents, caused to be circulated a request directed to the Game Commission, asking for withdrawal of the names of signers from said petitions.

4. We would like to know why and by what authority the verification post card contained the following, "and I desire my name to remain on or be removed from said petition."

5. We would like a list of the names disqualified and the reasons therefor.

6. We would like a list of the names withdrawn.

7. We would like to know why reasons used to disqualify signers to the petitions to abrogate, were not also employed in the issuance of permits. (A father signed the name of his son to the petition. The name of the son was disqualified. A father signed the name of his son for a permit. The permit was issued to the son.)

And Whereas, Governor Martin in turn directed the Game Commission to furnish the information requested and to make explanations of their actions.

And Whereas, to date, the only information furnished by the Game Commission is a list of disqualifications in Cameron County, which constitutes an answer to but one-half of 1 of the above 7 items of complaint.

And Whereas, the sportsmen of said Counties and of the North Central Division of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs feeling themselves aggrieved by the refusal of the Game Commission to furnish the information requested and make the explanations due them.

And Whereas, the Game Commission is an agency of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, operated and supported solely by funds supplied by sportsmen thru license fees.

And Whereas, said Game Commission has acted in a defiant and arbitrary manner as masters of the sportsmen and not as their servants, as they are and should be, in these as well as in all matters pertaining to sportsmen and their interests.

And Whereas, said Game Commission has seen fit to disregard a reasonable directive from the Governor concerning the subject of this complaint.

Now Therefore, be it unanimously resolved, at a regular meeting of the North Central Division of the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, held in the Borough of St. Marys, County of Elk, on this 21st day of January, 1945, that this resolution be filed as a complaint petition with the Governor and the respective Senators and Representatives of the Counties of Cameron, Elk, Potter, McKean, Jefferson and Clearfield, comprising the North Central Division of the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, to the end and with the request that a Legislative Investigation be conducted by the 1945 Session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, into the subject matter of this complaint, as well as into other matters relating to the actions and practices of the Game Commission with and toward sportsmen and their interests.

Taken from the January 21, 1945 minutes of the North Central Division of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs.

IVAN HANES, Secretary
Duke Center, Pa.

RESOLUTION DIRECTING INVESTIGATION BY COMMITTEE ON FORESTS AND WATERS, GAME AND FISH

Messrs. STEVENSON and BERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 20, 1945.

Under date of January 21st, the North Central Division of Sportsmen's Clubs adopted a resolution complaining of and requesting a legislative investigation of and into the actions and practices of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, which they alleged are contrary to the spirit and intent of Section 501 of the Pennsylvania Game Code.

A copy of that resolution has this day been read to and made a part of the official record of this Senate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish is hereby directed to immediately conduct a thorough investigation of the matters and allegations contained in the resolution of the North Central Division of Sportsmen's Clubs and to hold a public hearing at which all parties aggrieved by any of the actions and practices of the said Game Commission or any of its officers or employees may attend and present their complaints and to which shall be summoned for attendance the Executive Director and such employees and personnel of the Game Commission as are in any manner involved in the matters complained of in said resolution, together with such records and other information as such committee may request; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee is further authorized to make any further inquiry into the general practices and policies of the Pennsylvania Game Commission as it may deem to the public interest and to make a report of its findings to the Senate not later than the second Monday of March, 1945, together with such recommendations as it may deem advisable.

An Act to amend the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 762), entitled "An act providing for the creation and administration of a State Fund for the insurance of compensation for injuries to employees of subscribers thereto; declaring false oaths by the subscribers to be misdemeanors; and providing penalties for the violation thereof," providing for insurance in said fund of all employers liable to pay compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1915 or the Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act their amendments and supplements; and eliminating provisions relating to insurance corporations or associations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 368, entitled:

An Act to repeal subdivision (d) of article six containing sections 651, 652, 653, 654 and 655 of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising and consolidating the law; providing for the incorporation of insurance companies; and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies; Lloyds associations, reciprocal, and inter-insurance exchanges; and fire insurance, rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," eliminating provisions relating to Workmen's Compensation Insurance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 369, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred one of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," further regulating compensation of certain county officers and their deputies and employees.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 370, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighteen (P. L. 196), entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to regulate the payment of costs on indictments,'" increasing the amount payable to the county.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 371, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act, approved the twelfth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 548), entitled "An act providing for the depositing of money with the clerk of the several courts of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer or other courts of record having jurisdiction in this Commonwealth, in lieu of bail and recognizances with surety or sureties, in criminal or quasi criminal prosecutions, desertion or nonsupport and surety of the peace cases, pending in said courts, and fixing the fees of the said clerk of the courts," by increasing the commission of clerks of courts on moneys held by them.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am sure that I am expressing the feelings of every member of this body when I say that the Lieutenant-Governor was greatly missed when he was absent from this Chamber on Lincoln's Birthday. I want to assure the Chair, however, that the business of this body was conducted with great dignity and dispatch, with Senator Walker, of Allegheny, presiding.

The next day, however, I observed the official locksmith loitering around the other side of this Chamber, and since then I have made some diligent inquiries of the most reliable members on the other side of this body and they have all assured me that Senator Walker already has a key made to the Lieutenant-Governor's office.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 20, 1945.

The House met at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD in the Chair.

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The Chair wishes to advise the Members that the Speaker is in conference in the Governor's Office and has requested me to preside until the conclusion of the conference and his return to the rostrum.

PRAYER

The Rev. Richard L. Robinson, Pastor of the Bay Ridge Baptist Church, Brooklyn, New York, a guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Ever-Loving Father. We come to Thee in the name of Thy dear Son. We thank Thee for the multiplied blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon us as individuals and as a nation. In this hour we would seek Thy guidance and ask anew Thy blessing upon this gathering. May Thy will be done in all things. We would remember our leaders and all in authority this day. We would seek Thy divine help in behalf of our armed forces. Be with the boys we love and with those who will lead them on to a speedy victory. Hasten the time when peace and righteousness shall be established in the earth. For Thy help and faithfulness we thank Thee. These things we ask in the name of Thy Son our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WELSH.

RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1945.

Some years ago we adopted in this country the English custom of playing the national anthem before the beginning of any theatrical, athletic, or sporting event. It was adopted because it was regarded by all as a suitable way of expressing our patriotism and further, it inspired a sense of unity in that patriotism.

Recently, the playing of our national anthem has become a perfunctory observance and done in an indifferent manner on many occasions. This may be the result of a too frequent playing of the anthem and is not to be regarded as a loss in patriotism. However, what has become intolerable is the manner in which the anthem has recently been played at sporting events, when it sounded like so much squeeking, squawking and whining because the record had been cracked and hopelessly worn out. The assembly on such occasions regards the whole proceedings as a farce; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby condemns the practice of playing cracked, worn-out and defective records containing the recording of our national anthem, and urges all those in charge of the reproducing equipment at public functions to make every endeavor to assure a musically artistic and patriotic rendition of the national anthem.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, for presiding.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 25, entitled:

An Act to assist young men and women of the Commonwealth to obtain a higher education; providing for competitive examinations; placing certain duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; and repealing certain laws.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 302, entitled:

An Act to amend clause II of section seven hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by authorizing the township supervisors to contract for, and furnish lighting for certain streets and highways, and to impose service charges against owners of property fronting on such streets and highways.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 702), page 2, line 21, by inserting after the word "highways": "The supervisors may provide for an equitable reduction of the charge per front foot against lots at intersections or where from the peculiar or pointed shape of lots a charge for the full frontage would be inequitable."

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 702), page 2, line 27, by inserting after the word "lands": "Provided, however, That the charge per front foot against vacant lots shall be only twenty-five per centum (25%) of the charge per front foot against property with improvements thereon."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

Mr. POLEN offered an amendment inserting a new section in the bill:

Amend the bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 4 and 5:

"Section 2. (a) All petitions by owners of property heretofore filed with township supervisors under the provisions of clause II of section 386 of The General Township Act, approved July fourteen, one thousand nine hundred seventeen, Pamphlet Laws 840, or of clause II of section 702 of The Second Class Township Law, approved May first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, Pamphlet Laws 103, and the amendments thereto, to enter into contract with electric, gas or other lighting companies, to illuminate the streets and highways and other public places in villages with electric light, gas light, or other illuminant, all contracts heretofore entered into by township supervisors with such lighting companies, pursuant to such petitions, all annual taxes heretofore levied by township supervisors based upon the assessment for county purposes for the maintenance of such lights, the collection and receipt of such taxes, and any payment heretofore made out of the revenues derived therefrom for the maintenance of lighting service under the provisions of said acts, are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated, notwithstanding the unconstitutionality of the provisions of said clause II of section 386 of The General Township Act, approved July fourteenth, one thousand nine hundred seventeen, Pamphlet Laws 840, and clause II of section 702 of The Second Class Township Law, approved May first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, Pamphlet Laws 103, under which such petitions were filed, contracts entered into and taxes levied, collected and paid out.

(b) All agreements and understandings heretofore entered into between township supervisors and lighting companies for the furnishing or the continuation as a public necessity of lighting service, until such time as valid laws could be enacted and provision made for the collection of charges from property owners for such purposes, are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated.

(c) All tax moneys heretofore collected under the provisions of such unconstitutional laws and now held in separate accounts in the treasury of any township of the second class shall be used and expended by township supervisors only for maintenance of lighting service heretofore or hereafter furnished by a lighting company, and the payment out of such moneys for such purposes are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated. Such tax moneys shall be expended only in and for the district, and for the purpose for which levied and collected.

(d) In case insufficient revenues are available in the separate accounts of a township for the payment of the maintenance of lighting service heretofore or hereafter furnished by a lighting company, until such time as valid laws are enacted to pay for such services, and payments are received thereunder, then and in such case the township supervisors shall pay any deficiency so existing out of the road tax. For such purposes the township supervisors may by resolution make such transfer from one road tax account to another tax account, or create a new road tax account and transfer moneys into such new account and appropriate the moneys in such account to pay accrued liabilities for the maintenance of lighting service at any time after the budget for the year has been adopted and the appropriation measures put into effect.

(e) Any electric light and power company which shall receive payment under and in accordance with the provisions of this section for service rendered prior to the effective date of this act in any lighting district, shall have power to apply the net rate to such payments, and to waive the gross rate or to grant discounts on such payments, and to waive penalties imposed thereon by the contract heretofore entered into with a township and which is invalidated by the provisions of this act or by its schedules or tariffs in the same manner and with like effect as if such payments or any of them had been made within the time required by such contract, or such schedules or tariffs, and the application of such net rate, and the waiving of such gross rate, or the granting of such discounts, and the waiving of such penalties, shall not be deemed a violation of the schedule or tariffs of such company on file with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

(f) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to apply to proceedings pending in the courts of this Commonwealth.

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 2, page 3, line 5, by striking out the figure "2" and inserting in lieu thereof: "3".

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendment:

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after the word "highways": "and validating petitions of property owners, contracts and agreements heretofore made by the supervisors with lighting companies, and taxes heretofore levied, collected and paid out, under the provisions of unconstitutional laws; authorizing the further expenditure of such moneys collected; providing in certain cases for the payment of the aforesaid lighting costs out of township funds, and the manner of making such payments; and authorizing lighting companies to grant discounts and waive penalties on payments overdue from the supervisors."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 317, entitled:

An Act to amend Section one of an act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 403) entitled "An act relating to the form execution revocation and interpretation of wills to nuncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to spendthrift trusts to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to the fees therefor" by authorizing members of or persons called for induction into the armed forces of the United States or of any allied or associated power who have attained the age of seventeen years to dispose of real and personal estate by will.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title by inserting at the end thereof the following: "and validating dispositions of real estate or personal property by will heretofore executed by any such person".

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 23, by inserting after the word "estate", the following: "and any disposition of any real estate or personal property made by a will heretofore executed by any such minor shall be valid and effective for such purpose."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members I wish to say that I am in favor of these amendments and ask the Members to vote "aye".

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, what the effect of his amendment is, what it does.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, this amendment will validate all wills heretofore executed by such minors sought to be legislated for under this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I gathered that. I will ask the gentleman further if the House accepts the amendment, does it not in effect accept the bill?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, not necessarily. I cannot follow the reasoning of the gentleman from Cambria. We can accept the amendment. The amendment will then become part of the bill, and it will be up to the membership of the House on third reading and final passage.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I arise to oppose the amendments. I gathered from the gentleman from Philadelphia that the amendments validate wills already made by persons in the service who are seventeen years old. We are therefore confronted with the principle involved in this bill, and the principle involved in this bill is whether young persons of seventeen years of age should be permitted to make wills.

This, Mr. Speaker, is perilous legislation. Our young people are caught in the whirl of many emotions. They have, some of them, vast property which will become theirs in whole when they become twenty-one years of age, but in which they can bequeathe their interest. This bill subjects every young man in the service who is seventeen to the danger presented by designing women and designing men.

Our caucus considered this bill and decided to take no action on it. There are some Members who say that a boy seventeen years of age who is old enough to fight is old enough to make a will. I was old enough to fight at eight but I wasn't old enough to make a will. I ask you to consider whether or not a boy who has property, who is cared for by his parents, or who may have brothers or sisters who are dependent upon him, should be permitted, in the midst of the emotional conditions with which war surrounds our young people, to make a will that would deprive his father and his mother, his sisters or his brothers of the protection which he through his property should give them in the event he unhappily fails to return.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that I have to disagree with my own floor leader on this piece of legislation, but permit me to remind the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that only this morning in the Committee on Judiciary General we considered and reported out a bill which was in conformity with an Act of Congress permitting minors in the armed forces to enter into deeds conveying real estate which may be in such minor's name.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if Congress saw fit to legislate on minors in that fashion, and if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has seen fit to prepare legislation in conformity with the act of Congress in order to permit such conveyances of real estate, I feel that this bill will also give the right to such a minor to dispose of his real estate or personal property at a time when he certainly knows what he is doing.

I have heard it said by a Member on this side of the House who had the opportunity when he was engaged in the service to have contact with many of the men in uniform, and to prepare numerous wills—he said several hundred wills—he said from his experience those boys certainly knew how to dispose of their property in the best possible way and to the best interest of that individual and his family.

The fact that this bill applies to a minor from seventeen years of age and upwards should not in any way detract from the good features of the bill. Yet, the gentleman from Cambria tends to appeal to our sentiments that some designing persons may have designs upon these individuals, but any boy who is about to enter into a conflict, not knowing whether he will return, will certainly not permit himself to become a victim of designing persons because his thoughts are centered about himself and his family, those that he thinks well of and those who are dear to him. So I say that such a person is not likely to become the victim of designing persons. If there is some isolated instance where that may occur or may have occurred, certainly the exception should not govern in this instance because the greatest percentage, the greatest majority of cases, are certainly the cases where we should try to protect him.

Insofar as age is concerned, the mere fact that a boy who may be twenty-one tomorrow, and another boy may have passed his twenty-first birthday yesterday, certainly does not give the latter boy more intelligence in disposing of his estate than the one who passes his twenty-first birthday tomorrow. There are persons thirty, forty, fifty and sixty years of age who do not have the ability or the intelligence or the sound memory, mind and understanding to execute a will in the manner which others would like them to execute a will, but we accept them and we accept them as the exceptions. We may not like it, but it is valid, and insofar as these boys are concerned, they have sufficient of proper training to know what they are about to do and we should help them in every possible way to carry out the purposes they want to carry out before going into battle. I ask the Membership on this side of the House to support this legislation.

Let me say further, Mr. Speaker, that this bill applies only to boys who are inducted into the service, to those who are already in the service and to those who are about to be inducted into the service, and it does not apply to any other minor.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to both the amendments and the bill for this reason: we have many instances where mothers and fathers through lack of knowledge of original purchases have judgments against their particular names, and have intentionally put their homestead in the name of one of their minor children. Now, they do not have the privilege of conveying this real estate, yet under this bill should they go into a foreign land and meet one of these designing women—and that is very easy Mr. Speaker, because even us older fellows up here in Harrisburg meet them—he could then actually by will convey this homestead to some foreign young lady. I cannot see any good features at all in this bill, and I think all of the membership, particularly the laymen of the Legislature, should rise up and oppose another lawyers' measure.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, twenty-two Members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred twenty in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I just had a request from a delegation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion to give them further time to study this bill. I, therefore, would move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, a question.

If I happen to find myself someday in a similar situation regarding a bill, will the gentleman from Crawford accord a similar courtesy?

Mr. MAHANY. I most certainly will, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman has been very kind in the past and I hope he continues to be just as generous as he has been today.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 408, entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class: and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by increasing compensation paid to officers and employes for attending conventions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FRANK E. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 602), page 2, line 11, by inserting a light face bracket before and after the word "four" and inserting immediately thereafter "five".

The SPEAKER. Will the House given unanimous consent to the offering of amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act providing that in cities of the first class in all cases where taxes are due and unpaid upon a single tract of land and it is desired to divide such tract into separate parcels the Board of Revision of Taxes may apportion such taxes ratably between or among the parcels so divided provided that upon payment of the taxes and proper costs on any such parcel it shall be released from the lien.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 320, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 319) entitled "An act authorizing the waiver of trial by jury in certain criminal cases and the trial of such cases by a judge without a jury regulating such trials and conferring a jurisdiction upon the judges of the several courts in such cases" by extending the act to all cases except murder and treason

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 319) entitled "An act authorizing the waiver of trial by jury in certain criminal cases and the trial of such cases by a judge without a jury regulating such trials and conferring a jurisdiction upon the judges of the several courts in such cases" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 That in all criminal cases except [where a sentence of death or imprisonment of ten years or more may be imposed] murder and treason the defendant shall have the privilege with the consent of his attorney of record the judge and the district attorney to waive trial by jury Such waiver must be in writing signed by the defendant and shall operate as an election by the defendant to be tried by a judge without a jury

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Duffy,

Levy,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 359, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections three, four and five of the act, approved the nineteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 589), entitled "An act to promote the public health and safety, by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering; regulating barber shops and barber schools, and apprentices and students therein; regulating compensation for service rendered; conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Public Instruction; and providing penalties," by further regulating the examination and licensing of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 103.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 103

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydroelectricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, therefore, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

Messrs. LICHTENWALTER and ANDREWS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1945.

Resolved, That Monday, March 12th, 1945 be fixed as the last day for introduction of bills in the House of Representatives during this regular session, except bills for the raising of revenue and appropriation bills.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this date for the final introduction of bills was arranged after a very happy conference with the Majority Leader.

In considering this date I do want to make a very brief statement. If I had my way and had been ordering events, the entire administration program would have been filed with the budget. We are now in the eighth week of this session and have not as yet begun the serious consideration of serious legislation, although we had on the initial day of this session the pleasure of hearing from the Governor concerning his budget, a budget that must necessarily have been based upon the legislation he expected this House to enact. While I would have had the administration program filed with the budget, if I had my way the minority side would have had thirty days in which to consider the points in which it was in agreement with the administration program, the points on which it desired to amend the administration program, and the points on which it desired to present legislation on its own. Had we had a program of that sort we would now have before us all of the administration's program and all the minority party program and we would be getting somewhere.

I say to you, gentlemen, that until we reform our practice regarding the introduction of bills, it will always come about that the presentation of party program will be delayed with the result that you fix a date for the final introduction of bills and then someone, before the Legislature has had time to turn around, begins insisting upon a day for final adjournment.

While we have readily agreed to March 12 as the date for the final introduction of bills we will not readily agree to a date for final adjournment until the business that this session was convened to perform has been performed.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to call to the attention of the House and the gentleman from Cambria some of the events that have taken place on the floor of this House since we have convened in January.

The gentleman is complaining because the administration program was not introduced with the budget, which was the first day of this session. I think he realizes that it is almost an impossibility on the very first day, the organization day of this House, to also take care of the introduction of a voluminous number of bills. On the return of the Members of this House on the fifteenth of January there were, I believe, on the very first night over one hundred bills introduced into the House, and if you search the records and our history you will find that many of those bills, in fact a great majority, carried out the recommendations made in the Governor's budget message.

He has also complained that up to this time there has been no important legislation considered. This comes to me with a great deal of surprise because two weeks ago when we considered the four tax measures covering the recommendation of the Governor we were told that we were rushing things, that things were moving entirely too fast, and that there was not the necessary time given for the minority to stop to consider these measures. I do not understand, my mind is confused, as to the lack of recognition of the importance of those tax measures, and I certainly think that the gentleman and the members on the other side, if they will take the time, will find that there has been in practically every instance legislation introduced to carry out the recommendations of the Governor, and we have considered, according to their own statements on this floor, very important legislation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to refresh the memory of the Majority Leader upon one point.

We did not say with regard to the majority of the tax bills that they were running too fast, what we said was that were running backwards.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the Majority Floor Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what gain, if any, there is in this resolution in setting the final date for the introduction of bills.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Westmoreland with his long years of service in the House realizes that unless there is a curtailment for introduction of bills it certainly will lengthen the time of consideration of all the serious matters of legislation that we must consider in order to carry out the recommendations of the Governor which have been referred to, and will certainly cause a loss of a lot of good time and work in the consideration of bills.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I rise at this time to oppose this motion. I am an old Member of this House and like many other old Members of this House, we find ourselves coming to Harrisburg week after week, trying to attend the meetings that are called in the House of Representatives and all the other meetings that we should attend as Members of the Legislature, some of which we do not find the time to attend. We find ourselves at a handicap to contact the departments to get information that we feel is necessary in regard to legislation in the interest of the people of the state of Pennsylvania. I have sometimes thought that perhaps during the session of the Legislature we might put the departments of the state of Pennsylvania on a third shift basis, and then we would perhaps get the information from those departments, because we find that our time is so taken up by meetings that we must attend that we cannot find time to take care of the business that we have in these departments.

I want to say another word or two in regard to this resolution. You will find that new Members in this House of Representatives, as I myself found, discover that it takes a period of time to find out the workings of the House of Representatives, and the program that the Minority Floor Leader spoke of may be in the Committee of this House of Representatives, but we find that men do not interest themselves to that extent with legislation in committee but when that legislation is brought to the attention of the committee itself or brought on the floor of the House, those men find their interests in the legislation that is introduced. I say to you honestly, Mr. Speaker, that up until this time we don't know—I myself have legislation that I possibly would like to have drafted, that will necessarily be affected in regard to the program that is put forth in this House by the majority party. I say to you that we as Members of the Legislature should not take such action. We are unfair to ourselves; we are unfair to the new Members that come into this House when we set such a date as March 12 as the last day for the introduction of bills. So, therefore, gentlemen, I oppose this particular resolution.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, let's be fair. I think the arguments set forth by the gentleman from Westmoreland are certainly all in favor of this resolution. I mean he complains about the time element for the consideration of bills. Certainly if we continue to increase the number of bills that come into this House every week, it is going to block the machinery in the committee work and there will be less time to give serious consideration to all of our legislation. Over seven hundred bills, I believe, right now, have been introduced, and by introducing a resolution at this time, by setting the date as March 12, it certainly gives everyone ample opportunity, if they have any ideas in mind on any particular subject that will require legislation, to go to the Legislative Reference Bureau and see that such legislation is drafted.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry if the gentleman on the other side feels that the argument I made here is of that nature, and I would like to ask the gentleman a question.

May I interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman how many meetings there have been of the Labor Committee?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am not the Chairman of the Labor Committee. It seems that the time that I spend in Harrisburg, coming here on Sundays and going home a day or a day and a half after the rest of the men leave, is well taken up, and I cannot talk for the Labor Committee.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Chairman of the Labor Committee?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Northumberland how many meetings there have been of his committee?

Mr. BOWER. One meeting, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if that particular meeting was only an organization meeting?

Mr. BOWER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. That will be all.

Mr. Speaker. May I save the time of the House by interrogating the Majority Floor Leader again?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman know how many meetings of—

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Lets be fair.

Mr. LOVETT. I'll be glad to be fair, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I resent that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he knows, as Majority Floor Leader, how many meetings there have been of the—

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Forty-one committees?

Mr. LOVETT. How many meetings of the forty-one committees of the House of Representatives there have been.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I certainly cannot answer the gentleman from Westmoreland for the reasons previously stated. I believe the Minority Leader will agree with me—we are ex officio members I believe of possibly all the forty-one standing committees, and up to date I think I attended one committee meeting and I certainly am in no position at this time to tell the gentleman from Westmoreland how many meetings have been held.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how many of the committees have only had organization meetings?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I don't know, Mr. Speaker. I want to say for the gentleman's information that I have the greatest confidence in the chairmen and vice-chairmen of the committees which control legislation in this House and I in no way try to interfere with the conduct of their meetings. I receive no reports from them as to the meetings which have been held or the business they have considered. I say, Mr. Speaker, I have the utmost confidence in the conduct of the work by those men.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as you have understood from the interrogation to some extent, there are a number of committees in this House of Representatives that have never met other than to hold an organization meeting.

Now, gentlemen, let's be fair. Before we say to the men of this House that you can no longer introduce legislation, let's say to the committee chairmen, you call meetings of your committees and take some action on the legislation in your committee.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that before there was an agreement on the twelfth of March, there had been publication in the papers that the date would be the fifth.

I consulted the recognized labor leaders and I asked them when they would be satisfied to fix the last day for the introduction of bills, and they said that the twelfth would let them by.

I consulted those interested in educational legislation, I consulted those interested in anti-pollution legislation, and at a small conference called by the Democratic State Chairman during the period when the gentleman from Westmoreland was unfortunately ill, the Democratic State Chairman affirmed the date of March twelfth as being in his mind satisfactory, provided the arrangement that was made with the majority chairman was carried out, which it will be, and that arrangement is this, that any bill that the Legislative Reference Bureau is requested to draw up prior to March twelfth, will be drawn and will be privileged for introduction.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker may I ask the gentleman if he has taken up that question with the membership of this House in regard to the date for the final introduction of bills.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the matter was not brought before the caucus.

Mr. LOVETT. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Mrs. VARALLO offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. LEONARD offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 21, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised. No people in all this world have greater reason to praise God than have we of this Nation and State. May we not be guilty of the sin of ingratitude. From the halls of legislation, from the homes of the people, from the work shops, from the fertile fields and from the wealth-producing mines may there come a strong and united chorus of praise to the "Giver of every good and perfect gift."

Preserve us, O God, from the folly of self-congratulation because of what we have attained in material and civil affairs. Give us pause that we may consider our spiritual failures and strive to recover what has been lost.

We pray to-day for all institutions in our State that have for their purpose the bettering of human conditions, for all hospitals and homes for the aged and defective and the needy children. Persuade us to be generous in our support of these and loving in its administration.

For President Roosevelt, for Governor Martin and for Lieutenant-Governor Bell we ask Thy guidance and protection. They are Thy servants; endow them with Thy grace.

All we ask is in the name of Him who served us to the death. Amen.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) announced that the Acting Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection B of section nine hundred three of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 457), entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan associations; providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such associations, and of their officers, directors, shareholders, solicitors, and other employees; prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers, establishing limitations of actions; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by further defining the powers of building and loan associations.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SNOWDEN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. WAGNER.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KEPHART.

With the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO OPPOSE CONSTRUCTION OF PROPOSED ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AND POWER PROJECT

In the Senate, January 22, 1945.

Whereas, Agitation for the passage of Federal legislation approving the completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project has been revived in the Federal Congress; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is vitally concerned in the effect that the completion of said project would have upon its citizens; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relies substantially for its economic stability and future prosperity on the preservation of its essential mining, manufacturing and transportation industries; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous and anthracite coal, the manufacture of steel products and the transportation of freight by steam railroads constitute important segments of the industrial life and well-being of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, The development of 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electricity as contemplated by the St. Lawrence Project would displace in excess of five million tons of bituminous coal annually; and

Whereas, The completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway would open existing markets for bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the Commonwealth, to ruinous competition from foreign coal mined by cheap labor and transported to Great Lakes ports of the United States and Canada in tramp foreign flag vessels at ballast rates; and

Whereas, The importation of steel and other manufactured products similarly produced at low cost in foreign countries and sold in competition with Pennsylvania manufactured goods would injuriously affect manufacturing industry and employment in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The diversion of freight tonnage to the proposed waterways from steam railroads serving the Commonwealth and the loss of traffic due to the diminution of coal tonnage would seriously and adversely affect the railroad industry; and

Whereas, As a result of the foregoing, thousands of citizens of Pennsylvania engaged in the mining and production of coal, the making and fabrication of steel and other products and the transporting of freight would be deprived of their means of earning a livelihood at their chosen occupations; and

Whereas, The development of the St. Lawrence Project would have an injurious effect upon the economy of the country, with incidental benefit, if any, being confined to relatively few small areas and certain manufacturers; and

Whereas, A large part of the enormous cost of this unwise and uneconomical project would fall upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve or authorize the construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

An Act relating to investments by fiduciaries and repealing acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am about to present a bill and in doing so I wish to call to the attention of the Senate that at the turn of the century margarine was invented. Immediately the butter industry feared its competition and had written into law state taxes as follows:

On the manufacturer, $1,000 per year; on the corner grocer, $100 per year; on the wholesaler, $500 per year, on restaurants, $50 per year and on boarding houses, $10 per year.

In addition the Federal Government has a tax of $600 a year on the manufacturer; $6 on the corner grocer, and ten cents a pound if colored, and also an additional tax on the corner store of $48 a year if only margarine is sold.

I have always been under the impression that taxes are levied for revenue and should not be issued in restraint of free trade as in the case of margarine or oleo.

Coloring is not permitted in Pennsylvania, although the Pure Food Act of 1938 permits the use of coloring in food. In fact, butter is colored.

Chemistry has proved that margarine compares favorably with butter both in nutritive value and palatability.

Food is a weapon of war. Shall we permit the ancient grudge of butter against its rival, margarine, to interfere with the handling of food for war and peacemaking? Fats are one of the munitions of war. Shall we hinder the war effort when margarine can and must be used as a substitute for butter or shall we do our duty as Senators to repeal taxes enacted to restrain free trade and competition?

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. HOLLAND and COX read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 377, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one and two of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 327), entitled "An act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine, and other similar products, when colored in imitation of yellow butter; to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers and by proprietors of hotels, restaurants, dining-rooms, and boarding houses; for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar products, not colored in imitation of yellow butter; and to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar products, not colored in imitation of yellow butter, and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter; and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act, and the means and the method of procedure for its enforcement, and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure," by eliminating the payment of a fee for a license to sell oleomargarine, butterine, or similar substances at retail.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 378, entitled:

An Act permitting certain organizations to conduct the playing of the game of bingo under certain circumstances; providing for the issuance, suspension and revocation of licenses therefor, and for payment of a registration fee; and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on behalf of several Senators, Gourley, Barr, and myself, I am at this time presenting to the Chair our interpretation of a G. I. Bill of Rights, as it is so called, for veterans who will return to Pennsylvania when the war is over. Under this bill we attempt to give and guarantee to the returning soldier the so-called benefits that are prescribed under the Federal G. I. Bill of Rights. We feel that in many instances the allowances allowed under the Federal bill are not sufficient to rehabilitate an injured veteran or even a veteran who intends to go back to school or intends to be trained vocationally. We also provide in this bill a strengthening of the money-lending powers of the Federal bill, by making it possible for a veteran to apply for and receive the same benefits under the Pennsylvania G. I. Bill of Rights as he will receive under the Federal bill. I think the time has come when we must put before anything else our moral obligation to the returning soldier and do something constructive rather than follow the same procedure that was followed after the last war and only give them lip service.

I present to the Chair a Pennsylvania G. I. Bill of Rights.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DENT, GOURLEY, BARR and McCREESH read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act to assist veterans; creating the Pennsylvania Authority for Vocational Aid, Financial Assistance and Training for Men and Women Honorably Discharged from the Armed Services as a body corporate and politic with power to give financial aid and assistance to veterans; prescribing the terms and conditions under which such loans shall be made; conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain State officers; providing for the cooperation of other State agencies and private industry; making an appropriation for the capitalization of such authority and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. ROSENFELD read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 380, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 1076), entitled "An act to provide for the organization, incorporation, operation, and supervision of cooperative savings and credit associations, to be termed credit unions; designating such credit unions as corporations, and defining their powers and duties; conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Banking; and providing penalties," by redefining the scope of membership and territory.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Messrs. MALLERY and WOODRING read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 381, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act, approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 1108), entitled "An act providing for the appointment, promotion, reduction, removal and reinstatement of paid officers, firemen and employees of fire departments and of fire alarm operators and fire box inspectors in the bureaus of electricity in cities of the second and third class; defining the powers and duties of civil service commissions for such purposes; and fixing penalties," raising the age limit for applicants in cities of the third class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

RESOLUTION

INVESTIGATION OF LAWS AND PENDING LEGISLATION RELATIVE TO STRIP MINING OPERATIONS

Messrs. COX and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining:

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Before we start the Calendar I want to call the attention of the Senate to a piece of business that is being transacted that interests the minority side very much. We see by the Philadelphia Inquirer of this morning an item, the first paragraph of which I will read, dated Harrisburg, February 21: "The Republican majority in the State Senate today ordered a secret investigation of the Liquor Control Board."

If you will remember, we, too, are members of the Senate of Pennsylvania; we, too, represent a certain constituency that may be, and probably is, interested in the dealings of the Liquor Control Board, and we feel further that we are entitled to know when the Senate has these members of the Liquor Control Board before it for questioning; we are entitled to know what time that will be and we are entitled to an invitation to be present. As you know, all the people of the state are interested in the method of handling the liquor business and the enormous profits that are reported to be made from it, and in the so-called mismanagement that has been reported, and if it is so bad that the Republicans feel they have to investigate it, and are fearful of having a public investigation, the least they could do would be to invite the members of the Senate who belong to any committee which may deal with it, so that, at least, the members of the Senate may know what is happening.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, as I understood the remarks of the Minority Leader, he talked about a sweeping probe of the Liquor Control Board, rather, a secret probe of the Liquor Control Board. Mr. President, there is no such probe under way that I know anything about, and I think the information of the Senator—maybe he didn't quote it properly; maybe he didn't get the right information, but there is no secret probe asked for or authorized by the Republican Caucus of the Senators of Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, there has been purely routine information in the districts of some of the Senators requested of the Liquor Control Board—purely routine, Mr. President, and has nothing to do with any secret investigation of business methods or patronage or anything of the kind.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate Bill No. 255, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend clause two of section seven hundred and two and to further amend clause three of section nine hundred and five of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for the furnishing of street lighting by contract with lighting companies upon petition of property owners in villages and for the assessment and collection of the costs and maintenance thereof upon property benefited thereby and for the levy of an annual township tax for street lighting without petition of property owners and validating petitions of property owners contracts entered into between townships and lighting companies taxes levied to pay the costs and maintenance of lighting service and the collection receipt and payment out of the revenues therefrom notwithstanding such petitions were filed contracts entered into and taxes levied collected and paid out under unconstitutional laws validating agreements and understandings between township supervisors and lighting companies to continue lighting service pending the enactment of valid laws regulating and providing for the expenditure of moneys arising from special lighting taxes and authorizing the payment of the costs and expenses of maintaining lighting service until valid laws are enacted to collect charges from property owners benefited thereby out of the road tax fund and the creation and transfer of moneys to a special account for such purposes at any time notwithstanding the prior adoption of the budget and authorizing any light and power company to apply the net rate and to waive the gross rate or to grant discounts and to waive penalties in the same manner as if payments had been made by the township within the time required by the contract and the company's schedules or tariffs

Whereas the Supreme Court in the case of Manheim Twp v Workman 350 Pa 168 held unconstitutional clause two section 386 of the General Township Act of July 14 1917 Pamphlet Laws 840 which authorized contracts for lighting service in villages in townships of the second class and for the levy of a tax upon the assessed value of real estate in such villages to raise revenue to pay for such service The court held that the moneys to be raised to pay for such a service should have been imposed on property according to the foot front rule and

Whereas the reasons given by the court in said opinion are also applicable to existing contract for lighting service entered into under clause II of section 702 of the Second Class Township Law approved May 1, 1933 Pamphlet Laws 103 and to tax levies made pursuant to such provisions and

Whereas certain taxes have been collected under existing law to pay for lighting service the revenues from which are held in the treasuries of such townships and are available for the payment of lighting service rendered subsequent to said decision of the court at the request of citizens and of public authorities if such payments are validated by law and

Whereas public necessity required the continuation of said public utility service until provision could be made by law validating existing contracts entered into in good faith and the taxes levied and collected pursuant to such unconstitutional provisions and the payment out of such tax moneys and for the enactment of laws for the assessment of charges for street lighting service according to the foot front rule therefore

Section 1 Clause two of section seven hundred and two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby reenacted and amended to read as follows

Section 702 Supervisors to Exercise Powers The corporate powers of townships of the second class shall be exercised by the township supervisors They shall have power

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 102, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation

Whereas The present session of the General Assembly has provided revenues of the Commonwealth amounting to at least three hundred sixty-nine million dollars ($369,000,000) for general purposes for the biennial fiscal period beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and

Whereas Such revenues though levied and assessed will not be available in large part for the current and other expenses of the State government until the later parts of the two fiscal years respectively of the said biennial fiscal period and the collectible revenues may not be sufficient to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the earlier parts of such fiscal years respectively and

Whereas In order that the obligations of the Commonwealth may be met promptly and in order that the State government might not fail through lack of funds if the current and other expenses of the State government may become necessary temporarily to obtain funds to defray during the fiscal period aforesaid until the revenues that are subsequently accruing to the State Treasury during said fiscal period are available for this purpose

Section 1 The Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June on thousand nine hundred forty-five from time to time to borrow on the credit of the current revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred twenty million dollars ($120,000,000) as may be necessary to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during such fiscal years

Section 2 (a) Such loans shall be evidenced by notes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania All of said notes shall mature not later than the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-seven Such notes are hereby declared to be tax anticipation notes Such notes or renewals thereof shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such sums and subject to such terms and conditions rates of interest not in excess of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall determine and direct

(b) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall bear either the signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or the facsimile signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in which latter event such notes shall be countersigned by two officers of the Philadelphia National Bank (Loan and Transfer Agent of the Commonwealth) All such notes shall bear a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth

(c) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall have the qualities and incidents of negotiable instruments under the Negotiable Instruments Law of the Commonwealth

(b) The current revenues of the biennial fiscal period

beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five are pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of such notes which shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All notes issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

Section 3 The proceeds derived from the negotiation of loans under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury and shall be used for the payment of appropriations made from such fund to defray the current and other expenses of the State government for the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 4 Any loans negotiated under the provisions of this act shall be secured by the current revenues levied and assessed for revenue purposes of every kind or character accruing to the General Fund of the State Treasury during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and shall be paid out of such revenues and so much of such revenues as may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of such loans are hereby specifically appropriated The Department of Revenue shall allocate such revenues to said payments

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are held unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

This envelope shall then be placed in the second one on which is printed the affidavit of the elector the jurat of the person before whom the elector appears and the address of the elector's county board of election. The elector shall then fill out subscribe and swear to the affidavit printed on such envelope and the jurat shall be subscribed and dated by the person before whom the affidavit was taken. Such envelope shall then be securely sealed and the elector shall send same by mail to said county board of election.

Section 1307 Canvassing of Official Military Ballots. The county boards of election upon receipt of such envelopes shall safely keep the same until they meet to canvass official military ballots which canvass shall begin immediately following the official civilian canvass for all primary elections. After the November election the canvass of official military ballots shall begin at ten o'clock A M Eastern Standard Time on the second Friday following the election. No such ballots shall be counted which are received in their offices later than ten o'clock A M Eastern Standard Time of the first Tuesday following the primary election and ten A M Eastern Standard Time of said second Friday following the November election. At such time the members of the return boards or the county boards of election shall in person dispose of official military ballots in the manner hereinafter set forth. The county boards of election may designate a sufficient number of clerks to perform such duties. When it is determined that clerks shall be appointed the total number shall in every case be in multiples of three and each member of a county board of election shall appoint an equal number thereof.

Each candidate for nomination or election shall be entitled to appoint one watcher and each political party or body which has nominated candidates shall be entitled to appoint three watchers. Watchers shall be permitted to be present when the envelope containing official military ballots are opened and then such ballots are counted and recorded.

In disposing of an official military ballot the county return board or the county board of election shall examine the affidavit and jurat and if the jurat bears a date later than the date of the election the envelope shall be set aside unopened.

The board shall then further examine the affidavit and jurat of each envelope not so set aside and shall compare the information thereon with that contained in the military file. If the board is satisfied that the affidavit and jurat are sufficient and that the elector has qualified and the board has utilized the information contained in the military file to verify his right to vote the board shall announce the name of the elector and shall give any person present an opportunity to challenge in like manner and for the same cause except failure to register or enroll as the elector could have been challenged had he presented himself in his own district to vote other than by official military ballot. If no challenges are sustained the board shall open the envelope in such manner as not to destroy the affidavit and jurat printed thereon. All envelopes on which are printed stamped or endorsed the words "Official Military Ballot" shall be placed in one or more depositories at one time and said depository or depositories well shaken and the envelopes mixed before any envelope is taken therefrom. The Board shall then break the seals of such envelopes remove the ballots and record the votes in the same manner as district election officers are required to record votes. Upon completion of the computation of the returns of the county the votes cast upon the official military ballots shall be added to the other votes cast within the county.

Section 1308 Public Records. All official military ballots military files applications for such ballots and envelopes on which the jurats and affidavits appear and all information and lists are hereby designated and declared to be public records and shall be safely kept for a period of two years except that no information shall be made public which is expressly forbidden by the War Department because of military security.

Section 11 Cities of the first class and counties are hereby authorized and empowered to appropriate the moneys necessary to carry out the provisions of this amendment.

Section 12 The purpose of this amendment is to enable every qualified elector of this Commonwealth in actual military service as herein defined during the continuance of the present war and for six months thereafter to vote notwithstanding the fact that such elector may be absent on election day from the election district in which he resides whether such person is within or without this Commonwealth or within or without the United States and regardless of whether such person is registered or enrolled as a qualified elector and this amendment shall be liberally construed to effectuate such purpose.

Section 13 The following supplemental acts or parts of acts are hereby repealed absolutely.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Rev. W. D. Krick, Pastor of the Grace Evangelical Church, Steelton, a guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God our Heavenly Father we come before Thee recognizing Thine almighty power.

We humbly beseech Thee that Thou will bless these Thy servants, the Governor of our State, the Speaker, and every member of the House of Representatives, with their families.

May they be directed by Thy divine will to legislate for the common good of their fellowman.

Bless the boys and the girls of our commonwealth who are in the armed forces, protect them, give them victory, and may peace soon come.

All this we ask in Thy precious name. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO and Mrs. COYLE.

RESOLUTION No. 28.

In the House of Representatives, February 20, 1945.

Whereas, Because of certain irregularities and lack of cooperation the exact nature of which is unknown to the public, three members of the Board of Trustees of Eastern State Penitentiary have recently resigned from membership in the board; and

Whereas, It is to the best interests of the public and the administration of the penal system of the Commonwealth that a full disclosure of all matters connected with the administration, operation and management of the Eastern State Penitentiary be brought to light; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee consisting of five members of the House of Representatives whose duty it shall be to fully inquire into and investigate all matters connected with and concerning every phase of the operation of the Eastern State Penitentiary as a penal institution of this Commonwealth, and that said committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the House of Representatives on or before the 15th day of March, 1945.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. LEONARD and FLEMING.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, February 20, 1945.

Whereas, The official figures of the United States Department of Labor show a minimum wartime rise of 33 per cent in the prices of essential goods and services purchased by the wage earners of the nation; and

Whereas, The National Stabilization Plan enunciated by the President of the United States includes the protection of wartime wage rates against any rise in the wartime cost of living; and

Whereas, Wage rates in general have been frozen within the 15 per cent wage bracket arbitrarily imposed by the National War Labor Board under the Little Steel Formula; and

Whereas, Decisive action by the Congress of the United States is obviously necessary to revise the Little Steel Formula so as to make possible such wage adjustments as will enable wage earners adversely affected thereunder to maintain decent living standards; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to take measures as may be necessary to bring about a revision of the Little Steel Formula which will enable wage earners adversely affected thereunder to obtain wage adjustments commensurate with the wartime rise in the cost of living beyond the 15 per cent wage bracket imposed by the National War Labor Board as the single available means of improving the substandard living conditions of such wage earners; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, to the presiding officer of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Labor.

By Mr. LOVETT. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 30.

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1945.

Pennsylvanians have been for years concerning themselves with the question of whether there should be a limit on the power of Congress to impose taxes on incomes, gifts and inheritances.

Many Pennsylvanians have arrived at different conclusions at different times, but there has been no general agreement on the solution of the problem other than at this time to pay some little tribute to the wisdom of the founding fathers of this country by urging the Congress of the United States to avoid placing any limitation on their power to impose taxes, specifically those taxes upon incomes, gifts and inheritances; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Congress of the United States to avoid making any change in the Constitution which would have the effect of limiting the power of Congress to impose taxes on incomes, gifts and inheritances; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be, and he hereby is directed to send a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Senate of the United States and one to the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States and to each Pennsylvania member thereof.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following petitions and remonstrances which were read by the Clerk.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1945.

There is an old legend in connection with the life of St. Patrick to the effect that the 17th day of March is not his birthday, and that the celebration of that day is only the result of a compromise made in the interest of harmony, and for the preservation of human lives.

In years long past, there were many sons of Ireland who believed that March 8th was the day upon which the Irish snake-chaser had been born, but, sad to say, many others were convinced that he had first seen light of day on March 9th.

As a result of this divergence of opinion, those who believed in the theory of eight, held their celebrations on that day in March, and those who differed did their celebrating on the following day.

This divergence of opinion not only made for different banquet dates, but for hospital and funeral dates as well, and the fights that were precipitated by the arguments held over the all-important question, left behind them many widows and orphans.

In order to settle the question and bring to an end the slinging of brick-bats and shillelaghs and to decrease the death rate and the need for charitable homes for widows and orphans in Ireland, a priest whose name has unfortunately been lost to posterity, suggested that the differences be adjusted by adding the two different dates and holding joint and friendly celebrations on March 17th. This was done to the everlasting credit of the Irish and since that time, on that new date, they have jointly celebrated, St. Patrick rests more quietly, the celebrations are less quarrelsome, and the death rate has decreased.

It is the custom of the Irish Members of the General Assembly and the Press and other Irishers to meet on this compromise birthday of St. Patrick and fittingly celebrate the day and to do honor to their glorious ancestor, at which time the only bricks thrown are verbal ones and the only damage resulting is to their digestive processes; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That a legislative committee is hereby created consisting of twenty Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and fourteen Members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to arrange for a fitting and suitable celebration of the compromise birthday of St. Patrick by the Members of the General Assembly and their guests.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the St. Patrick's Day Resolution, concurred in by the Senate, the Chair appoints as a Committee on the part of the House, Messrs. Stockham, O'Dare, Loftus, Lyons, McAtee, McClester, Fleming, James, Lee, Madden, Finnerty, Moran, O'Neill, Heatherington, Corrigan, O'Brien, Kirley, Scanlon, Tate and Mrs. Coyle.

AMENDED SENATE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 28.

An Act to further amend subsection B of section nine hundred three of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 457), entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan associations; providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such associations, and of their officers, directors, shareholders, solicitors, and other employees; prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; establishing limitations of actions; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by further defining the powers of building and loan associations.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER. Tomorrow, the twenty-second day of February, being the birthday of George Washington, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillan, and requests the gentleman to come to the rostrum.

The Chair also recognizes the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, the Poet Laureate of the House, and asks him to come to the rostrum.

Mr. MILLIKEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillan, to read the resolution from the rostrum.

Mr. McMILLEN read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1945.

February 22nd, marks the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, our first President, the man whose steadfast courage and indomitable perseverance and abiding faith won for us the independence and liberty which is now ours and whose example has been of inestimable value in the preservation of that independence and that liberty.

The study of his life and of his heroic sacrifices has implanted in the hearts of the young of the nation a desire to emulate all that he did and to demonstrate the courage that was his.

His bravery not only made the nation possible, but his example has maintained it.

His courage and capacity for sacrifice as demonstrated during the terrible winter at Valley Forge has made more possible the capacity for endurance displayed by our fighting men of today on the snow covered battle fields in France and Belgium and Germany.

The success of his campaigns and his strategy as a great military commander is now reflected in the victories of our generals of today and a thorough knowledge of them is an aid, in making certain the inevitable victory.

As the accomplishments of a father become the ambitions of his sons, who strive to emulate the things that contributed to his success, so the American soldier of today has, by emulating the achievements of the Father of the Nation, brought closer that final victory and have made defeat impossible.

Washington's greatness, his courage and his capacity for sacrifice have been preserved for this generation and will continue to be reflected in the youth of tomorrow and all the tomorrows that follow, so long as is told the story of his life and his achievements; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of this General Assembly again in this hour of tribulation and sorrow, looks back through the years to Valley Forge and calls the attention of the youth of the nation to the enduring value to mankind of those traits of character that were displayed then by Washington and to what they mean to us of today; that it calls upon those who teach the children in our schools to continue to impress upon those children the importance of the kind of courage and patience and faith and fidelity that was displayed by that great man whose memory we today honor, in order that the liberty and independence he won for us shall not perish and that our way of life may continue and survive.

The SPEAKER. In support of this Resolution the Chair requests the Poet Laureate of the House, and he richly deserves that title, the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, to read an original poem.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, George Washington, the first President of the United States of America, has a firm place among the immortals of mankind. He was a great General, a great President, a great Citizen.

It has been said of him: He was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

What little we can say here today will not in anyway enhance the honor and respect in which he is held by all freedom-loving people throughout the world.

I am sure that any praise of him that I may offer will not add any lustre to this Star of Destiny and it was in this spirit that I penned the following tribute to this illustrious memory.

WASHINGTON

It is forever so—when there is need
 Of some clear, clarion voice to forward lead.
 God grows a hero-man from His own seed;
 Not from the soft, luxurious lap of earth,
 But from a nobler soil, so that from birth
 The frame is moulded with a chosen food
 That has one glorious end—to make it good,
 Full generous, far-sighted, firm and keen,
 With strength to rise above the low and mean—
 That sordid selfishness, which like a curse
 Drives from the heart the virtues it would nurse—
 That love of country, freedom's holy cause,
 Justice and mercy, honesty in laws,
 Faith in the future and our fellow-men,
 Faith in the sword when shielded by the pen—

So when America was dire in need
 Of one commanding voice to forward lead,
 God grew a man from his selected seed;
 And so came forth immortal Washington,
 Fair child of fate, the nation's noblest son,
 Whom Heaven fostered and Columbia won.

Some few there be whose feet trod rougher ground,
 But few indeed a loftier summit found—
 Nurtured in tender soil, he held a path
 Where others faltered, heeding not the wrath
 Of any king or potentate or power—
 His was the hero-heart—he saw the hour.—
 He knew the mighty odds, yet would not cower,
 And when the tyrant's heel touched on our shore
 And thrust itself unbidden to our door.—
 Brave Washington, endowed with eagle-eye,
 Withstood the foe and taught him how to die;
 Repulsed, disheartened, driven to despair,
 He lifted up his voice in humble prayer,
 For in that awful night at Valley Forge
 He drank the bitter cup—he saw Fate's scourge,
 And felt her lash,—this noble-hearted George.

And when at length beyond the battle's smoke
 Our Country to her Destiny awoke,
 Great Washington, unconscious of his Fate,
 In motion launched our noble Ship of State,
 Which to this day, still mindful of its source,
 Has steered a steady and a matchless course.

Then on and on, O Ship of State, sail on!
 Until man's noblest Destiny is won;
 And may the God of Nations guard and guide
 Until all peoples shall in Peace abide,
 Till War and Carnage shall forever cease,
 And there shall be an everlasting Peace.
 Until there spreads to every sea and shore
 A Brotherhood of Man forevermore.

On the question,
 Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, who was also very recently a member of the United States Navy, for reading the resolution.

The Chair thanks the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. NAGEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say to you that I appreciate and heartily commend what has been said by the two men who have so masterfully eulogized the great President, the first President of our country, the Father of our country.

It is a little unfortunate that the Members on this side did not participate in this commemoration, but I rise at this time in behalf of the Membership on my side of the House to say that I feel they are just as appreciative of what Washington did for his country as any one in the state. I think I am speaking for the entire Membership on this side of the House. I am glad we had the exercises we have had this morning. It is a patriotic endeavor, and I hope that it will continue to unify our state and our nation as one great family of individuals.

Washington came through all of these hardships to deliver our country from bondage, made us free. We are now in a great struggle. We hope that Washington's beginning was the start of freedom in America. We hope that what is being done now by our boys over the seas will perpetuate this freedom and so establish it in our state and in our nation that there will never again be a dark cloud arise over our nation that will take from us our freedom.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 408, as follows:

An Act to amend section six hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by increasing compensation paid to officers and employees for attending conventions

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section six hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 602 Who to Attend Compensation and Mileage The supervisors of townships auditors and the secretary of the board of township supervisors when not a member of the board shall attend such conventions whenever possible Each township supervisor auditor and secretary attending such convention shall receive a certificate signed by the presiding officer and acting secretary of the convention attesting his presence at the convention Such certificate shall entitle him to collect from the township treasurer the sum of five dollars per day for each day's attendance and mileage at the rate of five cents per mile traveled to be computed by the route usually traveled from his place of residence to the place where the convention is held No township supervisor auditor or secretary shall be paid for more than two days' attendance in any one year

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. May I ask the sponsor of this bill to explain it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, this is a very short bill. It only increases the pay of supervisors when attending conventions from three dollars to five dollars. The three dollar fee has been in existence since 1915, and it also gives them five cents a mile travel allowance, the same amount that these members are getting down here.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us the reason for this increase? Is it the increase in cost of living, or does it cost more to attend conventions now than it did in the past?

Mr. SNYDER. It costs more for meals, Mr. Speaker. I think we have experienced that here in Harrisburg, and other conditions have changed enough to warrant passing this bill today.

Mr. MORAN. Is this bill favorable to the township officials?

Mr. SNYDER. Yes, I would say it is, Mr. Speaker. I certainly do not see how they could be against it. They are for it.

Mr. MORAN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 348, Printer's No. 93 and several bills that follow along, being the administrative setup as to one of our penal institutions, I was wondering whether or not the sponsor of the bill might not give us a statement as to what happens under this bill as to the management, as to the personnel, as to the payment of expenses and as to other items affected by these bills.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, replying to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, I would like to say that the Industrial School at Camp Hill is unique among the state institutions in that it is operated directly by the Department of Welfare. The other state institutions, such as the Eastern Penitentiary, the Western Penitentiary, the Industrial School at Huntingdon, the Home for Women at Muncy, Laurelton State Village, Pennhurst, Morganza and others all operate under a Board of Trustees, which is between the Department and the Institution itself. This bill would place the Industrial School at Camp Hill in the same position, creating a Board of Trustees such as we have at all these other state institutions. There is no change as far as personnel or operations, it would not effect that whatsoever.

The other bills that we find on the Calendar are enabling bills and accompanying bills in order to carry out this program. I will say that this is a recommendation of the Council of Judges of the Juvenile Courts of Pennsylvania, and they are very desirous that this Institution be the same as the others in having it placed under a Board of Trustees.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection six of section nine hundred five of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by increasing the tax rate for fire hydrants and fire hydrant water service

Section 1 Subsection six of section nine hundred five of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 531) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 905 General and Special Tax Levies The board of township supervisors may by resolution levy taxes upon all property and upon all occupations or upon property alone within the township made taxable for township purposes as ascertained by the last adjusted valuation for county purposes for the purposes and at the rate hereinafter specified to wit

Six A tax not exceeding three mills for the purpose of establishing and maintaining fire hydrants and fire hydrants water service after obtaining the assent of two-thirds of the electors of the township voting thereon in the manner provided in this act

Whenever the assent of the electors is required as hereinbefore provided the same shall be expressed at an election to be held at the place time and under the same regulations as provided by law for the holding of municipal elections At such election the election officers shall receive ballots from the electors which shall be prepared in the manner prescribed by the general election law In receiving and counting the ballots in making return of the votes cast the election officers shall be governed by the laws regulating municipal elections and the returns shall be computed by the court as now provided by law for municipal elections

The taxes authorized to be levied by this section shall be levied upon the last adjusted valuation for county purposes which valuation shall be furnished to the township supervisors by the county commissioners If any further adjustment of valuation is made by the county commissioners after any tax is so levied and before said tax is payable such adjusted valuation shall be certified to the township supervisors and to the township collector of taxes by the commissioners and the tax shall be collected on the basis of such adjusted valuation

This article does not include the levy of any taxes upon particular districts or parts of any township for particular purposes

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 302, as follows:

An Act to amend clause II of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by authorizing the township supervisors to contract for and furnish lighting for certain streets and highways and to impose service charges against owners of property fronting on such streets and highways and validating petitions of property owners contracts and agreements heretofore made by the supervisors with lighting companies and taxes heretofore levied collected and paid out under the provisions of unconstitutional laws authorizing the further expenditure of such moneys collected providing in certain cases for the payment of the aforesaid lighting costs out of township funds and the manner of making such payments and authorizing lighting companies to grant discounts and waive penalties on payments overdue from the supervisors

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Clause II of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 702 Supervisors to Exercise Powers The corporate powers of townships of the second class shall be exercised by the township supervisors They shall have power

* * * * *

II Contracts and [Tax Levy] Service Charges for Lighting On the petition of the owners of a majority of the lineal feet frontage along any street highway or portion thereof within the township to enter into contract with electric gas or other lighting companies to light and illuminate said streets and highways [and other public places in villages] with electric light gas light or other illuminant

The township supervisors shall [levy] impose for the maintenance of said lights an annual [tax] service charge upon all the property including factories and places of business abutting upon the said streets and highways in the district benefited thereby based upon the [assessment for county purposes] foot frontage of each such property along such streets or highways The supervisors may provide for an equitable reduction of the charge per front foot against lots at intersections or where from the peculiar or pointed shape of lots a charge for the full frontage would be inequitable Such [taxes] service charges shall be collected in the same manner as [other] road taxes The collector of taxes shall receive the same commission as on the road tax No such [tax] charge shall be [levied] imposed against any farm land but vacant lots between built-up sections whether filled or unfilled shall not be deemed to be farm lands Provided however That the charge per front foot against vacant lots shall be only twenty-five per centur (25%) of the charge per front foot against property with improvements thereon The township treasurer shall receive all such [taxes] charges collected for lighting the streets and highways shall keep the same in a separate account and pay out the same only upon orders signed by the chairman of the township supervisors attested by the secretary The treasurer shall make a report to the auditors of the township annually

Section 2 (a) All petitions by owners of property heretofore filed with township supervisors under the provisions of Clause II of section 386 of The General Township Act approved July fourteen one thousand nine hundred seventeen P. L. 840 or of clause II of section 702 of The Second Class Township Law approved May first one thousand nine hundred thirty-three P. L. 103 and the amendments thereto to enter into contract with electric gas or other lighting companies to illuminate the streets and highways and other public places in villages with electric light gas light or other illuminant all contracts heretofore entered into by township supervisors with such lighting companies pursuant to such petitions all annual taxes heretofore levied by township supervisors based upon the assessment for county purposes for the maintenance of such lights the collection and receipt of such taxes and any payment heretofore made out of the revenues derived therefrom for the maintenance of lighting service under the provisions of said acts are hereby ratified confirmed and validated notwithstanding the unconstitutionality of the provisions of said clause II of section 386 of The General Township Act approved July fourteenth one thousand nine hundred seventeen P. L. 840 and clause II of section 702 of The Second Class Township Law approved May first one thousand nine hundred thirty-three P. L. 103 under which such petitions were filed contracts entered into and taxes levied collected and paid out

(b) All agreements and understandings heretofore entered into between township supervisors and lighting companies for the furnishing or the continuation as a public necessity of lighting service until such time as valid laws could be enacted and provision made for the collection of charges from property owners for such purposes are hereby ratified confirmed and validated

(c) All tax moneys heretofore collected under the provisions of such unconstitutional laws and now held in separate accounts in the treasury of any township of the second class shall be used and expended by township supervisors only for maintenance of lighting service heretofore or hereafter furnished by a lighting company and the payment out of such moneys for such purposes are hereby ratified confirmed and validated Such tax moneys shall be expended only in and for the district and for the purpose for which levied and collected

(d) In case insufficient revenues are available in the separate accounts of a township for the payment of the maintenance of lighting service heretofore or hereafter furnished by a lighting company until such time as valid laws are enacted to pay for such services and payments are received thereunder then and in such case the township supervisors shall pay any deficiency so existing out of the road tax For such purposes the township supervisors may by resolution make such transfer from one road tax account to another tax account or create a new road tax account and transfer moneys into such new account and appropriate the moneys in such account to pay accrued liabilities for the maintenance of lighting service at any time after the budget for the year has been adopted and the appropriation measures put into effect

(e) Any electric light and power company which shall receive payment under and in accordance with the provisions of this section for service rendered prior to the effective date of this act in any lighting district shall have power to apply the net rate to such payments and to waive the gross rate or to grant discounts on such payments and to waive penalties imposed thereon by the contract heretofore entered into with a township and which is invalidated by the provisions of this act or by its schedules or tariffs in the same manner and with like effect as if such payments or any of them had been made within the time required by such contract or such schedules or tariffs and the application of such net rate and the waiving of such gross rate or the granting of such discounts and the waiving of such penalties shall not be deemed a violation of the schedule or tariffs of such company on file with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission

(f) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to apply to proceedings pending in the courts of this Commonwealth

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 73.

A Supplement to the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three (Appropriations Acts page fifty-nine) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three" providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-five.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments. The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the heavy faced bracket at the beginning of said line; also in line 13, by striking out the heavy faced bracket at the end of said line.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

BILL AND MESSAGE LAID ON TABLE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 73, together with the message from the Senate be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. O'NEILL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on St. Patrick's Day to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Monday night of this week a Legislative groundhog came out of the Committee on Rules in the form of a resolution setting March 12, I believe, as the last date for the introduction of bills, and the Legislative groundhog indicates to me that possibly in the very near future beyond that date we may adjourn finally.

Having that in mind I would like to call the attention of the House to what I consider is as important as any legislation which has been introduced and which may receive our attention in this session, and that is the establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Committee in Pennsylvania.

I might go on here, Mr. Speaker, and give one of the most eloquent and logical arguments in favor of the measure by quoting in full an editorial which appeared in the Pittsburgh Courier on Saturday, February 12. However, to save the time of the Members of the House and trusting that you will all examine the Journal and possibly procure a copy of this newspaper yourself, I am going to ask permission, if it meets with the approval of the House that it be spread upon the record as part of the statement which I have been given permission to make.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give it's unanimous consent to spread the Editorial upon the Legislative Journal? The Chair hears no objection, and consent is granted.

Pittsburgh "Courier," February 17, 1945.
Editorial

GOVERNOR MARTIN AND FEPC

Last week Governor Edward Martin said he favored the general idea of a State Fair Employment Practices Act, but opposed the Homer Brown FEPC bill because it would cost the State $300,000 a year.

He expressed the opinion that the Labor Relations Board could be so amended that it could take care of racial discrimination in employment.

If we were certain that the Labor Relations Board could as effectively handle discrimination in employment as an independent commission; and were positively assured that the administration would enact necessary legislation to give this Board control over this problem, we would have no quarrel with Governor Martin's proposal. It is the result, and not the means, that primarily interests Negroes.

We protest against Governor Martin's statement because he did not assure Negroes that he intended to have enacted any kind of FEPC legislation and by opposing the Brown bill on the ground of expense, he placed such a low estimate on the fundamental rights of Negroes. In the Governor's opinion, $300,000 a year is too much to pay to guarantee a fair economic chance to the 500,000 Negroes of Pennsylvania. He definitely implied that if it is found that a State FEPC could not be brought substantially under $300,000 a year, he was opposed to it. His statement shows a surprising lack of sympathy with and an understanding of the far-reaching importance of this legislation.

The poverty of Negroes, which is largely forced upon them by discriminatory employment practices, is responsible for most of the handicaps the race suffers. Poor housing, delinquency, disproportionate amount of crime, limited educational training, are all the direct result of industry's "closed door policy" to Negroes. In addition, self-respect, confidence, and the morale of the race are at stake.

During the worst of the depression, approximately 120,000 of the 250,000 Negroes of Philadelphia were on "Relief" or "WPA." Sixty per cent of all the relief cases in Philadelphia were Negroes, although they form but 13 per cent of the total population.

Some such protection as the Brown bill provides, must be given the Negroes of this State if a large number of them are not made wards of the State in the post-war period, through the prejudice of employers.

In the light of the importance of this legislation, it is ridiculous to say $300,000 is too much. It is putting a despicable price on human rights and opportunities, and is so unreasonable as to imply bad faith. This is particularly true when the Governor's attitude concerning white workers and the conditions of the State's finances are known.

In his first address to the General Assembly, the Governor said, "I also recommend increased appropriations to the Department of Mines and the Department of Labor and Industry for safety inspections, so we may give the workers of Pennsylvania as safe a place to work as is possible." These are laudable sentiments and they have our approval. But why is the Governor willing to spend large additional sums to make conditions safe for those having jobs and yet is unwilling to spend $300,000 to protect the right to obtain jobs of 500,000 citizens?

The Governor cannot claim that the money is not available without the imposition of new taxes, for the State has a reserve of $110,000,000 allocated to post-war planning. Certainly the Brown bill must be considered a post-war measure. The Governor evidently thinks that $300,000 of the $110,000,000 is too much to spend on a matter of peculiar concern to the well-being of Negroes, who form more than 5 per cent of the State's population.

Last year the State of Alabama, which is poor in comparison with Pennsylvania, spent more than $200,000 improving buildings at A. and M. College and more than doubled the appropriation for all its Negro colleges. This prejudiced Southern State spent more money on a relative few of its Negro population than the Governor of Pennsylvania is willing to appropriate to raise the standing and opportunity of every Negro citizen in Pennsylvania.

The Governor has said he favored the principles of an FEPC, but neither he nor the Republican Legislators have done one overt act to show that they intended to enact an FEPC. The Governor never mentioned it in his address, nor did he comment upon it until questioned by newsmen. The Republicans have introduced more than 300 bills and not one has been an FEPC. If Negroes do not take the Governor's "good faith" for granted, it is because he has done little or nothing to earn their confidence. He has only made one new Negro appointment, and there are fewer Negroes holding important State positions in Pennsylvania than in any Northern State, having a large Negro population.

We are not in favor of an FEPC administered by the Labor Relations Board, because we do not believe it would obtain the effective results that could be had through an independent commission. This same issue was raised when a similar bill was presented to the New York State Legislature. Governor Dewey and civic organizations stood firm for an independent commission and the Brown FEPC Bill is patterned after the New York bill.

Our objection to the Labor Relations Board administering FEPC is that FEPC would most likely suffer by being a subordinate function of the Board, rather than its principal concern. This Board is mainly concerned with wage disputes, strikes, and jurisdictional questions between labor organizations. There is a justifiable fear that such a Board may not give the same absorbing attention to the grievances of Negroes as an independent commission, created solely for that purpose. Five men devoting all their time to an FEPC could be expected to do a better job than three men who could give it but a small part of their attention.

The suggestion that the FEPC be attached to the Labor Relations Board is motivated by economy, and we believe, to the detriment of an effective FEPC. We suspect that if an FEPC were attached to this Board it would be a weak, puny thing that would have neither the funds nor the authority to cope with this problem. Remember the Governor's objection is cost.

Remember, also, that few ambitious office holders would have the temerity to say that they oppose the principle represented by a bill in which 500,000 citizens are interested.

This is the most important legislation ever introduced in the General Assembly affecting the well-being of Negro citizens. It directly affects every Negro person in this State—the professional class, businessmen, as well as the laboring masses. Negroes can be held permanently in an inferior status if they can be kept poor through prejudice. Now is the time to guarantee your future, and we shall not be content with any legislation which falls short of this purpose.

PUBLIC HEARING

There will be a public hearing on House Bill 377 Tuesday, March 6 at 10:30 a. m. in the New House Caucus Room.

ADJOURNMENT

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 26, 1945, at 9 p. m.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 26, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Senator RUTH.

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, we draw near unto Thee this day, to praise Thee for Thy wondrous good unto Men, of which we all have received untold portions. We pray today that Thou wilt give us a mind to think clearly, hearts to love dearly, hands to work and be willing to give of the untold gifts which Thou has given to us. Use us this day to bring honor and glory to Thy name and to make life happier for all with whom we come in contact. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. THOMAS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

RESOLUTION BY SCHOOL DIRECTORS, UNIONTOWN, URGING APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 568

The Chair cleared his table and presented to the Senate a Resolution passed by the Board of School Directors of the School District of the City of Uniontown, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, which is noted in the Journal:

RESOLUTION

Whereas, School districts of the second, third and fourth class of our Commonwealth must have their financial budgets prepared by April 1, next, for the ensuing year in their respective school districts; and

Whereas, The Legislature is contemplating some drastic changes in state aid and state appropriations to school districts in these classes for the ensuing fiscal year; and

Whereas, A bill has been introduced to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, known as House Bill No. 568, changing the method of granting state appropriations to school districts; therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Board of School Directors of the School District of the City of Uniontown, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, that the Legislature of our state be requested to speed such legislation and approve House Bill No. 568 so that the various school districts throughout the state may know with some certainty what state assistance they will receive and be able to prepare their budgets and make their tax levies with justice to the taxpayer and with an accurate knowledge of what the school districts will receive during the ensuing year.

I, the undersigned Secretary of the School District of the City of Uniontown, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, do hereby certify that the above resolution was unanimously adopted by the School Board of the School District of the City of Uniontown at the regular meeting of the School Board held on February 21, 1945.

J. W. SEMBOWER, Secretary,
City of Uniontown School District.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, an insane man in Germany caused the most bloody war of all times. A crackpot here in Harrisburg is copying most of the technique used by the crazy man of Germany, who is putting out each week Nazi propaganda and sending it to the list of his subscribers in Pennsylvania.

Last week another insidious letter resurrected one of the American lies, which has been repudiated time and time again, of the so-called speech of a great Pennsylvanian and a great American, Benjamin Franklin—a speech that was never made as Benjamin Franklin, a true American, never did attack people of Jewish faith at any time in his life. In fact, Benjamin Franklin donated heavily in money to erect the first synagogue, in the city of Philadelphia.

However, Mr. President, there is one other phase of the service given by this gentleman that I do think this Senate should look into immediately. Each day a messenger leaves Mr. Habbyslaw's office and carries into the office of A. O. Vorse, bundles of copies of bills introduced in the House. It is said that he receives 35 copies of each bill introduced.

On January 30th a resolution was passed in this body giving powers to the Judiciary General Committee to investigate and call in Mr. Vorse and investigate into his activities. I have been told by a very reliable authority that each evening Mr. Vorse, in visiting saloons where he is a frequent visitor in the city of Harrisburg, boasts of the fact that the State Senate is afraid to call him in before the Judiciary General Committee for what he knows.

I therefore call upon the Judiciary General Committee to fix a date and hold this hearing at the earliest possible time and see if we can not find just what is back of all the doings of Mr. Vorse and where he is securing permission to get from the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives these copies of bills which are paid for by the money of the people of Pennsylvania, which he in turn sends out, and receives money for each copy he is sending out.

I hope the Committee on Judiciary General will conform to the wishes of the Senate and pass this resolution and bring Mr. Vorse in at a very early date.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER, Mr. President, I do not know whether the remarks that the gentleman from Allegheny has just spread on the records, under the heading of Resolutions, would be more appropos under the heading of Personal Privilege, or whether he is inquiring as to the status of Resolution 26, which he introduced on January 30, relative to an investigation of this State News Service.

I listened to the reading that the gentleman from Allegheny just gave, under the heading of Resolutions, and there was not a word of resolve that I heard, and I just would like to say this for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny—and not in defense of the Judiciary General Committee because, frankly, that committee needs no defense. We have been investigating the resolution and this matter has been discussed several times with the gentleman, with regard to bills which this gentleman is purported to have obtained from the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

I would like to say, Mr. President, to you and to Senator Holland, that the editor of this State News Service does not obtain 35 copies, or anywhere near that number, from the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms. Every bill that is obtained from the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate must be obtained by requisition, which must be approved by the Secretary of the Senate, and every copy of every bill that has been put out has already been investigated, and we find that the person who received the largest number of bills is the Secretary of the Commonwealth—they obtain twenty copies of every bill introduced in the Senate. I went to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and requested that he advise the Committee on Judiciary General in writing as to the disposition which he makes of those twenty copies of bills.

The next highest number goes to the office of the Governor, and in fear and trembling I went to the Governor's office and made the same request, that the Committee on Judiciary General receive the same information in writing as to the disposition of bills there made.

Every department that receives more than five copies of a bill, or any individual who receives more than five copies of a bill, has been requested to do the same thing.

May I say, Mr. President, that every copy of a bill which is obtained from the office of the Sergeant-at-Arms as a regular service has already been checked by the Committee on Judiciary General.

Now, Mr. President, with regard to a hearing, may I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, we are endeavoring just as rapidly as we can to bring this matter to a hearing. Our comments on the status of Resolution No. 26 have been delivered personally to the gentleman from Allegheny. I think the gentleman knows exactly where the committee stands.

As to the purported remarks in the State News Service, the gentleman from Allegheny knows as well as I do there is no member of that Committee that approves of the snide things that are contained in some of those articles, and if there is any way that we can possibly check and reprimand and punish the gentleman for doing the things set forth in Resolution No. 26, that will be done. The editor of this State News Service is not the first individual or group that has been brought before the Committee on Judiciary General of this Senate for an investigation into their or his individual actions, and I want the gentleman from Allegheny to thoroughly understand that the Committee on Judiciary General intends to pursue that Resolution at the earliest possible moment, there will be a hearing on that, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, has been invited to attend, because we do want to sift the thing out to the last degree.

Mr. HOLLAND. I should be very glad to produce at a public meeting the boy who is delivering bills for Mr. Habbyschaw to the office of Mr. Vorse.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 383, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to study the problem of the conservation of wild life and natural resources in the Commonwealth; prescribing its powers and duties, and making an appropriation.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Health for the purchase of artificial limbs for honorably discharged veterans.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I just would like to make a statement in connection with this bill I am about to introduce. There are many amendments proposed to the Constitution and some of those amendments reach the electorate during general elections, when most of the people are preoccupied by electing candidates and do not pay sufficient attention to the proposed amendments to the Constitution. This bill proposes that all amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania shall be held during special elections.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 400, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eighteen of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, requiring amendments to be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at a special election.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. ROSENFELD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 401, entitled:

L. 736), entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; and prescribing penalties," making provision for compensation in the case of second injuries; creating a second injury reserve account in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

RESOLUTIONS

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BERGER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 26, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 5, 1945, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week is reconvene on Monday March 5, 1945, at nine o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION URGING PUBLIC HEARING IN RE RHEUMATIC FEVER

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, The Philadelphia Record has been and is now conducting a Health Campaign, particularly with respect to Rheumatic Fever

Whereas, The Philadelphia Record has forcefully called our attention to the need for an adequate program for the relief of those suffering with Rheumatic Fever

Whereas, The Philadelphia Record has publicly criticized the Health Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for its failure to provide properly for victims of Rheumatic Fever

Whereas, Dr. Martha M. Eliot, Associate Chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau, and long an expert on Children's Diseases has been bitter in her denunciation of the Health Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for failing to provide properly for the sufferers of Rheumatic Fever

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever is a very dangerous and devastating disease, particularly to children

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever is a common disease in Pennsylvania, and is far more lethal than many more widely publicized diseases

Whereas, Rheumatic Fever cripples ten children to every one laid low by Infantile Paralysis

Whereas, It is estimated that one child in one hundred suffers from it, and that one percent die from the first attack, and the survivors are more likely to succumb from later attacks; that 20 to 30 percent die within fifteen to eighteen years after the first attack, and only 5 percent live beyond 45.

Whereas, Rheumatic heart disease, the scarring of the heart by Rheumatic fever, has been a major cause of rejection for the armed services and constitutes a major problem for service medical forces

Whereas, The Government of United States, thru its Children's Bureau has offered aid to all the states to combat childhood's fiercest scourge

Whereas, The Government of United States, thru the said bureau has set up certain standards for Rheumatic Fever projects and made available to the States the service of a specialist in Rheumatic Fever and rheumatic diseases

Whereas, Nineteen states are now sharing in federal funds to set up Rheumatic fever projects

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has not submitted a plan to the Children's Bureau of the United States to fight the disease

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has no plan of its own for fighting the crippling infection

Whereas, The standards set by the Health Department of the State of Pennsylvania for administration of its crippled children is poor

Whereas, The office of Director of Services to crippled children has been vacant for a year and a half; that the Assistant directorship has been vacant nearly as long; that there has been no orthopedic nurse for four years and no medical social consultant since last spring

Whereas, There has been no co-ordination of surgeons in the department in the various districts of Pennsylvania

Whereas, It is the duty of the Commonwealth, thru its Health Department, to preserve the health of the children—to arrest the progress of children's diseases—to set up clinics to study, treat and cure diseases—institute educational programs for mothers and fathers of children afflicted, particularly where the diseases are dangerous and the mortality high

Whereas, the State Health Department has shown an utter lack of responsibility and duty

Whereas, The situation with respect to the study, treatment and possible cure of those stricken with Rheumatic Fever is deplorable in the State of Pennsylvania, and continues to grow worse and immediate action is necessary,

Therefore, Be it Resolved that the Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to appear before the Committee of Public Health of the Senate to explain his conduct and that of his department in their failure to provide properly and adequately for sufferers of Rheumatic Fever.

Be It Further Resolved That the Committee on Public Health of the Senate of Pennsylvania hold a public hearing within thirty days after adoption of the Resolution for the purpose of hearing government officials, medical experts in the field of Rheumatism and obtaining their views, recommendations and suggestions.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the resolution offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia probably contains a lot of merit, but it is so lengthy I do not think any member of the Senate who has not seen it previously has had opportunity to study it, and therefore, Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the Resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The Resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Health.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Two weeks ago the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Woodring, and myself, introduced a resolution of a similar nature, dealing with rheumatic fever.

At that time the gentleman from Delaware got up and objected to my resolution and said that he subsequently would examine it. Two weeks have elapsed and nothing has happened to that resolution.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, that is one of the reasons I object to immediate consideration of this Resolution. The Woodring-Stiefel resolution has been in Committee and was considered, Mr. President. I do not know which one of the gentlemen drew the resolution, but it was the thought it should have some amendments, I realize the priority Senator Stiefel has in connection with rheumatic fever treatment and I am in favor of his resolution receiving consideration before the Jaspán resolution.

Mr. STIEFEL. It is not a question of priority, Mr. President; it is a question of the health of the youth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. JASPAN. I appreciate the fact the Majority Leader has stated that my resolution was meritorious in nature but, in answer to what he said, this matter has been taken up for many years, and it is a very important problem.

In this body we are ready to enact or re-enact tax measures calling for probably hundreds of millions of dollars. We now have on hand, in addition, $170,000,000, and certainly $2,000,000 of that money can be used for this very purpose, to help children who are afflicted with rheumatic fever. This is a matter of vital concern.

It is a matter that may touch each one of us at some time or another. This is nothing new. This is a matter, Mr. President, which has been studied over a period of years. Pennsylvania, to all appearances, participated somewhat in a conference at Washington, but did nothing to help the children who are now afflicted with rheumatic fever.

I see no reason whatever for any delay in action on my resolution.

EMPLOYEE OF THE SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 26, 1945.

Resolved, that the following person be elected officer and employee of the Senate, as is provided for by the Act of Assembly:

CLERK TO COMMITTEE

Willa C. Keller, Royersford, Pa., vice Anne Wilkinson, Resigned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, during the last few days there has been considerable publicity given to what was termed by the newspapers an investigation of the Liquor Control Board.

As I said last week, Mr. President, an investigation, secret or otherwise, was ever intended because no one in the Republican Caucus has any idea there is any cause for investigation.

What happened, Mr. President, was this, that one or two of the Senators and maybe three, had been approached by store managers in connection with what they thought might result in a reduction in salary and the question asked was what method is used for classifying the stores in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the information is simply this—and it is for all of the citizens of the Commonwealth—and I may say, Mr. President, that the Board has assured me that the doors to their offices are open to all the Senators of Pennsylvania, be they Democratic or Republican, as well as to any other citizen.

It appears that up until 1941 these stores were classed under six classifications. They were classed on the volume of business done in money, and at that time the employees of the Board themselves, Mr. President, petitioned the Board for a change in the method of determining the classification of the stores. They contended, and I think rightfully so, that classifying them as concerning the amount of money was unfair because in certain territories the purchases were all in high-priced liquors, resulting in a high amount of business in dollars and cents, whereas, in other communities the purchases were of lower-priced brands of gins and liquors, which meant a lot more merchandise had to be sold with a lot more work for the clerks, with, at the same time, not as much return in money.

Therefore, Mr. President, they petitioned the Liquor Control Board that the method should be changed from money to bottles, and that change was made in 1941.

There may be some liquor store managers who may get a reduction in salary, Mr. President, under civil service, because of their seniority. There are six classifications of stores and they run anywhere from $1,875 per year for store managers to $3,378 per year. If a store falls down in its volume of business, as far as bottles are concerned, they fall into the next bracket, which might mean a reduction in salary to the store managers, but, on the other hand, Mr. President, this new method that the employees under civil service have asked for has worked to their advantage.

In 1941, 261 managers were up-graded and none down-graded; in 1942, 141 were up-graded and 4 down-graded; in 1943, 132 were up-graded and one down-graded; in 1944, 13 were up-graded and 31 down-graded, making total for the four years of 547 up-graded and 35 down-graded.

That is a regulation of the Board, asked for by the employees themselves and approved by the Executive Board of the Commonwealth at the suggestion of the Liquor Control Board.

I repeat, Mr. President, the invitation of the Board to any member of the Legislature or any other person to call in at any time and get any information they should desire.

This is the information, and the only information, requested by two or three Republican Senators last week, after managers in their Senatorial Districts had called and asked that they obtain for them this information.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. There is no need to say that we on this side are happy to know that we are allowed to have the same information the Majority Members of the Senate are allowed to have.

However, we feel that perhaps an investigation of the Liquor Control Board management might not be out of order, inasmuch as the complaints that we have received are somewhat similar to the complaints that have been received by the Majority Members. We felt if there was going to be an investigation we might want to ask questions pertaining to some of the complaints, such as the complaint we have heard about favoritism, we will say, in the purchase of certain brands of liquors, and complaints we have heard on the manner of payment for those liquors, by allowing payment to lapse beyond the ten-day period, when a discount of ten per cent is allowable, and where a distiller may receive ten per cent more for his product by letting the discount period lapse and not accepting the discount period as we do in business. Of course, the complaints that have been made might just be complaints but, nevertheless, there have been complaints that in certain localities better brands of liquors are allowed to go into the liquor stores than in other localities, cheaper and inferior brands of liquor being distributed at those particular stores. So we have heard complaints that perhaps the question of transfers of licenses and matters of that nature are issued only after certain men of political influence intercede, and things of that nature, and for that reason we thought they might be rightfully the business of the Commonwealth and the business of the people, and perhaps the members of the Senate might want to ask those questions.

However, if there is not to be an investigation and the Republicans take the position that there is no need for an investigation, that is perfectly all right with us, but we would like to say that perhaps there might be some questions to ask of the Board other than the one of raising or lowering of salaries of managers—matters involving the people of the Commonwealth that the managers themselves are not particularly interested in—that phase of the liquor control business.

We must remember that we are selling probably less liquor and making more money than was ever made before in the history of the administration of the Liquor Control Board. We know that liquor control, the matter of dispensing liquor, is always a proper place for criticism, and we do not want to take the position that we believe all these things, but we do take the position that perhaps it would be to the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania to ask these questions, and if the Senate members of the majority would like to go along, we would suggest that a meeting be had of the committee on Law and Order, at which time we would like to attend the meeting with regard to those questions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I do not want to bore the Senate with any lengthy discussion of something not properly before the Senate.

However, the gentleman from Westmoreland raised two very good points in connection with the Liquor Control Board; he talked about discrimination in purchases; of course, Mr. President, there is no such a thing—with such a scarcity of liquor I think people will buy, any time, any kind, any quantity anybody has to sell.

In connection with discounts, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland said the discount was allowed to lapse—he understood or it was charged—and that is true, Mr. President, in only one instance, and I checked this myself, Mr. President—in 1941, when the Legislature was divided and the Minority Party was then the Majority Party in the House, the tax program was held up until very late in the Session; it was held up so late that the tax anticipation notes could not be sold, and the Liquor Control Board did not have the finances at that time to pay bills before the end of the ten-day period. That was caused, Mr. President, by the fact that the Minority Party did not get the tax program over to the Senate until late in the Session of 1941.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in 1943 the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, had a bill on the Calendar wherein, by bringing liquor in from another state and paying the tax, any hotel or large club might benefit by that, so the Liquor Control Board insisted that the majority side put that bill back in committee, and I therefore say that the Liquor Control Board is creating a scarcity on paper, because you can get liquor from New York, New Jersey, or Maryland.

Mr. DENT. I do not know how far back the charges go, but I may say to the gentleman from Delaware that by tomorrow at noon I hope to give him a list of firms that received the ten percent benefits long after 1941.

Mr. HALUSKA. I should like to make a brief statement, referring to the Liquor Control Board, if I may.

Mr. President, I think we should have a public hearing with all the members of the Liquor Control Board to enlighten all of us.
